

Japs Claim Restrictions Ruining Fishing Industry

(Tokyo Reuters) — The Japanese fishing industry, largest in the world, says it faces ruin because of restrictions slapped on its fleets by other countries.

Russia, Communist China, South Korea, the United States and Britain all have chipped away since the Second World War at the extent of waters which Japan can fish to help feed its population of more than 90,000,000.

The 86-power law of the sea conference, which ended this week in Geneva, threatened new encroachments on areas long fished by Japan.

Although the conference postponed a decision on fixing the limit of territorial waters, it revealed that most lands favor an extension of the traditional three-mile limit.

The fishing industry here employs some 3,000,000 persons and 431,000 fishing vessels.

Although the fleet has grown by 150,000 vessels since the war, it has been excluded from thousands of square miles of ocean in recent years.

The Soviet Union, driving hard bargains with Japan in a long series of conferences, has taken steps that will limit Japan's North Pacific salmon catch this year to 110,000 tons.

Russia has closed Peter the Great Bay to foreign shipping. The Sea of Okhotsk will be closed next year.

Communist China also has closed a vast stretch of offshore waters to foreign fleets.

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea five years ago ordered the establishment of a demarcation line separating Korean and Japanese waters.

South Korean patrol boats have arrested scores of Japanese fishing vessels since then on the grounds they violated the zone.

Rifle Is Only Political Force Yemen Desert

By JAMES NORRIS
D.H.A. Aden Protectorate (Reuters) — Fitzroy Somerset, British colonial official who spent eight days in a small fort in a "Beau Geste" siege by rebellious Arab tribesmen, Friday offered a revealing glimpse of the political turmoil in this parched, rock-bound desert.

"There is no political life as such here," the 35-year-old Briton said of the Yemen campaign to cause defection among the tribesmen against Britain.

"The people look no further than the fore-sights of their rifles," he said, "and their rifles are their most prized possessions."

Somerset spoke as he tramped along a goat track down from the hot plateau of Assarir, where he held out with a handful of loyal Arab troops against some 400 tribesmen all week. A column of British troops backed by repeated aerial rocket and bomb attacks, relieved him Wednesday night and drove the attackers into the hills and back over the Yemen frontier.

ONE CASUALTY
Somerset's only casualty was an Arab trooper killed by a stray bullet fired from a range of 2,000 yards.

The most anxious moments of the siege, Somerset said, were when he and his men had to break cover from planes — food, ammunition, gasoline for the generator which ran the radio set, and canned beer.

Somerset said he had gone to the fort April 22 to investigate reports that a local notable's brother had been murdered and his wives and herds stolen.

"In fact, the brother was not murdered, but the rest of the story was true."

SMITH TO COPENHAGEN
LONDON (CP) — Canada's External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith arrived by air Thursday on his way to Copenhagen for the NATO foreign ministers meeting, which opens Monday. He will leave London for Copenhagen Sunday night.

Major Johnstone immediately accepted the challenge and although Charlottetown citizens responded magnificently their 6.37 per cent of the population was not enough to beat out Mayor Currie's team who ran up a score of 7.40 per cent.

Both Mayors realize that there had to be a winner and a loser but the important part is that this friendly rivalry between the two centres resulted in increased blood donations and this after all was the main purpose behind the scheme.

Damages Case Is Dismissed

Charges against a Pleasant Grove man were dismissed in County Magistrate's Court yesterday. Evidence against the accused, charged with wilfully causing distraction to his neighbors back porch, was not conclusive and Magistrate Gilbert E. Gaudet gave him the benefit of the doubt.

Three speeding tickets also appeared on the docket. They included a Dorchester Street man who was fined $15 and costs or 10 days; a Southport man was fined $10 and costs or 10 days; and a native of Halifax, N.S., who was fined $10 or days.

Three charges of failing to have an operator's licence drew fines of $5 and costs or five days against two city residents and a North River youth. The latter was also charged with operating an unregistered vehicle and was fined an additional $10 and costs or 10 days.

The final two cases on the afternoon docket saw a Fredericton P.E.I. man fined $10 and costs or 10 days for allowing an unlicensed person to operate his vehicle and a resident of the same community fined $5 and costs or five days for having defective lighting equipment on his car.

Discuss Prevention Of Infections In Hospitals

As part of a three-day Institute on Nursing, a symposium on "The Nurse's Responsibility in the Prevention and Control of Staphylococcus Infections in Hospitals" was conducted by nurses from the Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island Hospitals.

Sister Mary David, R.N., Director of Nursing at the Charlottetown Hospital spoke to the topic "The Evolution of Asepsis".

She highlighted the painstaking research done by scientific leaders and their discouraging attempts to implement their findings in an era when ignorance and prejudice against change in methods prevailed. The techniques we use today were bought at the price of scorn, ridicule and frustration to scientific humanitarians who gave their whole lives to the search for the best methods. The burden of responsibility is with us to apply this heritage of knowledge in the every day care of patients.

RESISTANT GERMS
Miss Noreen Shaw, R.N., Out-Patient Supervisor at the Charlottetown Hospital presented a paper on "Antibiotics Versus Staphylococcus Infections", in which she stressed the danger of indiscriminate use of antibiotic drugs. The incident of infection caused by Staphylococcus organisms which are resistant to some antibiotics has presented an international problem to medicine and nursing.

Some of the general public are not aware that antibiotic drugs should be used with extreme caution. The un-prescribed use of penicillin lozenges and nasal sprays is to be deplored. Infections have not presented as great a problem here as in some other places where actual epidemics have occurred. Preventive measure established early by our out-patients in hospitals and clinics have controlled the problem to a great extent.

Hats Off To Summerside Says Mayor E. C. Johnstone

Charlottetown's Mayor Edwin C. Johnstone last night offered hearty congratulations to Mayor W. A. Currie and the people of Summerside for their fine showing in the recent Blood Donor Clinic. At the same time he warmly thanked the citizens of Charlottetown for their splendid contribution to the clinic.

Shortly before the clinic was held a challenge was thrown out by the Summerside Mayor that the Citizens of that Town would produce more blood donors per capita than would the City of Charlottetown.

Mayor Johnstone immediately accepted the challenge and although Charlottetown citizens responded magnificently their 6.37 per cent of the population was not enough to beat out Mayor Currie's team who ran up a score of 7.40 per cent.

Both Mayors realize that there had to be a winner and a loser but the important part is that this friendly rivalry between the two centres resulted in increased blood donations and this after all was the main purpose behind the scheme.

One of the stories which we all remember in part, at least, is that of Robinson Crusoe, who was wrecked on an island in the Pacific and managed to survive alone against all the dangers and difficulties of the solitary life. As Daniel Defoe wrote the story, it is a striking tale of one man matching his wit, his strength, courage and patience with the nature of the hazards of the world. It was when these dedicated men realized that there were other people in the world and were prepared to see that they received The Word. Since that time the Bible Society has been following men's footprints in faraway remote places of the earth and to date has translated and distributed the Scriptures in more than 1100 languages. Our contributions through our local branches are needed that the work may continue. In Prince Edward Island we also assist when we make a purchase at The Bible House.

Fish Landings In Nfld. Up
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The federal fisheries department says 43,700,000 pounds of fish were landed in Newfoundland during the first three months of 1958 compared with 36,000,000 for the same period last year.

Value of the 1958 catch, which included cod, haddock, rosefish, herring and flounder, was $789,000 compared with $688,000 last year.

An official said, "there's a reason for the price drop. This year there were 15,000,000 pound of herring taken and most of this was converted into meal. Buyers do not pay a high price for meal." Last year only 450,000 pounds of herring were taken.
