

MISCELLANEOUS.

Adam inaugurated the fall campaign. Jute and ramie are greatly used in the weaving of silk goods.

Americans who travel abroad are noted for lugging much baggage.

Russian literary men have generally had foreign blood in their veins.

Of the forty five field marshals of Russia since 1700 only two could claim a purely Russian descent.

The young men of Milan wear very large collars, so that they appear to be over head and ears in them.

Oil and water do not agree, which is probably the reason why there is so little water carried in flasks on torch-light processions.

The Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald evidently does not like girls who bang their hair; for it says they are trying to wear chin whiskers on their forehead.

Bread made from whole wheat soaked before being coarsely ground, is used in the French army. Sea water used in the kneading is said to add flavor to the bread.

Cider, dried apples and rhubarb juice are used in the manufacture of champagne in this country. The champagne thus made costs from five to twenty cents a bottle.

The sugar maple trees are just now brilliantly beautiful. One would never dream that they yield the sand and molasses which are annually sold for maple sugar.

Virginians believe that their State in the near future will be filled with factories, and many democrats think that the republican party will give them a protective tariff.

A horned snake is kept as a curiosity by a man at Mansboro', Va. It is about three feet long and has a horn on the end of the tail, about one and half inches in length, a little bent and resembling very much the spur of a rooster. The snake uses the horn as a weapon, and it is said to be very deadly.

"Can you tell me where to buy a white shirt?" asked a gawky fellow of a man at Lexington, Ga. The information was given and the enquirer, who was accompanied by a blushing girl, said to the merchant while buying the shirt, "can you tell me where to get a marriage license?" Of the license clerk he asked, "Who's the best minister to tie the knot?" Thus the couple cautiously proceeded toward matrimony.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said one of the three men who entered Dovey's store at Mercer's Station, Ky., "but you will please hand me the $500 out of the safe," and he politely levelled a revolver. "Sorry to disoblige," Dovey replied, "but there isn't a cent there," and he affably opened the safe for them to see. The robbers made a thorough search and withdrew. Thus it appears that mutual politeness is a good thing in case of burglars entrance. How mortified these malefactors would have felt had they murdered Mr. Dovey and then found the safe empty.

The woman who made up her mind to walk from Omaha to San Francisco arrived at her journey's end a fortnight ago. The tramp occupied three months. When asked why she had done it, she replied: "Oh, I had a husband and two children out here, and I thought I'd come out." "Had you no money?" "Yes, money enough; but I wanted to see if a woman could do it. I was offered rides on the trains a good many times, but I wouldn't take 'em. A freight train passed me yesterday, but I wouldn't go on, though they asked me. I wanted to walk all the way, and I did it."

The petrified body of an Indian squaw has been found at Cascade Lake in Nevada. A fisherman discovered one of the hands protruding from the sand on the beach, and in a short time unearthed a woman in a complete state of petrification. The petrification had a hideous appearance, and the body originally must have belonged to a shriveled, sickly woman. The left breast was well developed, but the arms and legs were not much larger than the bones would have been, and the fingers of the right hand were gone. The petrification weighed nearly two hundred pounds.

Some notable deeds of courage have recently been awarded by the medals of the Royal Humane Society of England. One award was made to a young woman, the Hon. Blanche Colville, who leaped into the sea, in her yachting dress and rescued from drowning a young girl who had already sunk twice. Another was given to Arthur Evans, a lad of only fifteen years, who seeing a man carried out of depth and sinking, swam to the spot, dived three times, and finally brought him by the hair of his head, but at such danger to himself that he fainted while still in the water. The third hero was William Chambers, who descended into a well where two men were asphyxiated, brought up one still alive, and returned and drew out the dead body of the other.

A Fact Worth Knowing.

Are you suffering with Consumption, Coughs, Severe Colds settled on the Breast, Pneumonia, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs? If so, go to your Druggist and get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. This medicine has lately been introduced from Germany, and is selling on its own merits. The people are going wild over its success, and Druggists all over our country are writing us of its wonderful cures among their customers. 2,400,000 samples have been given away free charge. If you wish to try its superior virtue get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Large size bottle 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own household work for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."
