Fulton Plans To Carry Share Of Federal Election Campaign

By KEN KELLY
OTTAWA (CP) — Works Minister Fulton plans to carry a major share of the Conservative federal election campaign effort in British Columbia and make a national campaign tour, it was learned here.

Mr. Fulton had planned to resign from the cabinet to ward the end of this month to take up fulltime duties as Conservative leader in B.C., will remain in the cabinet until early April to participate in the April 3 election campaign, in former said.

The 48-year-old works minister was elected B.C. Conservative leader last month after 17 years in the federal arena, first as a leading opposition spokesman and, following the Conservatives' 1957 election victory, as justice minister. He moved to the public works portfolio last August.

MEETS WITH PM
Mr. Fulton conferred Thursday with Prime Minister Diefenbaker on his plans for the immediate future. Following his election as B.C. Conservative leader, he had indicated he would take up his new duties this month if that was convenient for the government.

However, since making those plans the government has elected in the Commons and a defeat called.

When campaigning in B.C., where the Conservatives won six out of the 22 Commons seats in 1957, Mr. Fulton is expected to carry on government housekeeping duties in Ottawa while other ministers will be campaigning for reelection.

Tentative plans call for him to make an eight- or 10-day tour of the west coast, including engagements in Quebec where the Conservatives suffered serious reverses in the last election. He is bilingual and a Roman Catholic and is considered one of the party's best drawing cards in that province.

In an interview of "Moscow radio" Birtzyov said "our superiority over American rockets is irrefutable."

Rocket Fire From Space Is Possible

CP From AP-Reuters
MOSCOW—Russia has claimed it can fire rockets at the earth from space satellites.

The commander of Russia's strategic rocket forces, Marshal Sergei Birtzyov, said because of the development of Soviet rockets from satellites at any desired time and at any point of the satellite's trajectory, Moscow radio reported.

Birtzyov did not elaborate.

And Marshal Andrei Grechko said Soviet rockets can reach Poland — missile submarine

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

West returned a diamond. Declarer won and led a heart to the eight. East took the ace and played his last club, but was by now out of trumps. The outcome was that South made four hearts, since he was able to dispose of his spades on dummy's clubs.

At the second table, East found a better line of defense. The bidding and opening lead were the same as at the first table. But when East took the ace of clubs, he did not impulsively return a club.

He realized that a club return at this point would almost surely lead to only three tricks for the defense. Declarer was marked by the bidding with the ace of spades and ace of diamonds as well as the king of hearts.

Declarer was likewise sure to have five hearts. He could not very well have six, since he had failed to rebid the suit over two clubs, nor could he have four, since he would very likely have bid three no-trump over a three hearts in preference to four hearts with only a four-card suit.

So at trick two East led a spade. South had no choice but to finesse and West won by the king. West returned a spade and declarer took it in dummy with the ace and led the third right of hearts.

East then rebid the ace and led the ten of clubs, which West took. West returned a spade, which East ruffed. This was the end of the hand, all right, but East-West will show their five tricks to show for their efforts.

The downpour touched off landslides of mud which blocked highways, overran trams, cut off electric power and left hundreds homeless.
