Mr. Montague, of Dunnville, Cured of Ulcerated Itching Piles.

Mr. Robert Montague, of Dunnville, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with Itching Piles for five years and was so badly ulcerated, they were very painful, so much so, that I could not sleep. Appropriate Hymns.

Some people have peculiar notions of what is "appropriate." Some time ago a resident of a neighboring town was preaching at the Gladstone jail and prefacing his remarks by regretting the small attendance. At a race meeting held at — a band was engaged to play "appropriate music," and it was found that the numbers selected were from Moody and Sankey. "Go Bury Thy Sorrow" was one of them, and the others were all equally "appropriate."

Christmas religious service was held at the local jail and hymns suitable to the occasion were of course selected. The first one was "Free From the Law, Oh, Happy Condition," and the last, "We'll Never Leave This Safe Abode, Refuge in the Time of Storm." The only side of it all appealed to some of the inmates, and the intended good effect of the service was lost.—Adelaide Advertiser.

"Nothing."
"Nothing seems to please you," he said bitterly.
"I confess," she replied, "that you do not exactly meet my approval."
After he had inwardly digested that he was inclined to be even more bitter.—Chicago Post.

Such a Language!
Now, the gallant riders rough, Having got their hard won dough, Soon will hear the zephyrs sigh As they lie beneath the bough. Far away from mane and hough, Close beside the ripling lough, But they mustn't catch a cough, No, nor dose it a la Gough, And—but, say, this is enough. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Easy Job.
"I understand you want to hire a housemaid."
"That must be a mistake. I do all my own work."
"Too bad. It would be just the sort of place that I'd like."—Heitero Welt.

A Lament.
Leafless and brown are the trees, And the wild waste rocks are brown, Which the wan green sea so stealthily Comes creeping up to drown. And the sky is cold and pale, And the northwest wind blows chill, And now upon the scene he'll soon appear— The plumber, with his bill. —Up to Date.

Give Them Credit For This.

"There's one good thing about these occluded people."
"What's that?"
"They don't come around and wear you out because they've got the blues."—Chicago Record.

A Suggestion.
A bounty on the fierce wolf's head The States should all restore; Then maybe people won't object To have him at their door. —New York Journal.

Speaking of Clocks.

You cannot always judge by appearances. A clock appears to be terribly modest, with its hands always before its face, but you'll find that there's a deal of brass in its composition.—Boston Transcript.
