India Begins Releasing Prisoners To UN Command College's Activities Warmly Praised By Archbishop Roy

Freedom March Begins Despite Red Objection

PANMUNJOM, (AP)—India began turning back 22,039 anti-Communist North Koreans and Chinese war prisoners to the United Nations command today despite strong Communist objections. The massive movement southward toward freedom began at 8:30 a.m. (6:50 p.m. EST Tuesday). The vanguard was made up of singing, banner-waving Chinese. AP Correspondent Jim Becker spotted the line of captives marching southward out of the demilitarized zone. They were headed toward the Chinese loading zone where 600 trucks waited to whisk them to Munsan, then to Seoul and the Aom City camp near Inchon. From Inchon, landing ships will carry the Chinese in a few days to the Nationalist island of Formosa. The first Chinese walked out of the neutral zone at 8:52 a.m. They were the vanguard of a long column. American soldiers greeted them in Chinese and led them down a barbed wire lane to the waiting trucks.

Reds Protest
The Communist command in a last-moment letter to the neutral nations repatriation commission demanded that India "withdraw" its decision to release unrepatriated prisoners. The command refused to say whether it would take back the 349 in the pro-Red camp. A neutral official said the "implication" of the Red letter was that the Communists would not take back the 349. The letter itself promised only to continue to supply the camp and to maintain order if the commission would keep custody of all prisoners. Gen. John E. Hull, United Nations Far East commander, flew from Tokyo to Korea and re-emphasized that the 22,000 would become civilians in the eyes of his command at midnight Friday "wherever they happen to be."

Drew Urges Development In Northland

OTTAWA, (CP)—Opposition Leader Drew said Tuesday the government should do everything possible to interest more people in settling in the Northwest Territories. The vast area offered opportunities to persons of all ages, Canadian-born and immigrants alike, he said in the Commons during debate on a bill to amend the Northwest Territories Act. The bill, changing the number of elected representation on the council from three to four, was given second reading—approval in principle—and will come up later for third reading. Then it will go to the Senate. Mr. Drew said that in the last few years new interest in the territories resulted from mining discoveries, once the exclusive claim "wherever they happen to be."

Early College Days Reviewed In Address By Former Rector

Rev. J. A. Murphy, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Souris, and former rector of St. Dunstan's College, yesterday preached the sermon at the Pontifical High Mass that marked the opening of the Centennial Year ceremonies of the College. The text of Monsignor Murphy's sermon follows: "I was present at the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of this College and heard the scholarly Archbishop of Halifax, a one-time student and professor here, deliver a masterly oration. I was present at the seventy-fifth anniversary as Rector, and heard two eminent churchmen, sons of St. Dunstan's, Archbishop Morrison of Antigonish and Bishop Kelly of Oklahoma City and Tulsa, pay well deserved eulogies to this college on the hill, which they loved so much and of which they were ornaments. With the memory of those two events haunting me and with the knowledge that this is the centennial year—the final year of a century of educational progress—I realize now, when it is too late, that it was foolhardiness on my part to accept the honour of speaking to you on this memorial day. However, these opening ceremonies are not without their high light. St. Dunstan's is this day singularly honoured by the presence of the Most Reverend Maurice Roy, Archbishop of the oldest Canadian Diocese of which the present Diocese of Charlottetown was one time a part. As Archbishop of Quebec he is also Chancellor of the venerable and renowned Laval University to which St. Dunstan's has been affiliated for more than sixty years. Those who are intimate with that affiliation, down through the years, can testify to the always helpful assistance and friendly relations of Laval towards her adopted child. May those friendly relations long continue! That maternal solicitude of the parent see of the Archdiocese of Quebec for her child, that has now come of age, is evidenced by the graciously honour of her distinguished Archbishop. We are honoured and we extend to your Excellency a hearty welcome. My dear friends, these ceremonies mark an important milestone in the history of our college." (Continued on page 8 col. 2)

U. S. Merchant Fleet Reported World's Largest

LONDON, (Reuters)—The United States merchant fleet at 27,237,000 tons was shown as the world's largest in the year ended July, 1953, in statistics published today in the 1954 appendix to Lloyd's Register. The American fleet, which includes an estimated 13,000,000 tons in reserve, dropped 8,000 tons during the year. Britain's merchant fleet fell by 40,000 tons to 18,574,000 tons during the year. Canada's fleet also fell by 40,000 tons, to 1,652,000 tons. The total British Commonwealth merchant fleet, however, increased by 260,000 to 22,356,000 tons. The world total increased by 3,171,000 tons to 93,352,000 tons. Largest increases were shown by Liberia, up 536,000 tons, Japan 463,000 tons, Norway 357,000 tons, Germany 352,000 tons and Sweden 244,000 tons. The world total of oil tankers increased by 1,975,000 tons from 1952 to a total of 21,964,000 tons or 24 per cent of all steamships and motorships. Britain's tanker fleet of 4,656,000 tons was 124,000 tons larger than the previous year while the United States total of 4,461,000 tons showed a rise of 51,000 tons. The wartime shipbuilding program was still reflected in world tonnage by a preponderance of the size group 6,000 to 8,000 tons, the report stated. A large proportion of these ships were not in commission.

Acquitted In Disturbance Case

MONCTON, (CP)—Raymond LeBlanc, middle-aged Memramcook, N.B., farmer, was acquitted Tuesday on a charge of causing a disturbance while taking part in the now famed Memramcook charivari. LeBlanc was arrested Nov. 24 as a climax to a 14-day wedding celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse LeBlanc. Gun and horn-toting neighbors waited for a housewarming invitation that never came. The crowd grew night by night until police arrived to restore order.

To Survey Power Costs From Coal

OTTAWA, (CP)—Mines Minister Prudham said Tuesday he hopes to make a statement shortly on the question of a survey of the possibilities of producing electric power from coal in the Atlantic Provinces. He was asked in the Commons by Claria Gillis (COP—Cape Breton South) about a report that the federal government will bear the cost of a survey to be made in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland. It was understood the survey is to be conducted by Prof. A. G. Christie, dean emeritus of engineering at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. It is expected to start next month.

Opposes Foreign Ships In Great Lakes Service

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
SENIORITY CLUB, Que., (CP)—Rear-Admiral Lydon Spencer, president of the United States Lake Carriers Association, said Tuesday his organization is opposed to the operation of foreign ships between Canadian and American ports on the Great Lakes. At the same time, he said in an interview, he would like to see the Great Lakes area extended from its present limit—the Jacques Cartier bridge at Montreal—to Anticosti Island—Canada's "home waters" in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. "We have advanced the argument that foreign ship trade be restricted," he said. "This would not apply to trips, for instance, between a German port and a Great Lakes port, or even between a Canadian eastern Maritime port and, say, Cleveland or Milwaukee. But it would apply to trade between all recognized Great Lakes area ports of both Canada and the United States." A resolution has been introduced in the U.S. Senate urging President Eisenhower to take steps toward a treaty between the U.S. and Canada to limit foreign shipping in the Lakes area. Any steps in this direction would be carried out between the U.S. States Department and Canada's department of external affairs. Meanwhile, the subject likely will come up for discussion at the current annual joint meeting of the U.S. Lake Carriers Association and the Dominion Marine Association.

Service At Ottawa For Senator Dennis

OTTAWA, (CP)—Political and other friends Tuesday attended a service of prayer for Senator W. H. Dennis of Halifax who died suddenly at his Ottawa home Monday. Opposition leader Drew and a large number of members of the Senate and Commons were among those at the service in an Ottawa funeral parlor. The body of the Senator, former publisher of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Mail-Star, was taken by train to Halifax where funeral services will be held Friday. Service was conducted by Rev. Dr. A. M. J. Gray of St. Paul's Eastern United Church. The body was accompanied to Halifax by Graham Dennis, son and managing director of the Chronicle-Herald; G. McI. Dady, the late Senator's business associate, a nephew, Eric Dennis, the papers' resident correspondent in Ottawa, and Miss Gertrude Scully, the late Senator's nurse for several years.

Navy Man Injured In Flash Fire At S'side

A navy man attached to the naval air unit at R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, was rushed to the station hospital as the result of burns sustained in a flash fire of unknown origin which occurred at R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, about 10 o'clock last evening. The fire occurred as a gasoline tank truck was refueling a Sea Fury aircraft, and it is thought that the man was burned as he fled from the blazing truck. The aircraft was scorched by the flames and heat, but two other men who had been working on it at the time, escaped without injury. The condition of the injured man could not be ascertained last evening, but it is reported that because he was dressed warmly due to the cool evening, the burns may have been chiefly confined to his face and hands, but officials contacted did not at that time, know the nature or extent of the burns. In accordance with service policy to injured personnel, the name of the injured navy man will not be released until his family have been notified. One of the station fire trucks responded to the alarm and quickly had the blaze under control, and an ambulance removed the injured man to the station hospital.

Actor Sydney Greenstreet Dies

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Sydney Greenstreet, rotund, English-born character actor, died Tuesday. He was 74. Greenstreet, born Dec. 27, 1879 in Sandwich, Kent, made his screen debut at 62 after 41 years of stage experience. He became noted for sinister portrayals in "The Maltese Falcon," "The Mask of Dimitrios," "The Conspirators" and other films. Among his other pictures were "The Hucksters," "The Velvet Touch," "Flamingo Road," "Conflict," "Between Two Worlds," "Passage to Marseille" and "Christmas in Connecticut." Greenstreet, remembered for the rumbling, sepulchral giggle he emitted when he had his picture victims trapped, died at the home where he resided with his son. He had been in semi-retirement.

3,924 Lbs. Margarine Seized In Montreal

MONTEAL, (CP)—Provincial police said they seized 3,924 pounds of margarine Tuesday while it was being delivered to a restaurant in the north end of Montreal. Name of the restaurant was not disclosed. The seizure was described by police as the largest since the Quebec government banned the sale, manufacture and possession of the butter substitute about four years ago. The truck used to carry the margarine was seized. The driver, whose name was not divulged, was released on bail.

College's Activities Warmly Praised By Archbishop Roy

"Continue to be what you have always been and I'm sure that both Canada and the Church will always be proud of this Island," His Grace, Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec, told an audience of clergy, members of the Board of Governors, the executive of the Alumni Association, and students of St. Dunstan's College attending a banquet at the opening yesterday of the college's Centennial Year. Archbishop Roy, Bishop Ordinary of Canada's Armed Forces and Chancellor of Laval University, was formally welcomed and introduced by Rt. Rev. R. V. MacKenzie, rector of St. Dunstan's College. Msgr. MacKenzie spoke of the opening day in the Centennial Year as "a day of thanksgiving" to the founders of the college. To the predecessors of the current faculty, to the alumni and other benefactors, and to the patron saint of the institution. Msgr. MacKenzie also spoke of "the great debt of gratitude we owe to Laval for their condescension in keeping St. Dunstan's College in affiliation with one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in America." His Excellency, Most Reverend James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown and Chancellor of St. Dunstan's College, recalled that the first bishop ever to set foot in Prince Edward Island was Archbishop Denaut of Quebec, who visited this Province in 1803. At that time Prince Edward Island was part of the diocese of Quebec. It was not until 1829, Bishop Boyle explained, that the diocese of Charlottetown was created. Most Rev. Angus MacEachern, who was born in Scotland, was named first bishop of the new diocese. Mr. Justice Mark R. MacGuigan, president of the S. D. U. Alumni Association, spoke briefly on behalf of the graduates of the college. He noted the significance of St. Dunstan's centennial being observed during the Marian Year proclaimed by Pope Pius XII. Mr. MacGuigan pledged the continued support of the alumni "to do everything in their power to make this centennial year one long to be remembered in the annals of 'Old St. Dunstan's'."

Tough Winter

VALLEY CENTRE, Sask., (CP)—Muskrat dens in the Rosestown-Biggar area this fall have been built nearly twice as high as usual, say provincial game wardens. This led farmers and trappers to predict the winter's snowfall will be heavier than usual.

Archbishop Roy's Address

"You have invited me because this territory used to be in the diocese of Quebec," said Archbishop Roy in addressing the large audience. "That, of course, was long ago when the diocese of Quebec under Bishop de Laval included almost all of North America. New Orleans was in the diocese of Quebec; so were Chicago and Vancouver; but they had not been discovered yet. It is always impressive to read the first report which Bishop de Laval sent to the Holy See shortly after he had arrived in America about 1665. He tried to trace the boundaries of his diocese, which was not easy in those days. On the east it was the Atlantic; to the South all he could mention was New England and New Holland, which included Boston and New York and the district surrounding those young cities. To the west and to the north, he said in Latin, it extends 'qua telus patet,' as far as the continent extends. The limit, of course, was unknown but was the Pacific to the west and the Arctic to the north, or if you wish the North Pole. However when Bishop de Laval died in 1708 there were fewer Catholics in the whole diocese than there are now in the diocese of Charlottetown, and perhaps in the city of Charlottetown, since I believe there were not more than four thousand Catholics in all that territory. The inference is, of course, that the church has grown in a wonderful way in our country, and we can see everywhere the blessings that God has bestowed so generously to all the parishes that now form so many different dioceses in Canada. I am very proud indeed that, as the present successor in Quebec to all those Bishops who had this territory in their diocese before the first partition, I have the opportunity to express to you the congratulations of the old see of Quebec to the younger see of Charlottetown on all the achievements which we can witness today in this diocese and particularly in this school."

Cheated Gallows By Taking Poison

CORNWALL, Ont., (CP)—Convicted murderer Henri Seguin, strapping and sullen, committed suicide by swallowing poison, authorities said Tuesday night and announced a probe to determine where and how he got it. The 29-year-old Cornwall laborer died in convulsions late Monday night in his cell in the presence of a priest and a guard. His death came just an hour before he was to walk to the scaffold to be hanged for the Aug. 16, 1952 murder of Leonard Hurd, 41-year-old owner of a Maxville, Ont., taxi business. Just before he died Seguin spat from his mouth the remains of a glass vial. Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said in Toronto he could not positively identify the type of poison but the vial was of that kind that usually contains potassium cyanide. The vial was found in Seguin's cell shortly after he died at 11:15 p.m. EST. An autopsy was performed Tuesday. Inspectors George Jacobs and Fred Mathews of the Ontario Provincial Police are investigating the death and their findings are expected to be revealed at an inquest here late Wednesday.

HALIFAX, (CP)—A shuffling of the Nova Scotia cabinet, reducing the number of ministers from 11 to nine, was announced Tuesday by Premier Angus L. Macdonald. Mr. Macdonald retains his highways and public works portfolio but relinquishes the posts of provincial treasurer and chairman of the Nova Scotia power commission. The provincial treasurer will be R. M. Fielding, who is also minister of municipal affairs. A. E. De Wolfe, former provincial secretary, becomes a minister without portfolio and takes over chairmanship of the power commission. Education Minister Henry D. Hicks adds the duties of provincial secretary. Attorney General M. A. Patterson assumes the ad-

Associations With Laval

"I was invited as Chancellor of Laval University," the Archbishop continued. "Laval University is just a little older than St. Dunstan's and your rector remembered graciously all the ancient associations with Laval."

Bill Aimed At Jehovah's Witnesses Given Approval

QUEBEC, (CP)—The legislative assembly Tuesday unanimously approved a government bill to curb distribution of literature "abusive and insulting" to any religious group. The final vote was 81 to 0. Premier Duplessis said the bill was aimed at Jehovah's Witnesses and all others who might behave as they do. "This measure is not against what Jehovah's Witnesses believe but against what they do," Mr. Duplessis said. The bill was endorsed by Georges Lapalme, Liberal House leader, and George Marler (L-Westmount-St. George) who said the measure did not encroach on freedom of worship in Quebec. Mr. Lapalme said the bill did not prevent anyone or any group from practicing their religion. It placed all religious groups on the same footing. "Injurious words cannot be the expression of freedom of worship,"

Bill Aimed At Jehovah's Witnesses Given Approval

Mr. Marler said he wanted to make his position clear since some of his constituents had expressed the opinion the bill encroached on freedom of worship. He said in his opinion the amendment in no way impeded freedom of worship or freedom of speech. The bill is the latest move in a series of incidents between Quebec authorities and Jehovah's Witnesses climaxed last year by a ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada that municipal by-laws regulating distribution of literature could not apply to religious groups. The bill defines as illicitious pamphlets or utterances of "abusive or insulting" nature. It makes such actions punishable by fines up to $1,000 or six months in jail. Reproduction of such—abusive or insulting—remarks or their redistribution by television, radio or the press is also banned.
