BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WINIFRED E. WILSON

FIRST BIRD SEEN

What bird starts your list for the new year? Of course it depends largely upon whether you live in a city, a small town, or a country district.

Should your grounds be surrounded by a thorny hedge, a Shrike may be attracted there, to hang its kill on the pointed hooks.

The Pigeon now monopolizes most of our tallest city buildings and the eaves of many ordinary houses.

Have you discovered that we have a dark bird, somewhat smaller than a Robin, that changes its appearance winter and summer?

The so-called City Sparrow is, in reality, no relative at all of our true Sparrows: Song, White-throated, Chipping, and the rest.

Do birds cross the ocean? Peace, perfect peace, with sorrows surging round?

On Jesus' bosom nought but calm is found.

Peace, perfect peace, death shadowing us and ours?

Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.

It is enough, earth's struggles soon shall cease.

And Jesus call us to heaven's perfect peace.

Peace, perfect peace, with sorrows surging round?

On Jesus' bosom nought but calm is found.

Peace, perfect peace, death shadowing us and ours?

Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.

It is enough, earth's struggles soon shall cease.

And Jesus call us to heaven's perfect peace.

Peace, perfect peace, with sorrows surging round?

On Jesus' bosom nought but calm is found.

Peace, perfect peace, death shadowing us and ours?

Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.

It is enough, earth's struggles soon shall cease.

And Jesus call us to heaven's perfect peace.

She had not spoken to him since they left the train. Downstairs in the beautiful old living room with its faded chintz, its ancient mahogany, its thin silken rugs, she saw Buzz, and Mary Sue standing before the fireplace, banked on this warm spring night with great sprays of wild honeysuckle.
