country seat, near Halifax, after a few days suffering from paralysis.

It is understood that the Hon. William Young will succeed him, thereby leaving a vacancy in the Government and the House of Assembly of Nova Scotia. As the appointment will in st probably be made while the Prince of Wales will be in Halifax, there is no doubt that the learned gentleman will be recommended for the honour of Knighthood. This will be gall and w rmwood to Mr. Johnston, who has been Mr. Young's rival in politics and in his ambition to obtain the first seat on the Bench.

New Music.—We have been favoured with two pieces of new Music by our accomplished townswoman Mrs. Penney. They are published by Russell & Tollman, Boston, in very superior style. One is entitled the "Mayflower Polka," the other is a Song. "One Trace left." The words of the latter are sweet and plaintive, and evince much ease and grace in versification. We have not yet heard either of these pieces played, but competent judges, we understand, consider them as valuable contributions to the "divine art."

European and N. A. Railway.—The first train passed through the whole way from St. John to Moncton on Wednesday, the 18th inst. There were great rejoicings along the line The road is not yet, however, so near completion as to admit of passenger traffic.

We understand that a telegraphic despatch was received here this evening by Mr. Hyndman, announcing the arrival of the Prince of Wales and the Royal Squadron at St. John's, N. F. last evening (Monday.)

Wheatly River Tea Party and Drill.—The Drill and Tea Party of the Scotia Volunteers, under the command of Capt. McRae, came off on Thursday last, at Rustico, at the farm of Mr. John Chandler.

The Company went through various movements, which, their opportunities for practice considered, were performed with a degree of precision reflecting credit on themselves and their instructor.

His Excellency, who with Mrs. Dundas was present by invitation, expressed himself highly pleased with the appearance and performance of the Volunteers. Under a double line of arbors formed of young trees, beautifully covered with green boughs, were spread tables plentifully covered with viands suitable to the taste of the company; and the solid and substantial, as well as the lighter and more delicate portions of the feast, were done ample justice to by a respectable assemblage of both sexes met in honor of the occasion. Among the visitors, we noticed the Hon. Mr. Laird, the Adjutant General, the Judge Advocate, and several officers of the Volunteer Militia.

Rustico deserves great credit for being the first to come forward in so handsome a manner for the encouragement of a movement which has for its object the protection of their hearths and homes, sweethearts and wives, and all that is dear and near to men. The collection at the tables, enhanced by the liberality of Mrs. Dundas and the subsequent sale of the cake, &c., amounted to upwards of £25.

Taking all together, the Tea Party at Rustico was a complete success. The Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Dundas, whose condescension and affability had gained the hearts of all, were, on leaving the ground, saluted with three hearty cheers.—Com.

From the Royal Gazette.

VISIT OF HIS EXCELLENCY TO NEW GLASGOW.

On Wednesday last, the 11th instant, His Excellency the Lieut. Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Dundas, the Hon. Col. Gray, Hon John Longworth, Hon. Heath Haviland, and the Attorney General, left town for the purpose of visiting the flourishing settlements of New Glasgow, Cavendish, &c., &c. On arriving at New Glasgow, His Excellency and party partook of luncheon at the residence of the Hon. Alexander Laird, and afterwards drove through the settlement, and returned to town in the evening.

We understand that Captain Duncan McRae's Volunteer Company of Militia turned out to do honor to Her Majesty's Representative, and saluted His Excellency at Wheatly River Bridge. His Excellency expressed himself much pleased with their soldier-like appearance.

The following Address was presented to His Excellency by the inhabitants of New Glasgow, Rustico &c., &c.

To His Excellency George Dundas, Esquire, Lieutenant Governor, &c., &c.

May it please your Excellency;

We, the inhabitants of New Glasgow, Rustico, and vicinity, beg leave most cordially to welcome your Excellency and Lady on your first visit to this part of the country, and to express our devoted loyalty, and unwavering attachment to our beloved Queen and the glorious constitution, to the blessings of which we have the happiness to participate—and more especially as the previous measures of your Excellency's administration have given an earnest of your desire to promote the best interests of the inhabitants of this Colony.

It is with unmingled satisfaction that we hail the expected advent of the Heir apparent to the British throne in his intended tour in the imperial Colonies on this side of the Atlantic, which we confidently hope and trust will be satisfactory to His Royal Highness, and beneficial to the Colonists.

The people of these localities being almost exclusively employed in Agricultural pursuits, we confidently anticipate much benefit from your Excellency's superior knowledge of that important branch of industry, as it is scientifically practised in the Parent State, and to which we have abundant reason to expect your Excellency's patronage will be extended.

We participate with our fellow Colonists in the hope that the purchase of the Selkirk Estate, and the appointment of the Commission to mediate between Landlord and Tenant, will tend to the amelioration of the circumstances of the latter, and settle permanently a vexed question of political strife, which has long retarded the prosperity of the Island.

That your Excellency's administration may continue as it has auspiciously begun, and that your residence in this Island may prove every way agreeable to your Excellency and your estimable Lady, is the sincere desire and prayer of the loyal inhabitants of these settlements.

Signed on behalf of the meeting,

Thomas M'Neill, Chairman.

[reply]

Government House, July 11, 1860.

Gentlemen;

It is with much satisfaction that I receive your loyal address, and I thank you for it, and the cordiality with which you have received me on the occasion of this my first visit to your District.

We have much reason to rejoice in the near prospect of welcoming to our Island the son of our beloved Queen,—the Heir to Her throne; and I confidently expect that this most loyal Colony will testify, by the warmth of the reception given to the son of Queen Victoria, the love it bears to her whose virtues are the pride and boast of all her subjects.

In looking round on your fine farms, I am filled with admiration at the energy and perseverance which have created an agricultural garden out of what, within the recollection of many of you, was an impenetrable forest.

It is the earnest wish of my Government to promote the welfare of every class in this Island, and I hope that having effected the purchase of the Selkirk Estate, we may enable the industrious tenant, in many instances, to become, on comparatively easy terms, the owner of the land he has reclaimed.

I, likewise, entertain a sanguine hope that the Commission recently appointed to arbitrate on those matters of difference which have long agitated the Colony, may finally and satisfactorily settle them.

The kindly reception you have given Mrs. Dundas and myself call for our best thanks, and it is our earnest prayer that every effort to do good among you may prosper.

(Signed) George Dundas, Lt. Governor.

Thomas M'Neill, Esq., and the inhabitants of New Glasgow, Rustico and vicinity.

Death of Mr. G. P. R. James.—Mr. George P. R James was born in London in 1801, and commenced his career by early contributions to the magazines and newspapers. Mr. Washington Irving was his literary godfather, for some youthful effusions exhibited merit sufficient to elicit his praise and the advice to adventure in a larger field. "The Life of Edward, the Black Prince," published in 1822, was his first important effort in literature, and was followed, three years later, by the novel of 'Richelieu,' an historical romance, the first of a long series by which Mr. James attained his peculiar reputation and success.

The list of original works of all descriptions published under his name amounts at present to nearly 80, in over 190 volumes, the last being "The Cavalier" (1859); an instance of literary fecundity perhaps without a parallel in any other author who has written the English language. It is said that his method of composition was by dictation to an amanuensis.

Among his works are several volumes of poetry, and many of history and biography, including the "History of Chivalry," and lives of Charlemagne, Richard Cœur de Lion, Henry IV. of France, and Louis XIV., written in a popular style. In addition to these he has edited a variety of miscellaneous works, and has published enough stories and articles in periodicals to fill 8 or 10 more volumes. In 1825 he wrote, in conjunction with Mr. Maunsell B. Field, of New York, a novel entitled "Adrian, or the Clouds of the Mind."

For a very brief period he held the position of historiographer of England by the appointment of William IV. About 1850 he removed to the United States with his family, fixing his residence in Stockbridge, Berkshire County, Mass. In 1852 he was appointed British Consul in Norfolk, Va., where he remained until his appointment in 1858 to be Consul at Venice. Among the novels suggested by his experiences of American life and history are, "Ticonderoga" (1854), and "The Old Dominion" (1856) A collected edition of his works, commencing in 1844, has been published in London, and of nearly all his novels cheap reprints have appeared in the United States. The greater part of them have been translated into German. Mr. James died at Venice on the 10th inst.

The Toronto Globe draws attention to the remarkable coincidence that Canada will be visited by three princes this summer—the Prince of Wales, Prince Napoleon, and Prince de Joinville. The two latter he thinks, come to feel the pulse of the French Canadians, and see what prospects there are now for a reconquest of Canada, when Lower Canada has to pay its own taxes.

The Bank of Montreal has established a rule that each of its officers is to take 14 days leave in the year, which reflects much honour on the Directors. Other public institutions might follow the example set by the Bank of Montreal in this matter, with profit to themselves.

Two boys, one aged 12, and the other aged 14, quarrelled at Petersburg, Va., a few days since, when one of them drew a knife and stabbed the other through the heart, killing him instantly.

A Servant girl was recently fined at Montreal four dollars, for quitting her place without due notice. If the same rule were to hold in other places it would perhaps be a benefit.
