

MR. AND MRS. WALTER CHING

Bay Fortune United Church Scene Of Recent Nuptials

Wedding vows were solemnized in Bay Fortune United Church recently when Donna Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jocelyn D. Coffin of Fortune, was united in marriage with Walter Alvah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ching, Kingsboro.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Malcolm O. Smith, Mrs. V. L. Dingwell, organist of First Baptist Church, Charlottetown, played the wedding music and accompanied V. L. Dingwell as he sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father wearing a floor length gown of white sheer over taffeta, with lily point sleeves and embroidered neckline. A circular headpiece with pearls and rhinestones held her four tier shoulder length veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Rena Sanderson was maid of honor, in a street length dress of sea foam blue. Wanda Burke as bridesmaid wore a yellow street length dress. The bridesmaids wore wedding rings with matching veils, and they carried nosegays of tinted carnations.

The flower girl, Judy Rose, wore pink sheer over taffeta and her headdress was a circlet of daisies. She carried a nosegay similar to those of the other attendants.

Merton Bruce, brother-in-law of the groom was best man.

Sheldon Rose and Elbert McEwen, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests to pews marked with white bows centered with fern. The church was decorated with baskets of white, pink and mauve phlox and vases of sweet peas.

Mrs. Coffin chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of blue sheer over taffeta with embroidered waistline, matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white roses.

The groom's mother was in a pink embossed dress with matching hat and white accessories and she wore a corsage of white and pink roses.

A reception was held in Fortune Hall, where the bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mr. Smith proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. A congratulatory telegram from the brother of the bride was read by Elbert McEwen. The guest book was circulated by Mrs. Merton Bruce, sister of the groom.

For a honeymoon trip to the Gaspe and points of interest in Nova Scotia, the bride wore a turquoise linen dress with matching coat. Her accessories were black and her corsage was of yellow roses.

Out of province guests at the wedding were: Mrs. Ivan Jenkins and son Clark, Rochester, N.H.; Mrs. E. V. McAfee, Orange, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lloy and Mr. and Mrs. Rod Sweet, Collingwood, N.S. The newlyweds will reside in Kingsboro, P.E.I.

ELLEN'S DIARY

The Old Maple Was Never Prettier Than It Is Now

"Was there no rain here this morning, Ellen?" James' husband of ours inquired, when we were serving dinner today. "Only a few drops," we said. "I thought so," he offered. "We seemed to drive into it, on our way to town. And returning, at about the same place, we drove into the sunshine again. Guess there must have been a rainbow somewhere," he said.

And had we missed seeing it, as we went about the cares of the morning? Lost a sight of a misty, colorful bow bridging the autumn hills? How disappointing to consider that as we baked cookies, and made sure on Peter's account that the dessert would be "that tapioca" with the nourishing milk and egg tucked away in it, he enjoys, and lifted a green relish from its cooking - pot to the jars, we had lost a certain loveliness of the day. Never lifted eyes to the hills in our busyness. How careless we had been!

"Cool. Like a Fall day, this is," James commented, hanging up cap and jacket. "I saw some heifers in at the plant where we left the sow." Peter said carrying some groceries from the truck. "Yes, now not bad ones. Reach me down that canister, will you so that I can put your tea away... There were some sheep in there too. And we saw... but, dear me, I'm hungry now!"

"That last steer they got from us - you remember, Ellen made the red brand. Yes, a pretty carcass. And" James nodded, "killed a nice percent too... Hungry, are you Dear? Then come, dinner's ready!"

"And what about tomorrow's dinner?" we asked Peter, when we were at our meal. He smiled happily.

"Dad and I will be having ours at home tomorrow. Mother won't be teaching them!"

The regular school's am. in the Primary Department of our District school will be resuming her classes, when the new week comes in Her babe is come. Peter's eyes shone at the news. All the world loves a baby. This one is new and sweet. And as are all such small ones to their parents.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

United Church Women Hold General Meeting

The general meeting of UCW of the Bideford Pastoral Charge was held recently in the Christian Education Centre in Ellerslie, with the Conway Unit as hostesses.

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. James Burleigh, the president. The worship service was in charge of the Lot 14 Unit with Mrs. Angus MacLennan and Mrs. Kelvin MacLennan as leaders.

A report from the Bible Vacation School showed that the school had financed itself and therefore did not use the money voted by the general UCW for that purpose.

A UCW meeting which was to have been held in Pictou, N.S. had been cancelled as the response to the invitation to attend was too great to be handled by the entertaining body. Money voted for transportation was therefore left in the funds.

Three young people attended the Training School in Teanagouche. Mrs. E. S. Burleigh's contribution towards their expenses was acknowledged.

It was decided to entertain the UCW Rally for Prince County in the C. E. Centre on Saturday afternoon, October 30.

A nominating committee of Mrs. Walter MacKee, Mrs. Spurgeon Dymont and Mrs. Alvin Hardy was appointed to bring in a slate of officers for the ensuing year, to the annual meeting to be held in November at Lot 14, with Conway Unit in charge of the devotional period and Bideford, the programmes.

The date for the annual supper, proceeds of which are used for expenses of the Christian Education Centre, will be set by the executive.

Mrs. John Crook delighted the members with her solo, "Nearer Still Nearer" after which the film "A Stranger In The House" was shown, with Rev. Keith Whitney, projectionist.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by the Conway Unit.

ST. JOHN'S WA. CRAPAUD Plans were made for the annual goose supper on November 6 at the September meeting of the WA of St. John's Church, Crapaud, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Seaton, with 25 members and two visitors present. Reports were given by the officers.

One of the projects undertaken by this group of women during the year was providing accommodation for the Sunday School children. Part of the church shed was utilized for this purpose. A partition was run across one end, and two rooms made. The partition between these rooms was movable, which allowed them to open into one large room. These were completely finished, and a heater provided, at a total cost of $932.00, all financed by the WA. Money was raised by means of suppers, bazaars, a special collection, and donations. The rooms are now occupied each Sunday morning.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID SCHURMAN

Wedding Vows Solemnized At Central Bedeque Church

Gladioli, calendulas and dahlias attractively decorated Central Bedeque United Baptist Church when Alice Elaine, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Waugh, North Bedeque, was united in marriage to James David, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schurman, Central Bedeque.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Horace L. Estabrooks. Mrs. Horace Estabrooks sang "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied by Jo Anne Wood, cousin of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length sheath gown of white peau de soie with scooped neckline and long sleeves tapering to lily points over the hands. Her gown was accented with lace appliques at the neckline, skirt and on the detachable train which fastened with bows at the waistline. A four tiered shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell softly from a fabric rose headpiece with rhinestones and pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow sweetheart roses. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Vivian, who wore a yellow street length gown of organza over taffeta, with lace at the waistline and lace back panels falling from the waist. A short, three tiered veil of illusion was held in place by a fabric bow accented with quins and she carried a cascade of yellow and mauve mums with matching ribbons.

Rev. Edward Britten of Tryon was the best man.

Cousin of the bride, Sheldon Neill and Sidney Drummond ushered the guests to pews marked with white satin bows, bells and rosebuds.

Mrs. Waught chose for her daughter's wedding, a blue two-piece dress of puckered crepe with matching metallic trimmed hat and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother was dressed in blue floral jersey, and a black velvet hat. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Dr. Britten Memorial Hall. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Grace was offered by Mr. Estabrooks. The best man was master of ceremonies, and Roy Campbell proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Norma Brown, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Leaving for a honeymoon in the Maritimes and the New England States, the bride wore a two-piece blue suit with pink hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

The newlyweds will reside in Central Bedeque.
