ADDRESS.—Rev. Dr. Lucas, from Ontario, a gentleman who has endeavored the globe as an advocate of temperance, is to deliver a series of addresses in this city, commencing next Sunday evening, in the First Methodist Church, at 8.15. The Dr. comes to our city with the highest testimonials as a thinker and a speaker.

"Dr. Lucas thinks deeply, and both scripturally and philosophically. His powers of illustration are remarkable, and his delivery self-possessed, ardent and impressive. His oratory, indeed, may be described as unique, and rivets the attention of an audience. . . . Humor, of which the speaker possesses an inexhaustible fund, has free play.—Invercargill Times, New Zealand.

THEY STOPPED THE TRAIN.—A colony of potato bugs, on their way to Kansas, camped for the night on Saturday last on the tracks of the Sea Beach Railroad near Gravesend. They were so numerous that, as they were crushed, they made the rail slippery and finally the train was brought to a standstill. Sand for the rails had to be brought from the beach after the bugs had been dispossessed before the train could proceed.

SHE PRESERVED HER MONEY.—Mrs. W. B. Garman, of Elkhardt, Ind., died recently, leaving a large estate. A search was made for money believed to have been secreted about the house by Mrs. Garman, who was noted for her eccentricities. Henry Norton's (Annandale) case was dismissed for want of evidence.

A LONG-LIVED FAMILY.—According to an exchange, at St. Mary's, Guysboro, there lives a family of Hatties that register high in the matter of longevity. The eldest, John Hattie, is 92 years old; Daniel next follows at 86, George 84, Hugh 82. These are brothers of the late James Hattie, of Guysboro, who died about a year ago aged 87. Then there is a sister, Mrs. Kirk, of Aspen, who is 79 years of age. Had James lived until this year the combined age of the family would have been 570 years.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.—A pleasant little gathering met at the residence of Mr. W. B. Bradshaw, of Central Bedoune, on the 21st inst. to witness an interesting ceremony, the performance of which caused the neighboring streets to vibrate with the rattle of whistling whistles and the noise of the band. Nelson Clark, Esq., an enterprising and successful farmer residing at Cape Traverse, became on this occasion the happy possessor of one of our most estimable young ladies, Miss C. Jennie Rowe, who is well known by a large circle of acquaintances in Charlottetown. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was partaken of, and the newly married couple, accompanied by a number of friends, proceeded to their beautiful seaside home. The bride was prettily attired in a tasteful fawn-colored traveling suit, and the greetings showered upon the happy pair were of the most cordial character.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—Yesterday afternoon, during the prevalence of the storm, the house of Mr. Tanaw White, on Byfield Street, was struck by lightning. The front of the house is used as a store, and the other portion as a residence. There is a short pole on the front of the house. The lightning struck this pole, and following it in a downward direction entered the house between the walls and worked its way through until it reached the lower floor. The joint above which the lightning travelled was badly splintered. In a bedroom over the shop the lath were smashed, and a large quantity of plaster broken and thrown across the room. The glass in the window of this room was also broken, and the clapboards on the outside of the house were considerably bulged. Mrs. White was in the act of stepping to the door when the lightning spent its fury in front of her. Had she gone an other step farther she would have been struck and killed by the electric fluid. As it was her arms and feet were burned somewhat, and she received quite a shock generally. The house filled with smoke and it was thought that it had taken fire. But fortunately such was not the case.

A house at Souris, owned by a man named Patrick Hughes, was also struck by lightning. Two plasterers were working in the house at the time. One of them, a man named Mulally, had the sole torn off his boots, but escaped other injury. The other man was knocked down.

The British government give little scope to the restrictive, not a few days ago Dr. Tannec was suspended for unparliamentary language, the plea that he was drunk being of no avail; and now we are informed that the government has taken as short time of the House while the rule which provides for the adjournment of the House at midnight has been suspended.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Second Day of Colt Stakes Meeting. Promptly at one o'clock, starter Rogers "rang up" the first event on the programme, the race for four year olds, postponed from yesterday. The officials were the same as on the previous day, and the track was in good condition. The attendance of spectators was considerably larger than on the previous day. The Artillery Band was present with a good programme.

FOUR YEAR OLD CLASS. Three horses faced the starter, viz., Parkland, Montrose and Hatusu. Parkland had the pole, with Montrose in second position and Hatusu on the outside.

First heat—They were sent off on the fifth score. All three were well together at the first turn, where Hatusu forged ahead. He retained this position until wearing the quarter, when she was passed by Parkland, which kept the lead to the finish, coming in a winner by several lengths in 2.30.1. Montrose passed Hatusu at about the close of the first half, and led the second position for the remainder of the heat.

Second heat—They got a good send-off on the third score. At the first turn Parkland had a slight lead over Hatusu, with Montrose at the latter's wheel. Before the half was reached Parkland had secured a lead of several lengths over Hatusu, and Montrose was a good third. From the half to the three-quarters there was no material change in position. Just after passing the three-quarters, however, Montrose collared Hatusu, and gave her the "go by" in the stretch, coming in second, with about a length to spare. Time 2.33.2.

Third Heat—The send off was a bad one for Parkland, but before the first turn was passed he had taken first place, which he held to the finish, winning easily in 2.29.1. Montrose finished about a length and a half ahead of Hatusu.

2.30 CLASS. There were four starters, Lawndominic, Lady Hilda, Fleetwood and Billie McKee, taking positions in the order in which the names appear.

First Heat—They were sent off on the third score. All went off their feet on the first turn. They quickly settled down, however, and Hilda took first place. She did not hold that position long, however, as Dominick forged ahead and soon obtained a lead of several lengths which he held for the rest of the heat winning by several lengths. The last half was a procession with Dominick first, Hilda second, Billie third and Fleetwood fourth. Time 2.34.1.

Second Heat—A good start was effected on the fourth score. At the first turn they began to string out, Dominick leading, with Billie McKee second, Lady Hilda third, and Fleetwood fourth. There was no change worthy of special mention until after passing the three-quarters, when Hilda passed Billie and took second place, which she held to the finish. Dominick won the heat by about three lengths. The couple and Fleetwood fourth. Time 2.34.1.

THE MASSACRE OF CHRISTIANS.

A despatch from Shanghai ascribes the action of the Chinese officials at Ku Cheng in preventing the British and American consuls from being present at the examination of the persons arrested for participating in the massacre of Christians at that place, to fear on the part of the authorities that the testimony of the prisoners will incriminate them. The refusal of the authorities, the despatch says, shows the futility of allowing consuls to start on their mission without the accompaniment of a strong British military escort. As the matter stands the consuls are powerless and while the inquiry is a farce public feeling among Europeans in Shanghai is strongly inclined toward the conviction that British Minister O'Connor should demand from China an independent enquiry without delay and also that a powerful escort of British troops should be immediately despatched to Ku-Cheng to protect and assist them.

A despatch from Shanghai to the London Times confirms the previous reports of the refusal of the authorities to allow the consuls to start on their mission without the accompaniment of a powerful escort of British troops, and adds that Chinese officials have been most obsequiously obstructive to the consuls, who are powerless to do anything without a proper escort of British troops.

In these days of keen business-competition the importance of a practical and thorough business education cannot be overestimated. It is pleasing to learn that the attendance at the Charlottetown Business College during the coming term will be larger than ever. QUEBEC, August 20.—The latest despatches from Fox river regarding the stranded steamer Dracon report threatening weather and heavy sea which thwarts the ship up and down and strains her heavily. Captain Baxter has removed everything of value to the steamer Eureka which is standing by the Dracon. Very little chance now to save the ship. She is very likely to go to pieces.
