SUICIDE OF A BOY.—C. Tiverston, an 18-year old boy, died at Philadelphia a few days ago from a dose of laudanum which he swallowed at the residence of his uncle. The only reason advanced by his relatives for the boy's suicide is that he had become dependent over his inability to secure employment, and he had been disappointed in not getting a position which had been promised him. His grandfather said that usually he was bright and cheerful, but of late he had noticed a change; the boy had become taciturn and morose.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.—The young man Costain, injured in Wiggins' mill at Mininigh on the 23rd ult., as stated in THE EXAMINER on Thursday, has died from his injuries. It appears that while the mill was running at slow speed the young man undertook to grind an axe, and in some way became entangled in the belt, sustaining severe injuries. Mr. Wiggins drove the injured young man to Wisner's Hotel, Alberton, where the services of Dr. McLeod were called in. On examination it was found that the leg between the knee and the ankle was badly crushed. The bones were protruding, and the flesh was all lacerated. In some places the skin was badly broken. In fact, the entire leg was in such a mangled condition that amputation would have been of no service. The unfortunate young man lingered in terrible agony until Saturday last, when death came to his relief. The case called forth substantial sympathy from the charitable people of Alberton, who did all in their power to make the injured youth as comfortable as was possible under the circumstance.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE ESTIMATES Tabled.

Summary of Proceedings.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.

Hon. Mr. Foster tabled the estimates for the next fiscal year this afternoon, about the earliest period of the session that this blue book was ever presented to the House. The total estimated expenditure is $46,636,000, a decrease compared with this year of $873,000. The estimated increases are on administration of justice, public debt, Indians, customs, railways and canals. The decrease in immigration, quarantine, militia provisions, public works chargeable to income, mail subsidies, ocean and river service, and provincial subsidies.

Miscellaneous mail subsidies and steamship subventions show some important changes. Sixty thousand dollars is to be voted for a line of steamers to ply between Halifax and St. John, or either to the West Indies and South America. There is an increase in the vote for steam communication with the Magdalen Islands of $2,000, and $9,000 will be voted for a daily service except Sunday during three months and a daily or tri-weekly service during three months between St. John and Digby and Annapolis. A subsidy to French and German lines of $50,000, and $30,000 is cut off altogether.

The P. E. Island steamship subsidy is reduced by five thousand dollars; between St. John and ports on the Basin of Minas by a thousand dollars; the Canso, Port Hood and Mabon line by a thousand; the Grand Manan line by five hundred, and the Halifax and St. John subsidy for the line via Yarmouth and Port Medway is cut off altogether.

The above reductions have been made, it is understood, because the Government holds that these lines should soon become self-sustaining.

There is a decrease of $42,000 in the expenditure in lights, fog whistles, etc.; on the other hand the full amount of $100,000 for the fishery protection fleet duly appears.

The following appropriations have been made for harbors and rivers: Casumpegi—removal of rock, $2,000; Souris East—breakwater at Knight's Point, repairs, &c., $3000; repairs to piers, breakwaters, &c., $3000. The public revenue for the first seven months of the fiscal year, shows an increase of $1,800,000 over the corresponding period last year.

The net debt of Canada at the end of January was $236,500,000, and the expenditure on capital account for the seven months, 3,300,000.

In the Commons to-day, Mr. Burdett's bill to provide against fraud in supplying milk to cheese and butter factories, was introduced and read a first time, and the time for receiving private bills was extended to the 28th inst.

Mr. Davies asked if it was the intention of the Government to treat the temporary offer known as the modus vivendi, as still in force, and to issue license, as therein provided, to American fishermen for the season of 1889.

Hon. C. H. Tupper replied that the matter was now under the consideration of the Government.

Mr. Perry, of P. E. Island, in moving for returns of repairs done to the dredge Prince Edward during the year 1888, complained that the amount had been extravagant, and also complained of the expense incurred in paying the staff while the dredge was idle. He asked for additional dredges for the Island.

Mr. Welsh followed in the same style. Sir Hector Langevin said there was no objection to bringing down the returns and he did not think it would show any ground for complaint.

Mr. Perry, in moving for a return of the lobster factories around the coast of P. E. Island and the fines imposed and paid, complained that the season closed too early to enable the lobster fishing business to be profitably conducted. He also charged that partiality had been shown by fishery overseers and by magistrates in the imposition of fines in favor of fishermen who were Conservative in politics, and that some of those who had been fined were not compelled to pay the fines.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, in reply said the regulation of last year was to some extent a permanent base for next year, and have yet to be settled, and he was glad to hear Mr. Perry's views concerning the charges of irregularity on the part of the fishery overseers. He had never heard of them before. He did not know the political tendency of any of the parties fined, or of the magistrates imposing the fines, but if Mr. Perry would furnish him with some definite complaint, he would have it investigated.

NOTES.
