

Tradition, Culture Needed For Canada Says Speaker

SUMMERSIDE — Dressed in the traditional Scottish kilt, guest speaker Dr. Frank MacKinnon, president of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, told a large gathering at the annual Saint Andrew's Day supper here Saturday evening "the Scots take second place to no one on this occasion".

"Why is it Scotland honors tradition? It needs a Canadian queried, 'Because', he said 'it is the past with a meaning for the future'."

Dr. MacKinnon elaborated further on his topic of Scotland by stating how well its tradition is carrying on today.

He spoke of the beauty, fellowship, strength, loyalty and the humble but warm hospitality of the people of that peaceful country. But emphatically he stressed that Canada needs a tradition and culture like the Scottish.

"Canada must develop more tradition and culture," he said. "If we want to know what it feels like to be a Canadian".

He said that Canada "has done well economically and politically by their desert of tradition to younger people".

Entertainment was supplied at the dinner by the Summerside Highland Society Band.

Two Canadians Killed By Mine

GAZA (AP) — Two Canadian soldiers serving with the United Nations Emergency Force here were killed when their car ran over a land mine, United Nations headquarters announced Sunday.

They were Cpl. Paul Reginald Wallace of Nova Scotia and Pte. Andrian Arie Bons of Ontario.

UN headquarters said the two were on the road in a "no man's land" separating the large United Arab Republic borders Friday when their vehicle struck a land mine and was blown up.

A Bedouin, who also was in the vehicle, was killed with the two Canadians.

The Canadians were buried with full military honors at Gaza on Saturday.

A defence department spokesman in Ottawa said several Canadian soldiers have been killed in the Gaza Strip in very similar circumstances since the emergency force was set up in 1956.

He said UNEF troops have removed many mines over the last two years and are believed to have remained undetected because of poor maps and markings and shifting sands.

"That's one of the trickiest jobs in the world," the spokesman said, referring to patrolling and minesweeping in the strip.

Higher Imports Take Edge Off Wheat Sales Benefits

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

Shareholders and agricultural products and equipment have taken some of the bite of last year's special wheat sales as far as helping Canada's balance of payments problems is concerned, the Bank of Montreal says.

In a survey of some of the agricultural industry's bank notes that although Canada's agricultural exports rose by almost $300,000,000 in 1963 compared with 1962, the surplus on trade in those commodities rose only $52,000,000.

Total agricultural exports last year were $1,358,000,000 compared with $1,157,000,000 in 1962 — but during the same period imports rose to $1,090,000,000 from $857,000,000.

This left the surplus on trade at $353,000,000 compared with $300,000,000 in 1962.

The survey says higher sugar prices resulted in an increased bill of almost $70,000,000 for that one commodity. But it added, other influences that cut into the surplus on trade can be traced directly to the wheat sales.

With their higher incomes, farmers have been buying more equipment and as a result imports rose in 1963 by more than $70,000,000.

"Since a high percentage of total Canadian imports come from the agricultural sector, it follows that a part of the higher incomes generated by increased exports in the agricultural sector are almost inevitably spent south of the border," the survey adds.

"In consequence the net effect of the special wheat sales, which has been a result of the United States, was to work in the direction of an increase in our current deficit with that country."

Elsewhere on the business scene, a group of executives met at the University of Toronto Tuesday to look at economic trends and agreed 1965 should be a good year.

They plan to donate the money to the Freedom from Hunger Campaign.

CHURCHILL

(Continued from page 1) as sure as it could be. He loves color to such a degree that he sometimes lets it get out of hand. His work sometimes lacks discipline and he is commended painting at an early age, he turned to the public because of illness and taken up some other profession or occupation.

Then again, it is such an extraordinary gifted individual, so unique, that he might have developed amazingly.

The Royal Academy recognizes Churchill's talent as an artist. The 1964 year old Academy's given him its highest honor, the Royal Academy Academic Award.

For years, Sir Winston's paintings have been appreciated in the academy's annual exhibitions. They command attention from the public because of Sir Winston's unique position as a one-time world leader, an British war machine designer and as one of the world's great philosophers.

The least that can be said about his paintings is that they are beautiful.

Sadly, there will be no new ones. Said a spokesman at Sir Winston's home.

"He gave up painting two years ago, not because he lost interest in it, but because his age and the trouble he has in getting about have expressed."

Already expensive, the paintings of Churchill will some day command a fantastic price, experts say.

Four years ago, one called "Cook Trees at Mimosa" was sold for sale at a charity auction in America and a British man paid $1,250 for it.
