

U.S. Route Would Provide Cheaper Gas In N. Ontario

By JAMES NELSON
OTTAWA (CP) — If Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. is permitted to move more Western Canadian natural gas to Eastern Canada through the United States, more and cheaper gas will be available for industrial expansion in Northern Ontario, the National Energy Board was told here.

D. G. Clark of Toronto, vice-president for sales of Trans-Canada, said construction of a $200,000,000 pipeline through Minnesota and northern Michigan, with another $100,000,000 worth of engineering and pipeline work in Canada, would reduce the cost of gas transportation.

The second line south of Lake Superior and Lake Huron would mean more gas now carried north of Lake Superior by Trans-Canada would be available for industry along its route. And the saving in transportation costs would be passed on to Trans-Canada's customers everywhere east of Winnipeg.

Mr. Clark testified during the second day of the board's hearing of Trans-Canada's application for permission to export additional quantities of Alberta and Saskatchewan gas at Emerson, Man., and bring it back into Canada at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. and Sarnia, Ont.

Trans-Canada advised the board its cost of moving gas to the centre of its Eastern Canadian market would fall in 1967 to 16.62 cents a thousand cubic feet from 19.4 cents in 1966 if the Great Lakes project is built through the U.S. The price would remain below the 1966 level until 1974.

But if the southern route is not approved, the cost of transmission would rise to 20.62 cents in 1967 and continue to climb until 1969 when there would be some reduction. The rate would then climb sharply again after 1974.

Maurice Royer, board member, asked whether Trans-Canada expected a slow-down after 1968. Mr. Clark said Trans-Canada's figures did not show as sharp a rate of climb, but this was because it was more difficult to forecast growth rates far into the future.

"But are we being too low in our estimates of future requirements for Canadian gas?" Mr. Royer asked.

"That's possible," Mr. Clark said. "But these estimates are made on the basis of our customers' reports of what their customers will need."

Overseas Copper Ores Export Restricted By Canadian Gov't

OTTAWA (CP) — Restrictions on the overseas export of Canadian copper ores and concentrates have been announced in the Commons by Trade Minister Winters.

He said the move is designed to ensure that overseas concentrates now under contract to Canadian smelters will not be diverted to overseas buyers.

Last Nov. 22 the government placed export controls on various forms of copper, as a precautionary step due to a mounting shortage. At that time a general export permit was issued for ores and concentrates going overseas.

Mr. Winters said this general export permit is being revoked and, effective March 21, individual permits will be required for overseas shipments of ore and concentrates.

"It is not the purpose of this move to interfere with supplies moving to smelters abroad under contracts now existing," the minister said. It would serve only to prevent the diversion abroad of material under contract to Canadian smelters.

"The production of copper in Canada depends largely on supply of mine concentrates purchased from or processed for a large number of independent mines," Mr. Winters told the House.

"If this supply should be interrupted or diverted elsewhere to any considerable extent, it would affect the supply of copper available for use in Canada."

On Jan. 31 the government clamped controls on the export of copper scrap, copper alloy scrap and copper-bearing scrap.

Mr. Winters said in reply to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that the restrictions were not requested by the United States.

The minister also told Mr. Diefenbaker there has been no diversion of copper to date.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the requirement for individual permits could open the door to discrimination.

Mr. Winters said that to the best of his ability he will prevent any discrimination.

Population Explosion Seen Threat

TORONTO (CP) — Christianity is threatened by the world's population explosion, says a joint statement by the Anglican and United Churches of Canada.

The document, prepared by Rev. R. C. Chalmers of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, and a committee from both churches, says:

"Unless there is a revolution in the church in her belief in the Christian mission the population explosion will continue to outdistance the increase in the number of Christians in the world."

"It adds that churches are reacting in a feeble manner to the many challenges confronting it. The document, was written chiefly as a study guide on the recommended principles of union between the two churches.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it: AXDYLBAAKE is LONGFELLOW. One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
