

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 22, 1886.

Editorial Notes.

At a Cabinet meeting at Washington on Tuesday afternoon the Canadian fisheries complications, and the scope and policy of the President's annual message to Congress were the principal topics considered.

The Trades Journal says that the Dominion Government have purchased the Acadia coal company's railway running from Westville to Stellarton. It places the figure at between $30,000 and $40,000.

The bill recently introduced into the French Chamber of Deputies for the completion of the navy proposes an outlay of $28,000,000 for the construction of new war ships, and of $12,000,000 for the construction of ports of refuge.

The exports of live stock from the port of Montreal, from the opening of navigation to date were 55,533 head of cattle and 72,413 head of sheep, against 50,095 cattle and 36,847 sheep in 1885, and 52,097 cattle and 40,443 sheep in 1884.

The Toronto Water Works Committee have decided to recommend to the Council, that a by-law be submitted for the issue of debentures to lay a new pipe across the bay, owing to the large increase in the consumption of water in the city. The estimated cost is between $240,000 and $280,000.

The Cologne Gazette says that the policy of Germany for many years towards England has been by no means to check or weaken her power in Europe. On the contrary, Germany has taken a great interest in everywhere strengthening and fostering her power and advancing her position as a great power.

The Toronto Mail says that Sir Charles Tupper has gone into hot water for making a partisan speech in Prince Edward Island. The partisanship consists of the statements that this is a fine country; that Canadians should be proud of it, and that the Canadian Pacific railway is the greatest work of the age. If Sir Charles had praised some other country, the Eastern Reformers would not have been so indignant.

The Home Rule movement is spreading in Scotland. The convention of representatives of Scotch burghs has declared in favor of an extension of representative local government in Scotland, including power to deal with all local measures. The Radical papers of Glasgow, Edinburgh, Dundee and Aberdeen are pronounced in their advocacy of local government. The Radical members are preparing a resolution on the subject for presentation at the next session of Parliament.

The St. John Sun: The Ottawa correspondent is adding to his laurels. He has now formed a Grit Government in Quebec. His ministers are Mercier, Stephens, Archambault, Duhamel, Shehyn, and Gagnon. Of these six only three have been elected. Archambault is a member of the legislative council. Stephens and Duhamel have been defeated and are without seats. Archambault and Duhamel are Conservatives. It is not much of a cabinet, but is as good as can be expected from a Grit Ottawa correspondent, when it is considered that the ministry is made up from a party in opposition.

Prince Edward Island fishermen caught in 1880, 80,000 barrels of mackerel; in 1881, 50,000 barrels, and in 1885, 35,000 barrels. Commenting upon the foregoing the Toronto Mail says: The coast of the Island are the great mackerel fishing grounds. There both Canadian and American fishermen have gathered in the prosecution of their business. It will be noticed that there has been a decline in the catch. This has been because the Americans have worked with such zeal, carrying off far larger catches than the Islanders, and because they have thrown the gurry or offal into the water, thus driving the fish away. The Islanders think that the exclusion of the American fishermen will result in the restoration of the mackerel fisheries to their former proportions, and if they are not mistaken the absence of a treaty will not be an unmixed evil.

At a large meeting of Irish landlords, held in Cork a few days ago, the following resolutions were offered:—

That we emphatically deny and pronounce false the statement made by the separatist press and party that there is any combination between the government and Irish landowners or a combination among landowners themselves to resort to wholesale evictions during the coming winter, and we believe the statements have been promulgated by the men who, for their own ends, are causing violence, outrage and assassination to be used in order to force the tenants to combine to pay no rent or only such rent as the leaders of the national league, after having collected what they require for themselves, shall permit.

That we are in entire agreement and sympathy with the sentiments expressed by the marquis of Hartington and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach as to the desirability of giving the full and complete consideration to the low prices prevailing in 1885 and part of 1886 and while we consider every case should be dealt with fairly on its own merits a course we have always endeavored to follow—and while we desire to court full publicity and are ready and anxious to learn the true particulars in each case, we are not ready to be tried by mob law or by members of secret committees composed of the enemies of England who extort their funds from the tenants and live and thrive by setting class against class in our country.

The resolutions were supported by M. P. and others in able speeches, and passed unanimously.

What Father Fahey Says.

In the course of a recent interview at the Galway, Ire., jail, Father Fahey said:— "The authorities and landlords are going a fair way about goading the people of Woodford to desperate courses. I and other priests and loyal leaders have been doing our best to restrain the people and obtain a peaceful and equitable settlement with the landlords, so as to avoid a winter of horror, but our efforts are frustrated at every step. Here are fifty-six respectable men and women in jail with me, and what is their offence? They resisted to the utmost, but within the absolute limit of legality, the efforts of a thousand police, military and their emissaries to drive them from their holdings on Lord Clanciarde's estate. They had previous offered a reasonable proportion of the rents. They did not resort to violence in defending their homes, yet they were handcuffed on the spot and marched to prison, and await their trial. Moreover, several publicans in Woodford are to be deprived of their licenses for refusing to sell provisions to the police. It is hard for people to keep patient under such proceedings, but the Woodford people are high-spirited, united and organized, and I trust and pray they may carry out successfully their struggle against a system that blights our country, without being driven to break the bonds of order and legality. The landlords are demanding their full rents because they think the higher they keep the rents, the higher will be the purchase figure they look to obtain under the Tory purchase scheme next year. Even those who give reductions refuse to give receipts in full and enter the amount of the reduction as arrears, so that the rent receipts would not be a confession under their own hand of the reduced value of their land."

The Truro Meeting.

The Liberal-Conservative demonstration at Truro on Wednesday was a grand success. The largest hall in the town was packed to its utmost capacity, including many ladies. Ex-governor Sir Adams Archibald presided, this being his first attendance at a political meeting for a great many years. In referring to the events which marked his administration of North-west affairs, he pointed out how Blake in the Ontario legislature had violently opposed his (Sir Adams) efforts in settling affairs with half-breeds in 1879. Hon. A. W. McLellan dealt with the financial question, and said the revenue for the quarter ending September showed a surplus of one million over expenditure. Hon. Mr. White said he had addressed eight meetings in the province and found the people everywhere satisfied with the government's policy, so much so that the opposition had ceased to attack it. Hon. Mr. Foster made a brilliant speech, completely capturing his audience. He vigorously denounced the miserable, despicable Grit policy of running down the country and slandering Canada's public men. Hon. Mr. Thompson exposed in a masterly manner the criminal attempt of Blake, Mercier, etc., to climb into power over the Regina scaffold. It was the most successful political gathering ever held in Truro.

Struck By Lightning.

A Spanish shepherd killed by lightning recently was made the subject of a scientific post mortem to discover how the electric bolt had done its fatal work. His eyebrows and eyelashes were burned off, his eyeballs were dried up, and his left side was scorched and burned in spots down to the ankle, while the right side of the body and right leg were uninjured. Serious as these injuries were, none of them appeared sufficient to have caused his instant death. But as soon as the breast was opened the cause of death was apparent. The lungs were frightfully congested and the heart was enormously dilated and filled with coagulated blood. With all this damage to the man his clothing was very little injured, the only traces of the lightning upon it being a small hole bored through the rim of the hat and a slight singeing of the shirt collar.

European War Talk.

The war talk in Europe is not as loud now as it was a few days ago. Russia, we are told, will not occupy Bulgaria, but will wait and watch events. Peace feeling prevails in capitals where war was in the air not long since. It has not yet been settled who will receive the doubtful honor of the Bulgarian throne. It does not seem to be likely that Prince Alexander will succeed himself, although the Bulgarians want him. The North German Gazette, Prince Bismarck's organ, has a bitter article assailing Alexander as the cause of the present crisis. The Gazette says that Alexander, during his reign, ignored treaties, forgot the Russian origin of his position, and was faithless to his relations and to the Czar's family, and that his return to Bulgaria is impossible. When Germany and Russia agree on this point it may be considered settled.

The German who murdered a neighbor's wife at Palmer's rapids, near Pembroke, Ont., a few days ago, has been arrested and is now being conveyed to Pembroke. His crime was even more atrocious than at first reported. The facts so far as can be obtained are as follows: "He went to the shanty where the murdered woman lived, of which he was landlord, and ordered her to vacate it. Being unwell and alone with two small children she refused to obey the tyrant's unreasonable demand, whereupon he nailed up the door of the shanty from outside and set fire to the premises with the helpless family inside. The mother recognizing the peril of the position, made an attempt to break open the door and rescue her children from the burning building. The fiend, as soon as he saw her outside, pounded her life out with a club and then threw the body back into the burning building."

The London Sportsman contains a letter from Hanlan, in which, after reciting his efforts to get on a match with Beach, he claims, on the latter's retirement, the championship of the world. These are his words: "As Beach declined to row me, and now retires, I claim the title of champion sculler of the world, and am prepared to uphold the title by rowing any man in the world from Putney to Mortlake for a stake of $500 a side. The deposit I left for the purpose of rowing Beach is still lying at the Sportsman office as a proof of my bona fides, and if no one comes forward I claim the title, which I am prepared to defend by rowing in America."

DOINGS OF THE DAY.

Interesting to "The Examiner's" Readers.

A Kentucky merchant recently failed for $25,000, with $32 assets.

A farmer near Albany, N. Y., has raised a potato weighing fifty-five ounces.

The new fall bonnets, they say, will be V shaped. The bills will be XX shaped.

The official estimate of the population of New South Wales on June 30th, was 1,003,867.

It is proposed to erect a memorial church in London in honor of the Queen's jubilee.

Two Americans have been arrested in Opporto for uttering forged Bank of England notes.

John Jacob Astor has given $1,000 toward the rebuilding of St. Michael's Church, Charleston.

Ships coming up the Gulf of Quebec make their appearance in port with their rigging covered with ice.

The fortune of Don Tomas Terry, the Cuban who recently died in Paris, is estimated at $38,000,000.

It is said that a Pawnee chief has seventeen wives. We have no doubt they will keep his wig-warn.

It is stated that Gen. Kaulbars is trying to win over the Bulgarian garrisons to work a revolution in favor of Russia.

A cooper shop at Kalamazoo, Michigan, has a female workman who can make as many barrels a day as any of the male employes.

A panther escaped from the menagerie in Chambéry, France, last week, and killed a policeman and bit several persons before it was captured.

An American paper intimates that Montreal must be very far from the kingdom of heaven, seeing that there are so many sinners going that way now.

A California youth squeezed his girl so tight that he broke two of her ribs, but was comforted when she said: "Go on, Hank, and bust the other twenty-two."

The Indians say, "If a dog howls in the night a stranger will come to-morrow." The saying does not state why the stranger will come, but it is probably to murder the dog.

The 25th anniversary of Emperor William's coronation and 55th anniversary of the birth of the Crown Prince Frederick William, was observed quietly by the Imperial family.

A Western paper recently noted the finding of a "lady's skeleton." A lady's skeleton doubtless differs from a woman's skeleton in that it has a hoop-skirt and bustle attached.

A lady named Augustina Ahumada has died in Santiago, Chili, at the age of 115 years, and at Talca Mrs. Juana Gatica has died, aged 120 years. The latter leaves two sons, one 83 and the other 95 years.

"Mamma," she said, "I don't like the way this bustle sets." "Neither do I," was the prompt reply. "And, besides, your father is swearing about the rat-trap being lost; so you must really take it off."

The present strength of the Salvation Army is estimated at 16,000 privates and 630 officers. That is considerably below the size of the hosts of Satan, but there's nothing like having righteousness on your side.

A young man found a handbag in a carriage at Tuscola, Ill. It contained $25 and belonged to a young woman in Atwood, and when the young man returned it to her she rewarded him by marrying him the next day.

The London Chronicle's Vienna correspondent says that a wealthy and highly esteemed American resident of Paris has placed at the disposal of the Bulgarian government a loan of $2,000,000, without asking the smallest security.

A certain young woman has allowed her mother to do all the housework for the last three weeks. The object has been to finish embroidering a blanket for a pup. Young men in search of a wife should step up lively or this eligible opportunity will soon be numbered among the past.

A citizen of Holyoke, Mass., was drinking at a bar the other day with three companions, when his wife came in, joined the drinkers, and ordered drinks for all hands. It is said that no more effectual way of breaking up a drinking party was ever known in that section.

Mrs. Archie Shaw, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., is likely to make a fortune out of a dustpan that she has patented. It is in appearance like a half pail; the flat side lies on the carpet; it can be easily moved with broom or foot, and when lifted by the bail tips backward a little to prevent the dust falling out.

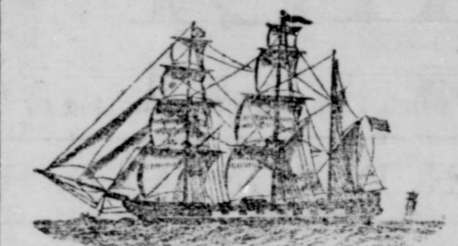

There is said to be one blind person to every 1,400 of the earth's inhabitants. The proportion is least in New Zealand, where one person out of every 3,550 is sightless and greatest in Cairo, Egypt, where every twentieth person is blind. This estimate does not include lovers, nor that other numerous class who won't see.

Peter McGowan, a New York laborer, found that he had forgotten his night key when he got home at 2 o'clock Monday morning, and he climbed over a fence and ascended the fire escape. Just as he was stepping up to the window sill of the top floor his foot slipped and he fell headlong to the yard. He died in Rosevelt hospital.

A child two years old fell into a twenty-foot well at Mount Sterling, Ill., and was drowning in four feet of water. Its mother let herself down by the well rope, got a good grip on her little one's clothing with her teeth, climbed out again aided by the stone curbing and the rope, restored the child to consciousness, and then fainted dead away.

How closely some men approach fame and yet miss it. If Mr. Wiggins had predicted a wind storm in Ontario on October 16, instead of an earthquake in the Southern States on September 25, he would now be the greatest prophet living. But he missed his opportunity, and there are now some people who think he really cannot accurately forecast events.

WHICH IS THE Cheapest and Best Dry Goods House

IN CHARLOTTETOWN?

Is a question frequently asked, and we believe the best solution of the problem is a careful comparison of the goods and the prices charged. In point of genuine value we claim to stand in the front rank, and respectfully invite a fair comparison. We wish also to intimate to our friends that, notwithstanding the effort put forth by our opponents to sell at a discount of 33-1-3 per cent, our sales this month have been larger than ever. This, alone, convinces us that our prices are honest and that we are serving our customers well. We again ask you to look everywhere; but buy nowhere till you inspect
