Report Is Presented On Industrial Park

The establishment of an industrial park was the subject of a report presented to the Charlottetown City Council at its regular August meeting yesterday by Councillor John Morris, who heads the council's Industrial Promotion Committee.

In his opening remarks Councillor Morris noted that any industrial park established for the city should preferably be located in the city, but added that it appears most likely that such a park would be located on land bordering the city, which could in all probability become city property.

Councillor Morris said that in the spring of 1965 the Board of Trade and a committee of council made a study of research on industry and from that inquiry came two obstacles, which he said, "I hope will be settled within one year."

"The obstacles are first, a proper location for an industrial park and secondly, what type of industry we are looking for, what interest there is in setting up an industrial plant," he said.

Dealing with obstacle number one, Mr. Morris said the committee's first objective was to look for a suitable site. He said the committee was assisted in this by Charles Moffatt, general manager of the Charlottetown Board of Trade.

The three sites considered included the Charlottetown waterfront. Committee findings on this concluded that this site requires fill and rock plus a concrete sea wall. The cost, which Councillor Morris said would be in the millions of dollars, would make this site prohibitive at the present time.

The second site looked into was located along Jordan Crescent including land owned by the Dominion Experimental Farm and a portion of land fronting along the railway and owned by the Village of Parkdale. Commenting on this site, Councillor Morris said: "as the feeling among the Board of Trade members is hopeless as regards purchasing land owned by the Experimental Farm, plus the fact that too little land is available for a proper park, site number two was also shelved."

The third site is located north of St. Dunstan's University and is owned by the university. "This particular area is pasture land and very suitable for industry and of the three sites it would seem to be the most advantageous," Mr. Morris said. He added that the land borders on the railway and could be serviced readily at reasonable cost.

While surveys were being carried out the Board of Trade met in Charlottetown with Dr. E.S. Weeks, chairman of the Atlantic Development Board. Members of council also attended the meeting, as did commissioners of Sherwood and Parkdale.

At the time of the meeting Dr. Weeks suggested that the three areas involved pinpoint at least two areas within their boundaries of 40 acres each and these areas would be surveyed by trained experts that would recommend to the board the area best suited to development. The cost of the survey is being borne by ADB.

Early this summer, Mr. Morris said, Fern Doucette, director of programming for ADB, spent some time in the area helping the three communities involved prepare their noted in preparation for the survey team which will be looking into the areas this month.

If and when a site is approved, Mr. Morris said, it is expected that the board will bear up to 50 per cent of the costs involved in servicing the area in preparation for new industry.

Councillor Morris said that in his opinion Charlottetown should be given first priority in setting up a site with assistance from ADB and if necessary further assistance from the province. He added that Charlottetown was the capital city and under the present system of per capita grants the city's share wasn't what it should be. He said Charlottetown citizens are paying for the services in all areas of the province including Sherwood and Parkdale.

Other advantages which Charlottetown can offer, he added, were that the city can provide sewage and water facilities and the city can introduce exemptions to business tax for at least a five year period. He also noted that the city already has areas serviced with police and fire protection for new homes to be occupied by the workers.

Mr. Morris added that he trusted that the newly appointed general manager of Industrial Enterprises, Thomas Flood, will support Charlottetown in the setting up of an industrial park within the city.

Mr. Sperling's letter of acceptance to Mr. Hiscott reads as follows: "It gives me great pleasure to advise you that, at a session of the Selection Panel held on the 28th June, the application of your group to appear in the Expo Amateur Programme was accepted."

"The Agreement of Participation, together with the floor plan you need to diagram your requirements, as well as a confirmation of your dates, will be forwarded to you shortly."

"I look forward to welcoming your group at Expo in 1967, and I will be pleased to hear from you should there be any further information you require."

The Royal Canadian Legion Choir (an all male group) was formed three years ago under the sponsorship of the Charlottetown No. 1 Branch and have performed on two occasions in the Centennial Theatre as well as in several other centers throughout the province.

This group which consists of some 45 voices is a credit to the Charlottetown Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and their being selected to perform in Expo 67 brings honor not only to the Legion but to the city of Charlottetown and the province in general.

Outlines Aim Of City Playground Program

In outlining some of the aims and hopes of this year's summer program, Jim Fox, Charlottetown Director of Recreation stated, "One of our basic objectives in setting up a program for the enjoyment of our City's children is to be as entertaining and imaginative as possible."

"With flexibility and variety as our key themes, we are attempting to broaden the everyday scope of the many hundreds of youngsters, of all ages, that continue to throng to our Recreation Department supervised play areas, away from home," said Mr. Fox.

Citing the increasingly wide range of available projects and events to be found in the 1966 program, Mr. Fox expresses his delight in the eager acceptance and participation, as evidenced by the growing numbers in individual and team events.

Youngsters are reminded that track and field instructional periods are now in progress under the guiding hand of Bill MacKinnon and any boy or girl wishing to take part should join by consulting their playground supervisor. Volleyball instruction and regular play, leading to city-wide finals will also be available this year, as will playground tournaments for girls and boys softball teams, horseshoe tournaments for the older boys and regular hopscotch playoffs for the girls. All particulars on these events can be obtained from your supervisor at your playground.

Connaught Square came up with a really big week's attendance, when a total of 2,157 young people attended regular sessions.

Hillsboro Square had 1,285 registered, while Spring Park attracted 1,248. Kinsmen Park had 1,183 and Victoria Park, 908.

The week's total attendance came to 6,781 raising the 1966 playground attendance total to 26,494, an increase of 6,912 youngsters over a similar period in 1965.

"This points out a tremendous increase in necessary services and programming," said Mr. Fox, "and we are all endeavoring to cope with this increased need, by providing a well-rounded and interesting program."

Red Cross Clinic Misses Objective

While the number of donors who turned up at both the Hunter River and North Rustico Red Cross blood donor clinics held yesterday was an improvement over last year's response, the total registration was 36 short of the 270 objective for the day.

Eighty-one of the expected 120 donors registered at the Hunter River clinic which was held at the Regional High School there under the sponsorship of the local Women's Institute headed by Mrs. Beryl Craswell. Members of the Hunter River Women's Institute provided the refreshments for the donors and the volunteers to assist the mobile Red Cross blood donor team from Halifax.

The Legion sponsored clinic which took place at Stella Maris hall in North Rustico last evening had 133 donors register on the 150 objective. Several summer visitors, particularly from the Montreal area attended and helped to boost the attendance. An encouraging feature of the North Rustico clinic was the fact that about 20 per cent of the donors were young residents making their first donation.

As has been the custom in the past the Avonlea Women's Institute, the North and South Rustico-parish councils of the C.W.I. and the Ladies Auxiliary of the North Rustico branch of the Royal Canadian Legion jointly provided the refreshments and
