Two Youths Are Sentenced For Service Station Break

Sentences of six and nine months respectively were handed out to James Leslie Winston Clow, Summerside, and Joseph James Gallant, Mont Carmel, when they appeared for sentencing before Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet yesterday.

The two youths had previously pleaded guilty to the charge of break, entry and theft at Peters Service Station, Oyster Bed Bridge last month. A plea for leniency was made by J. Watson MacNaught, Q.C., who appeared for the defence. The Crown was represented by John Nicholson. A fine of $100 and costs was assessed against Sydney Stewart, Wood Islands, on a charge of having care and control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. A similar charge against Reigh Clark Crosby, Bonshaw, resulted in a fine of $75 and costs. Both had the option of a 15-day license, saving possibly $100 more than their residence five accused paid fines of $3 and costs; for driving without due care and attention four motor vehicles were each fined $10 and costs. Another was fined a similar amount for passing on the crest of a grade, while having a vehicle not properly equipped a all times cost a St. Mary's Road resident $5 and costs. Other traffic offences cost one motorist $10 for driving without a license, another $5 for failing to stop before entering a highway intersection, and a third paid $2 for having more than two passengers in the front seat.

Ian A Burnett Leaves Soon To Launch Business In Ont.

Ian A. Burnett is to leave Charlottetown soon for Guelph, Ont., where he is launching a new business, following his recent resignation as publisher and general manager of The Guardian and The Evening Patriot.

Through his entire business life Mr. Burnett has been associated with The Guardian. He succeeded his father, the late J. R. Burnett as publisher, following his death in 1952. The only previous break in his service with The Guardian which ranged through virtually all departments of the newspaper, was during the Second World War, when he served in the navy.

Mr. Burnett is a member of the Charlottetown Rotary Club and an elder of the Kirk of St. James. He is married, with five children and has already acquired a residence in Guelph and plans to be settled there before the opening of school in September.

In the new business he is launching he will be associated with his brother, George M. Burnett. Two more of his brothers, W. R. Burnett and J. E. Burnett, are continuing their association with

was celebrated on Friday morning in the chapel of the Sacred Solemn Requiem High Mass Heart Home for the late Rev. A. L. Herrell. Rev. Dr. L.P. Callaghan was celebrant. Deacon and sub-deacon were Rev. Walter Reid and Rev. Walter McGugan. Rev. Francis Cameron was master of ceremonies. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Dr. Bernard Gillis and Rev. Joseph Trainor. On Friday afternoon his remains were moved from the Sacred Heart Home to St. Ann's Church at Hope River where they were received by Rev. East Dal. Andrew MacDonald. Following the chanting of the Libera the body was placed in state until this morning at 10 o'clock when Pontifical High Mass will be celebrated.

Photographer Visits Island

Here on assignment for the Canadian Government, Travel Bureau, Ottawa, are Photographer Malak and assistant Kenneth Bove. Accompanying them is Edgar Carriere, travel counselor for the federal bureau. They arrived in the City last Wednesday and have been in consultation with P.E.I. Travel Bureau Director A. A. Nicholson. Following conclusion of their assignment here next week they will visit Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. Malak is a brother of Yousuf Karsh.

Alberton Native Home On Visit

Fred Matthews, who has been a guest at the home of his nephew, Herbert Matthews, Alberton, left Thursday morning to spend some time in Amesbury, Mass. Mr. Matthews had not visited his native town for 46 years. Of his immediate family only one sister, Mrs. Fred Clark, now resides here. Mr. Matthews has lived in Western Canada for many years. He plans to come back to Alberton for a couple of weeks before returning west to make his home in Edmonton.

RAILWAY WHARF SWARMS WITH ACTIVITY

The railway wharf yesterday afternoon presented a beehive of activity yesterday afternoon as the "O.K. Service X" unloaded a cargo of cement from Corner Brook, Nfld., and the M.V. Ferguson loaded a general cargo of agricultural products for St. John's Nfld. Coupled with this activity which involved a large number of trucks was the arrival of two American destroyers. Proceeding on schedule is a large warehouse which is replacing the old shed on the west side of the wharf.

All Roads Lead To Ch'town For Old Home Week Events

All Islanders tourists alike will soon be dropping everything and heading for Charlottetown as "Old Home Week" officially gets underway next week. This year the dates of the big fair are August 10 to 15.

The official opening of the 1959 Provincial Exhibition and Old Home Week will take place in the Jones Livestock Arena at 7 p.m. Tuesday evening. This year the show will be opened by Hon. Douglas Harkness, federal minister of agriculture. Also present at the opening ceremonies will be His Hon. Lt. Gov. Walter Hyndman, Premier Matheson, Hon. Eugene Cullen, minister of agriculture and His Worship Edwin C. Johnstone, Mayor of Charlottetown.

Although the exhibition has a full program of horse racing the show still remains in large measure agricultural. Throughout the entire week farmers of the Island will be in competition with each other in the show ring.

The finest dairy and beef cattle, the best of the island's famed hogs, many varieties and types of sheep will parade before the expert judges who will award the ribbons in each class. The cattle entries for this year's judging competitions are so numerous that officials fear there may be difficulty in finding accommodation for the entire classes. The horse and swine entries are also well above the number of past years.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES
As for the women of the province, it cannot be said that they do not take an active interest in the festivities, because one look lain over his face and triggered the capsule that hurtled him from the plane.

NOSE BLEED FREELY
"I felt a violent decomposition, my whole body expanded. It was freezing cold. It had been 75 degrees in the cockpit, outside it was below zero. I couldn't keep my eyes open and my nose was bleeding freely. My hands got numb and one wrist and ankle got frostbitten.

"The chute is set by barometric pressure to open at 10,000 feet. After a fall of about two minutes I felt a sharp jerk. I was in the overcast and couldn't see my parachute, but I tested the riders and knew I was in good shape now."

Then he entered the thunderstorm. "The air currents carried me up and down. There was hail and severe lightning. I was afraid I wouldn't make it. It seemed like an eternity."

After more than a half hour of bobbing up and down — yo-yo like — in the storm, Rankin realized the air was warmer and calmer. Suddenly he broke out of the overcast about 30 feet above the ground, and spotted trees. It was the first time he had seen the ground since he ejected from the plane.

He struck a tree and his helmeted head hit the trunk, but he was not hurt. He disconnected his chute straps "and the next thing I knew I was on the deck."

By his watch, he knew it was 40 minutes since he bailed out. Rankin looked around, decided he had fallen into a logging camp and finally found a road that took him to a paved highway.

"Then was the most frustrating thing of all. Cars kept passing me by. I was on the point of lying down in the road, but I was afraid they might run over me."

"Finally a little boy in one of the cars recognized my flight helmet and his father stopped."

officially denied a French report that the Queen was pregnant. The palace spokesman emphasized that Butler acted in good faith after consulting with Capt. Derek Steele-Perkins, the doctor who travelled with the Queen.

After this week's examination the royal doctors said the Queen had given Steele-Perkins no opportunity to diagnose her condition, preferring to consult her own doctors on her return.

VISITS CANCELLED
Among the engagements cancelled as a result of today's announcement are next week's scheduled tour of the Orkney and Shetland Islands and a visit to Ghana, Sierra Leone, Gambia and Nigeria, which was to have taken place in November.

Ghana's Prime Minister Nkrumah, who heard the news from one of the Queen's private secretaries when he was in Accra last June to discuss the royal tour, has been invited to come to Balmoral next week to discuss a suitable date for rescheduling the visit.

The royal birth will be the first to reigning British Queen since Queen Victoria's youngest daughter, Princess Beatrice, was born in 1857. Both Prince Charles, 10, and Princess Anne, who will be nine Aug. 15, were born before Queen Elizabeth succeeded to the throne in 1952. The children of Queen Mary and Queen Mother Elizabeth were born before either became Queen.

If the child is a boy, he will rank second in line of succession behind Prince Charles and ahead of Princess Anne. A girl would be third. In either case, the Queen's sister, Princess Margaret, drops from third to fourth behind the royal children.

Together with other adult members of the Royal Family, Princess Margaret is expected to be ladies and recharge them during the satellite's lifetime. Scientists say that if the solar generating system works as planned, future space ships may be able to send back radio messages from 50,000,000 mile out.

In the Women's Institute Building in the building are to be found exhibits dear to every woman's heart and appealing to people of all walks of life. This year's exhibits of handicrafts, cooking, sewing and flowers are expected to surpass anything seen in the past.

With Wednesday of Old Home Week being a legal holiday in Charlottetown, practically everyone, particularly the youngsters, will be at the fair to take part in the fun and festivities that are the warp and woof of the big week. Merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, real live ponies and plenty of kewpie dolls, spun sugar and hot dogs and the ever-present pink lemonade. They are all part of the fair.

A popular part of Old Home Week is the midway. It is a mecca for the younger fry and a source of great entertainment for older folk.

BILL LYNCH SHOW
Bill Lynch and his Retinue of entertainers will be arriving by special car ferry and will be bringing the greatest collection of feature shows ever offered in the Maritimes, specialists from leading circuses, latest rides and old favourites should provide a barrel of fun for everyone.

Another popular feature of the big fair is the vaudeville program. This year's program is well balanced and promises to provide a thrilling spectacle for the young and old alike. The entertainment will again be staged in the Jones Livestock Pavilion with eye performance each day at 1 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Among the vaudeville act featured this year will be Lebrac and Bernice, who do just about everything in a balancing way while riding a unicycle; Slickers aside for something they know nothing about.

Hon. J. George MacKay believes the present government has done more than was ever dreamed of by former leaders in the history of the province. After brief reference to rural electrification which lightens the farmer's work and adds to his comfort, he spoke of the highways program which has provided a great service to the public.

Under the present program more than 1,700 miles of road have been paved or widened, subgraded and gravelled. In this province there are 3,200 miles of roads so this means that more than half the roads have been improved, the minister stated. At present there are seven paving plants in the province, he continued. The paving program he said will continue after the election and before these plants move out the people will feel they have been well served. The roads program costs money he admitted but it is an endeavour to help people get commodities to market. Much of the money spent in this way stays in the province, he pointed out, and paving not only improves the roads but builds up the economy of the province.

He added that P.E.I. has the largest mileage of pavement per capita of any province in Canada.

tigate the extent and density of potentially deadly radiation belts around the earth. Others will measure the density of cosmic dust. Also aboard is a television-like scanning instrument built to send back crude pictures of the earth's cloud cover.

One unique feature is an arrangement of four solar vanes, each three feet long, designed to spring out from the side of the satellite. These paddle-like vanes give the explorer its unofficial nickname.

The purpose of the vanes is to convert the sun's rays into electrical energy to power radio batteries and recharge them during the satellite's lifetime. Scientists say that if the solar generating system works as planned, future space ships may be able to send back radio messages from 50,000,000 mile out.

"LIMITATIONS ON PATH TO GOD"

Blind limitations and hereditary prejudices have invariably become the cause of bitterness and hatred and have filled the world with darkness and violence of war. Therefore we must seek the fundamental truth in order to extricate ourselves from such conditions and with illumined faces find the pathway to the Kingdom of God.
