

KING-SIZED TURNIP

This 2 1/2 pound turnip was grown by Donald MacDonald at Augustine Cove on the farm formerly owned by his wife's father and grandfather, the late Austin Cameron and Wedlock Cameron. The farm took many prizes for being the best kept long before the present rural beautification program began.

A Charlottetown friend, Arthur McQuaid, happened to see the turnip being weighed and brought it in to the Guardian. Holding the giant is eight-year-old Keith Blanchard son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blanchard of Dorchester Street.

Councillors Vote To Hire Engineer To Inspect Plans

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

The words were slightly different but the effect of a new resolution appeared to be much the same as the Summerside Town Council consented to the withdrawal of a motion on which the council divided last week, but united last evening, in unanimous approval of a somewhat similar resolution which was accepted without a single word of comment from any councillor, following a private caucus of the council which lasted for more than an hour.

The resolution which provoked a storm at the previous meeting had been introduced by Councillor Robert Dewar, chairman, who addressed the service-men present.

Following mass the parade, under command of Comrade Harold McCormick, proceeded to the memorial monument on the church grounds where a wreath was placed by comrade Frank Pineau on behalf of the branch and a second wreath by Mrs. Jos. Pineau on behalf of the ladies auxiliary. The memorial prayer was read by comrade Felix Arsenault, president of the branch.

In the afternoon the Legion home was opened and service men from other branches visited the branch to relieve old memories in social chat. A banquet was held in the evening, catered to by the ladies auxiliary. The president addressed the gathering in a few well chosen words and an enjoyable evening of music and dancing followed the dinner.

man of the water and sewerage committee, and the effect of the resolution called for the employment of an engineer, identified during the discussion as W. H. Crandall, a son-in-law of Councillor Dewar, to inspect the water and sewerage plans of Hillcrest housing development prepared by town-employed engineer J. C. McKenna, and if he found them not to his satisfaction that he (Crandall) be hired to prepare his own plans, and direct the installations.

When the public meeting of the council convened last evening after the caucus meeting, Councillor Dewar withdrew this resolution without explanation.

DOUBT CREATED

Mayor Currie then made the only reference to either resolution by saying that he felt some doubt had been created in the minds of the present Mayor Currie stated that he had been opposed to employing a consultant for the duration of the project, but in view of the fact that doubt had been created in the minds of many people as to the adequacy of the present plan, he was very agreeable to having the plan checked, although he personally had every confidence in the work which had been done.

A second matter dealt with by the council meeting approved the hiring of M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd. on a negotiated basis for the installation of water and sewerage to service the 32 housing units which will be constructed by the M. F. Schurman Co. for Hillcrest Housing Ltd. on the site of the new "Hillcrest Drive".

had tabled the first resolution for discussion at the special meeting last evening. Councillors Dr. H. E. Clark and W. E. MacCausland, along with Mayor W. A. Currie, had expressed their opposition to the resolution.

The mayor had said he opposed the Dewar resolution because he had every confidence in town-employed engineer McKenna; that he felt this job was too small to require the extra fees of a consultant engineer. He said he could not go along with the idea of hiring a consultant who was so closely related to one of the councillors.

Councillor Elmer Newson did not express his views at either meeting, but voted with all of the other five councillors in favor of the revised resolution which was accepted last night.

At the previous meeting which

M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd. he would abstain from voting on the resolution which received the support of all the councillors.

TIME RUNNING OUT

Councillor Dr. H. E. Clark said the resolution stemmed from the fact that time is running out for services such as this and although it was not the feeling of council that it should be done in this manner, felt they must because of the shortage of time.

He said that while the council favored letting it out on contract so that the different firms would have the opportunity of tendering on it, they felt that every day lost might mean that the project would not be completed as planned, and felt it quite feasible to do it this way under the inspection it would have, and with the care that can be taken to insure that the prices are as low as possible for this work.

Councillor Clark, chairman of the electric light committee, noted the inclusion of the electric light rate revision on the agenda, and said that while he had the new rates ready for moving a resolution for their adoption, remarked that there had been mention made by some of the councillors that they would like to study the proposed changes again, and said he was willing to do what they could on that matter after the meeting.

He said he did not want to see the new proposed rates tabled and left to just any future date, and on his motion the meeting was adjourned to 7 p.m. tonight for acceptance or rejection of the proposed new rates.

Women's Council Asks Value For Money Spent

By ALAN HARVEY Canadian Press Staff Writer OTTAWA (CP) — Value for money instead of super-heated advertising and packaging frills was demanded Monday by the National Council of Women of Canada, speaking for 700,000 women consumers.

"Women seek the right to choose a product on the basis of true value," the council said in a brief to the royal commission on price spreads on food products, now in its final week of public hearings. Too often, advertising came "pretty close to deception," Mrs. F. E. Underhill of London, Ont., chairman of economics for the council, called for federal government action to increase availability of consumer information and statistics, perhaps through creation of a new department.

Also sought were federal and provincial regulations to ensure "defined standards" of quality in consumer goods. Trained and adequate staff was needed to enforce high standards of good processing and storage.

DISLIKE GIMMICKS Women hoped the "something-for-nothing" era in sales promotion was nearly over. They did not want costly giveaways or gimmicks. Radio and television commercials were often children's, repetitious and annoying.

In other submissions, the seven-member royal commission under the chairmanship of Dr. Andrew Stewart of Edmonton heard details of Canada's sugar beet industry and an analysis of price trends in the meat-packing business.

Canada Packers Limited said it questions whether return on investment is sufficient to justify the company taking part in anticipated expansion over the next quarter-century.

"It is our opinion there is a serious question whether the return is presently large enough to justify the management decisions to participate..." said company president W. F. McLean.

Mr. McLean said that in products derived from cattle and hogs, representing the major tonnage of the company's food business, the price spread between producer and company has increased "only moderately" in the last 10 years.

Briefs on beet sugar production were presented by two organizations, Manitoba Sugar Company Limited and Canadian Sugar Factories Limited of Raymond, Alta.

The submissions broadly agreed that the industry entails close co-operation between producer and processor, ensuring a fair deal for the customer.
