

Hit And Run Case Adjoined Week

SUMMERSIDE — The case of Stirling Cotton of Springhill, P.E.I., charged with failing to stop at the scene of an accident, was adjourned until next Wednesday.

The adjournment was granted by Magistrate R.S. Hinton, Q.C. in Summerside police court when he was informed that Percy Weeks, the man allegedly struck by the car operated by Cotton, was unable to be present in court.

Mr. Weeks was struck by a Volkswagen car in Summerside last Friday night and received treatment for injuries at the Prince County Hospital. Cotton was arrested during the weekend on the hit-and-run charge.

The case of Edgar Dymen, Northam, charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was further adjourned until next Monday evening when defence counsel, J. Watson MacNaught, Q.C. was unable to be present because of commitments in Magistrate's Court being held simultaneously in the court house.

MONTAGUE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

A charge of cruelty to animals against Arthur James Bridges, Cardigan, was dismissed by Magistrate J. B. Johnston in Kings County Magistrate's Court at Georgetown yesterday.

Magistrate Johnston dismissed the charge against the Cardigan man after hearing the evidence of Dr. Albert E. Ings, veterinary surgeon of Montague and Cst. D. Hender of the Montague detachment, RCMP for the crown, and that of the accused and two witnesses on his behalf.

The charge in effect was for failing to provide adequate food for the horse and causing it unnecessary suffering by driving it while in an undernourished condition.

The accused was represented by J. P. Nicholson of Charlottetown.

They managed to save the Legion building. Shown above are the firemen playing a stream of water on the Thompson home. Most of the furniture and personal belongings of Mrs. Thompson were saved. The owner is at present a patient in the Kings County Memorial Hospital.

Montrose Man Passes Suddenly

Besides his wife, the former Helen MacAuland of O'Leary he is survived by three children, Doris, 12, Keith, three-and-one-half years and Carol, four months. One brother Arthur also survives.

Funeral arrangements are not completed.

Attitude

(Continued from page 1) 1, 1957, to March 31, 1962, with the promise of a review of the financial situation then. But Premier Smallwood, seizing on the phrasing in a royal commission's recommendation that the island should get $28,500,000 to 1961 and "thereafter $8,000,000 per annum" of aid, accused the government of bad faith.

Against this background, Mr. Walker's visit might have produced a new found of verbal slugging. Neither he nor Premier Smallwood are men to back away from a no-holds-barred political fight. Mr. Walker gained a reputation for hard hitting during Commons investigation of construction by the previous Liberal administration of the multi-million-dollar printing bureau in Ottawa.

But Mr. Walker adopted a mild and friendly tone, appealing to Newfoundlanders to get behind Confederation in a spirit of brotherhood.

Without throwing any bouquets to Mr. Smallwood he painted a picture of future development in Newfoundland with federal money — more than $13,000,000 to develop St. John's harbor, $500,000 on a program of community stages for landing fish in the Newfoundland outports, more millions on development of a paved road across the island.

This is the first time the scout executive has met in Newfoundland. The island delegates are expected to return Sunday.

Hunter River Ratepayers Told Of Rural High School

"We are no longer in a horse-and-buggy age for education," taxpayers representing some 31 school districts were told at Hunter River last evening.

That rural children should have the same educational opportunities as city children, was the theme of Rev. E. Foster Hall, chairman of a committee formed earlier this year to consider possible educational reforms in the area.

The problem is that there has been a much greater drop-out of student in the rural schools than in urban ones, and High School youngsters either drive into Queen Charlotte High School daily, as a half-dozen from the district do, or go to Stella Maris, where two are now attending Grade 10, he said.

Four buses, said Mr. Hall, could carry the senior pupils from where are now 31 school districts. Possible exceptions are Millvale and South Granville which, although they are only about seven miles from Hunter River, do not have the benefit of good roads, it was stated.

It is the improved highway system that has made possible, in the last five years, the carrying of children as much as 16 miles to school, it was pointed out.

In a brisk question period it was made that the project was economically practical for a district of suitable size. The Highways Department would have to see that shelters were provided, if necessary, at picking up points, it was stated.

Transportation would cost $10,000, brought down to $2,400 by government grants. This would be $70 for each district or $2.80 per $3,000 valuation, it was pointed out.

Another in the series of meetings will be held at Wheatley River next week.

Actual decision on the question will come at the school district meetings which are held in January.

Mr. Hall emphasized that there is no shortage of trained teachers for high school work.

A mail driver pointed out that in a bad winter it might be necessary to use a horse for more than a month. It was at this point that Mr. Hall declared that he were no longer in the horse-and-buggy age and that technical difficulties should not be allowed to prevent rural children getting a proper education.

A film was shown earlier in the meeting, giving the highlights of the pioneer work in rural high schools in Alberta.

Mr. Hall pointed out that the enrollment of rural schools is increasing and that in five years there will be 48 per cent more attending than today.

In the matter of cost he pointed out that the four classrooms and combined lab and work room would cost $45,000 or $20,000 after the government grant of $25,000. On average each district would pay $145; and property valued at $3,000 would pay $5.
