Six "Wives" Of Cultist In Court

MESA, Ariz., Jan. 2 — (AP) — Six women who claim they are wives of a cultist were freed on $500 bond each today when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Jack Hunsaker on charges of adultery and open and notorious cohabitation.

Date for their preliminary hearing was not set.

The purported husband, George Merit Dutton, is sought by police. He is charged with bigamy. Charges against Dutton and the women were made yesterday by Bishop Wendel A. Davis of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon).

The six "Mrs. Duttons" are Hilda, 48; Anna, 38; Sarah, 43; Arline, 48; Hazel, 55; and Laura, 43.

Davis said Dutton and the six women, along with two other women who claimed to be his wives, were excommunicated from the Mormon Church about 12 years ago. Dutton, the Bishop said, is a member of a cult that broke with the Latter Day Saints Church over the question of polygamy.

Leadership Training At Vocational School

Thirty two young men and women from all points of Prince Edward Island registered yesterday at the Vocational School for a four day leadership training course. The theme of the course is "Farming as a Way of Life" and is sponsored by the Provincial Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Department of Education and the Junior Farmers Federation.

The value to young people of a course of this type was stressed by Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College. In a message of welcome to the twenty three boys and nine girls attending.

An explanation of the course was given by Morris Deacon, Fieldman with the Department of Agriculture, at the morning session, which, along with the evening session was mainly devoted to a programme aimed at mixing the group.

A group discussion on a questionnaire concerning farm life with a summary by L. W. Dewar, Secretary of the P.E.I. Federation of Agriculture was held in the afternoon session which also included an interesting round table discussion by three experts on the "Economics of Farming".

Chairman of the group was Mr. R. C. Parent, Supervisor of the Experimental Farm, with members Lawrence Doucette, Rollo Bay, J. G. Dennis, Charlottetown, and Charles Yeo, Sherbrooke. Subjects which were discussed were farm management and farm help, science and the farm and the question as to whether farming is becoming too mechanized as far as this province is concerned. Following the discussion, the members of the panel answered the questions of the assembly.

Instruction on the preparation of a radio programme was given by Mrs. Robert Large. One group was appointed to prepare the material for a programme of seven minutes duration to be broadcast Thursday evening. Singing and singing instruction was given by Walter S. McMurtry.

The lunch on each day of the course are served in the Vocational School kitchen and represent "Good School Lunches". The number of members of the various junior farm clubs attending the course is expected to be increased today with the arrival of some who were unable to attend the opening sessions.

FAMOUS LANDMARK

Three mountainous islands just off the coast of New South Wales, long a mark for mariners, are called "The Brothers."

Christmas And New Year's At The Infirmary

The Provincial Infirmary, blanketed in snow and gayly decorated with Christmas trees, lights and trimmings presented a very cheerful and homelike atmosphere this Yuletide season.

On Tuesday evening, December 19th, the spirit of Christmas was inaugurated by a variety concert sponsored by the Y.P.S.C.E. of Zion Church, consisting of carols, vocal and instrumental music and an inspiring message by Mr. A. A. MacDonald followed by treat of apples and candy. All this was heartily enjoyed and appreciated by the patients and staff.

On Christmas eve the children's stockings were expectantly hung by their bed sides and much to their delight Santa arrived laden with gifts of toys, books, games, candy, fruit and clothing. The joy and excitement of the kiddies as they opened their gifts the following morning would surely recompense old Santa and his co-workers: Beta Sigma Phi, Junior Red Cross Alpha Rebecca Lodge, Rebekah Part Noble Grand's Club, Zion Mission Guild, West Covehead Women's Institute, J.C. Montgomery and Vocational Training School, had they been present to witness the happiness they brought to the children.

On Christmas morning Santa returned to personally greet the patients who had gathered in the recreation hall to await his arrival and in his jovial manner entertained this happy group with accordion selections dancing and singing, then distributed individual gifts and treats of fruit and candy from the heavily laden Christmas tree. Then amid cheers, shouts and laughter, he went joyfully on his northward pilgrimage.

Following Santa's visit the patients were ushered to their dining rooms where they partook of a bountiful turkey dinner efficiently prepared by the kitchen staff. As dinner was being served, the air was rent with beautiful Christmas carols broadcast from Mr. Paul Sharpe's car parked in the driveway. This thoughtful gesture by Mr. Sharpe aided in making a perfect setting for a very happy Christmas day.

On December 30th the regular monthly Mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis Bolger bringing to a close the festivities of 1951.

On New Year's day another delicious turkey dinner and treats of candy, fruit and ice cream were enjoyed by all.

In the above mentioned, to the relatives and friends of the patients, to the staff who worked with a splendid spirit of co-operation in bringing a touch of home and happiness to those under their care and the following organizations and firms who contributed so generously toward the Christmas and New Year festivities, the Matron, Mrs. J. E. Dunning, is deeply grateful and herewith expresses sincere thanks and best wishes for a Happy New Year.

NORTH BAY, Ont. — (CP) — As a result of decline in fur prices this season trappers appear to be taking less beaver, although the animals are plentiful. To the end of the year only 67 beaver were sealed by forestry officials here, compared with 128 in the same period of 1950.

Stalin Takes Slap At U. S. In Message To Japan

By RELMAN MORIN (For J. M. Roberts, Jr., AP News Analyst)

In sending out his new year greetings, Josef Stalin addressed one to the people of Japan, expressing sympathy for their "suffering under occupation."

That means the United States. The United Nations are using Japanese ports, air bases and military installations to conduct the war in Korea. American troops are garrison in Japan.

Stalin would like to see them leave. He is aware that, without foreign forces, Japan would be defenceless. She has no army, navy or air force.

At the same time, Japan potentially is the dominant nation in the Orient. The people have the qualities that make for greatness in a nation. They are intelligent, ingenious and brimming with energy. They produce great leaders. They are brave, disciplined and tenacious; once a Japanese gets his teeth into a project, he never stops working. These people, more than any other, stand squarely across the path of Communist operations in the Far East.

China is gone. India's position, between the Western world and the Communists, is at least ambiguous.

Not long ago, the Soviet Union made some overtures which were, in fact, an offer of cheap raw materials. Japan must import raw products and export the finished article.

The Japanese did not take that piece of Soviet bait.

Stalin's message on New Year's continues the campaign. He wishes the people well, hopes there will be more land for the landless, no unemployment, lower taxes, and higher prices.

And finally, he expresses sympathy for the ordeal of what he calls "occupation" by foreign troops.

No country likes alien soldiers on its soil. However good relations may be at the top, there are inevitable disturbances and frictions at the bottom. So Stalin's gambit is not a bad

Sail 32-Foot Ketch Britain To Australia

HOBART, Tasmania, Jan. 2—(Reuters)—Three Britons who sailed from Britain in a 32-foot ketch arrived today to settle in Tasmania. They travelled 15,000 miles in what the skipper, Eddie Mossop, 36, described as the smallest boat ever to travel from England to Australia by Panama and the Pacific. The trip took 196 days.

one. It may give some Japanese a mental image of him as the kindly, pipe-smoking old philosopher — a kind of Slavic Santa Claus — who has only their best interests at heart.

But there will be other Japanese who are still waiting for a husband, son or brother to return from Soviet prisoner-of-war camps. The Japanese Government has claimed that nearly 300,000 Japanese soldiers who surrendered to the Soviets have never been returned.
