The Hon. Mr. Coles next addressed the Court, having been invited to do so, as Mr. Cooper was, and in a speech of great length, opened up the whole question of the land tenures—showed how completely the proprietors had failed to fulfil the conditions of their grants—how undeserving they were of indulgence at the hands of that Court, from their long and continued opposition to every measure that was devised to ameliorate the condition of the tenantry, and the hardships inflicted on the latter, which he engaged to prove and did prove, by reports of Committees on the Journals of the Assembly. He also traced the history of the Quit Rent question, showing that the Proprietors owed this Colony £140,000 sterling, or from two to three thousand pounds were due on each Township. Mr. Coles read from the Journal of 1839 a letter from Mr. Spearman, Secretary to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in which it is clearly laid down that the proprietors were at that late date held liable for all the arrears of quit rents; nor would they be released, he said, from their obligations under the original grants until all those arrears were paid.

At this stage of the proceedings the Court, who occupied much time in taking ample notes of the statements made by Mr. Coles adjourned their sitting. On the following morning Mr. Coles continued his address, and reviewed at great length the question of the Fishery Reserves—pointing out the usurpations and oppressions that had been practised by the land claimants with respect to these Reserves. He reviewed also the fraudulent claims that had been set up by individuals who had not the shadow of a title to the land they attempted to usurp—the oppressive course taken by one particular Land Agent to make the people of an old and thriving settlement attorn to him, by inducing them to believe that they had no good title to their farms, and that they should take new leases from him at a cost of two pounds each. He also dwelt on the injurious practice of some proprietary Agents in forestalling the Government with respect to the purchase of public lands; and instanced, in support of his assertion, the purchase of the best Township in Lord Selkirk's estate by his Agent, after the Government had offered to buy the whole of it—the Agent having procured it at about five shillings an acre and charging settlers now as high as two and three pounds for it. Mr. Coles adverted also to the Darrach case, which had been so elaborately discussed in the Assembly in 1853,—as evidence of landlord usurpation and oppression. He noticed the violent contentions which had taken place on the Tracadie estate, owing to the very short leases, exorbitant rents, and the arbitrary spirit of the late proprietor. He alluded to the tyrannical bearing of the Land Agents generally as a class—their abuse of the power with which they are invested to obstruct legislation—to annoy and perplex the Colonial office while misleading it; and to destroy every vestige of independence on the part of the tenantry. He hoped the Commission would put an end to all oppression from such a quarter, and secure the independence of the Legislature and of the people. Mr. Coles then proceeded to consider the Loyalist question. He stated that 200,000 acres were set apart in this Island for the use of the loyalists, to be distributed according to the number of their families, in plots from two to five hundred acres—that in nearly all cases these lands were withheld from the loyalists the grantees resuming possession of them and selling them or leasing them to others; that in consequence many of the loyalists who were induced to come to the Island with the hope of getting free farms, were left in great distress, and had to make the best of their way to the other provinces.

This is but a very faint outline of Mr. Coles's speech, which occupied about four hours each day, the Commissioners taking very full notes of all his statements, and thanked him for the large amount of information he had given them.

Some country Delegates were heard during the remainder of the day, but no very important information was elicited. On Saturday, the Hon. Col. Swabey addressed the Court for a short time. He stated that as all the questions at issue had been so well reviewed by Mr. Coles, it would be unnecessary for him to enter on their discussion. He, however, noticed some very important facts in connection with the Quit Rent question. He denied that those Rents had ever been relinquished by the Imperial Government; and contended that the length of time which had elapsed since the date of the grants did not give the landholders a good title, for it could be easily shown that the titles had been almost constantly disputed, five years never having elapsed without a contention against proprietary claims.

The remainder of Saturday and Monday were occupied in hearing statements from Delegates; but we have not space to notice any of them at present. The Commissioners left this morning for St. Eleanor's, where they will hold their Court to-morrow and the two following days. We shall endeavour to attend, to give a report of their proceedings; and in our next we trust we shall be able, from what we shall have learned by that time, to give an opinion respecting the advantages which may accrue from the enquiry of the Royal Commission.

We have in type a report, prepared expressly for this paper, of several important questions relating to the land tenures, which had been brought under the notice of the High Court of Commissioners, and their opinions taken thereon; but we are obliged to defer it for want of space. We shall endeavour to give our readers, next week, as much information as we can crowd into our columns respecting the proceedings of this important Court.

THE LONDON TIMES AND ITS CORRESPONDENT.

We were disposed to censure the Banquetting Committee, and the Government of this Island, for want of courtesy to the representatives of the British and Foreign Press on the occasion of the Prince's visit; but when we find that some of those persons—representing the most influential journals on both sides of the Atlantic—are the veriest scapegraces and the most ignorant blockheads that ever went unwhipped, we are not at all sorry that they were treated to the fullest measure of contempt. We have shown, in our last two Nos., how utterly false was the testimony given of the celebration in this place by the correspondent of the New York Tribune. The travelling artist of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Times—a New York paper—gave some outrageously absurd caricatures of the Prince's visit to Halifax, and equally absurd accounts of it appeared from the pen of an individual who rejoices in the name of a Dr. Rawlings, who, it appears, has been very properly dismissed for incapacity from his situation as correspondent. But it was reserved for the correspondent of the London Times, —who, one would suppose, ought to be a well-informed gentleman—to give such proofs of intense ignorance, incorrigible stupidity and mendacity, as to eclipse all Yankee penny-a-liners that ever visited the Provinces. We believe this fellow was in Charlottetown, but we have not yet seen his account of his visit to this place. It is likely, however, that it will show about as much intelligence and capacity as the lying scribbler displayed in his account of Halifax; and if anything could be more monstrously absurd than another it is the report which the Times correspondent has given of Halifax and its people. The Sun of that City has grouped together a few choice passages of that report, which we give below:—

The Times correspondent says that—

Newfoundland is a "remote little settlement."

Halifax is only "a trifle less remote and inaccessible" than Newfoundland itself.

It is "difficult to get into the Provinces," and when you have got in, it is equally difficult to get out again.

It appears from "the most searching and elaborate investigation" that nobody has ever been from Halifax to Newfoundland.

Windsor "is a village of shanties."

The people of Windsor "prefer their own huts" to a hotel built expressly for them, and not for strangers at all.

In the hotels of Halifax, "you find to your surprise that your bed-room is the smoking, drinking and general coffee room," the spare spaces on the floor being reserved for stragglers after "the last quiet revelers have retired."

There are some few white or rather "sunburnt natives" in Halifax but the most noticeable citizens are the "brightly dressed Indian squaws."

The "sun burnt natives" loll out of their windows all day.

The squaws have all "great splaw feet" and "tramp" along, wearing "thick" moccassins, with their papooses "tied to a flat piece of board, looking like a curious preparation of an infant dried in the sun."

The Ball for the Prince at Halifax cost "two hundred pounds."

Pork and beans are the "national" dish of the citizens of Halifax.

And then we may add the passage referring to St. John and Halifax, which being at once remarkable for moral, grammatical and geographical accuracy, will serve for a grand climax:

"On the whole, however, though large and flourishing, struggling Halifax seems in every way inferior, both in beauty! importance! and wealth! to St. John's, New Brunswick."

IRISH VOLUNTEER PIC NIC.

The Pic Nic of the Irish Volunteer Rifle Corps, under command of Lieut. Reddin, came off successfully on Monday last, at Warren Farm. Finer weather could not be desired—the sun shone mildly, and a delightful breeze moderated the atmosphere during the day. At half past eight o'clock the Volunteers and a portion of their friends proceeded in the steamer "Ino" on their way to Warren Farm; and at eleven o'clock they were joined by another large party, at the Warren Farm House. The beautiful grounds soon presented a gay scene, while the ample rooms in Cumberland House were well filled by the lovers of the Quadrille, Reel, Polka, Waltz, &c. After spending a pleasant day the whistle of the "Ino" summoned the party to return, when nearly four hundred persons came on board and amused themselves by dancing, singing, and conversing on the many pleasant topics which voluntarily arise on such occasions. When the boat arrived at Pownal Wharf, the National Anthem was sung, the Company then marched to the armory, where three cheers were given for the Queen, three for the Commander-in-Chief, and three for the Volunteers, then all separated apparently highly delighted with the pleasures of the day. In considering the fineness of the weather, the brilliant appearance of the dress of the Volunteers, the number and respectability of their guests, and the friendly, social feelings which existed, together with the excellent arrangements of the Managing Committee, and the admirable order with which they were carried out, and assuming that it will be the last Pic Nic of the season, it is barely the truth to say that it was the best of the season.

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH MAIL.

The British and Foreign Mail by the Steamship America, which arrived in Halifax on Thursday evening last, reached here only this morning. The latest dates are to the 25th ult.; the news which they contain is given pretty much in the telegraphic despatch published in another column.

☞ We have not room for the report of the meeting at Lot 34, but shall publish it in our next.

ORANGE LOYALTY.

We learn from the Colonial papers received by this morning's Mail, that the Orangemen of Kingston and Toronto, Canada West, made very offensive displays on the occasion of the Prince's visit to those places. The triumphal arches were completely covered with Orange flags, and were inscribed with every silly but offensive device which Orange rancour and bigotry could suggest. Some of the more hot-headed fools, dressed from head to foot in Orange colours, paraded the streets, crying out "No surrender!" The Prince and his Suite displayed their good sense by refusing to land at those places. His Royal Highness declaring, through the Duke of Newcastle, that he would not recognise party processions or displays of any kind. The Orangemen, though earnestly entreated would not desist from displaying their badges and banners, and the heir to the British throne must now see that Orangeism and loyalty are too antagonistic principles. The authorities in Canada have incurred a great responsibility, while they have surely excited the displeasure of the Royal visitor, by permitting an Orange demonstration to be made; but we have no doubt it will be the means of directing the attention of the Home Government to the whole subject of secret societies in all the Colonies, with the view of devising means for their effectual suppression. The following telegram is the only extract we can give at present relating to this abominable proceeding of the Orangemen.

THE PRINCE OF WALES TROUBLES IN CANADA.

Kingston, Canada, Sept. 5. The Orangemen paraded today. They formed on the wharf, as if to receive the Prince. One of their officers was mounted, and, with a drawn sword, shouted, "No surrender." The Prince refused to land, and left for Belville, where an Orange arch had been erected. The Orangemen of this city will probably charter a steamer and follow the Prince. The officials of three counties presented an address to the Prince on board the steamer.

Toronto, Canada, Sept. 6. The Orangemen meet to-night to decide on what course to pursue. The community is greatly excited, and the common salutation is, "No surrender."

Loss by Fire.—We regret to learn that Mr. Donald McRae, farmer, Murray Harbor Road, had his barn consumed by fire on Tuesday the 21st ult. The fire is believed to have been purely accidental, but the loss to the poor man is considerable, for the barn contained his hay—just housed in good condition, farming implements, harness, &c. Such a loss would be felt by any man in this Colony, but to a small farmer of ordinary means, it is a misfortune under which he must be greatly pressed if benevolent friends do not help in time of need.—Pro.

ST. DUNSTAN'S COLLEGE,

Charlottetown Royalty.

Under the Patronage of the Right Rev. Dr. McIntyre, Bishop of Charlottetown.

THIS Institution is beautifully situated on an elevated site about a mile north of Charlottetown, and its location is one of the healthiest in America. The grounds are spacious and afford ample room for such plays as football and cricket.

The discipline is strict though mild and parental. No boy of light or unruly manners will be retained in the establishment. The greatest attention is paid to the intellectual and moral culture of the pupils who are always under the watchful care and government of their Professors and Tutors and form but one family with them.

Arrangements have been made for the reception of day scholars.

The course of studies is solid and extensive, embracing the English, French, Latin and Greek Languages; Religious Instruction, Rhetoric, Elocution, History and Geography; a complete course of Mathematics, Chemistry, Natural, Intellectual and Moral Philosophy.

There is in the College a Library containing nearly three thousand volumes of the choicest English, French, Latin and Greek works. Also a splendid Philosophical Apparatus.

The Collegiate year begins on the First Wednesday of September and ends about the middle of July.

Should a Student leave before the end of a quarter, no deduction will be made except in case of sickness.
