Obituary.

It becomes our sad duty to record this week two deaths in the home of Jas. M. McNutt, Esq., Malpeque; the one a darling daughter, the other his dearly beloved mother.

Few in youth have the moral courage, the spiritual strength to remain placid amid the torturings of lingering disease. Their aching hearts oft pant for the joyousness of youth, the happy freedom of life. In fond remembrance they trace in imagination the scenes of departed brightness; but she, 'the young, the beautiful,' whose death we now record, had early fixed her thoughts upon treasures centered in heaven; and it was the blessed privilege of Mr. and Mrs. McNutt to see their daughter, as disease more surely 'marked her for the tomb,' look calmly and trustfully up in the face of heaven's decrees, and at last cheerfully close her career upon earth,—knowing, as they did, that death for her was but an entrance into bliss. Thus passed away Dec. 31st, 1886, at the early age of twenty, Martha Emily, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. McNutt.

In the same calm and peaceful manner also passed away, on the following day, the grandmother, Mrs. Annabella McNutt, at the advanced age of ninety-four. She was the relict of the late Thomas McNutt, Esq., the daughter of the late Col. Chas. Stewart, Esq., of Ross, in the Isle of Bute, Scotland, and grand daughter of that Lieut.-Colonel Robert Stewart, who was one of the original grantees in the distribution of the Island townships. She was born on the 9th of October, 1792, and nurtured amid the earliest scenes of Island history. Privileged as she thus was to begin her career in the infancy of our Provincial institutions, and permitted to watch their progress for almost a century of years, the fine active powers of her mind became pregnant with the panorama of events through which she was passing. Keen in observation, quick in discriminating between the true and the false, the rich and the tawdry, the deserving and the worthless, and endowed with a most retentive memory, her mind, 'rich with the spoils of time,' became the grand fount of knowledge for her children and all others who were permitted to make her acquaintance. Her happy marriage took place in 1811, and was blessed with no little share of this world's brightness. Twelve children were born to her in the years which followed, eight of whom are still living and in very prosperous circumstances; and, what may almost be recorded as a solitary fact, for a period of almost fifty years, not one death occurred in this large family. But there is now one dear face absent from the family circle,—she who watched over their tender years, guided their growing desires, has just closed her career in honorable death. Pain would we pause to note in detail the christian life of one who was the living witness of some of the greatest events in history; but printer's ink will raise no monument to her memory, so lasting and sincere as will the love and esteem of those who were privileged to know her.

In conclusion, while tendering our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones, may we be permitted to express the hope that the sun of the New Year, which has risen for them in such dark clouds of sorrow, may soon shine in unclouded splendor from the clear, bright dome of Heaven, and continue to shed its benignant rays until it sets in a halo of joy and gladness.—Com.

British Politics.

Referring to the entry of Mr. Goschen into the Salisbury Cabinet, the Times says Mr. Goschen was reluctant to accept office, but was strongly advised to do so by Lord Hartington. It is expected Lord Salisbury will meet Goschen and finally settle with him the terms on which he will enter the Cabinet. Goschen will join the ministry, the Times says, on the understanding that he does so as a Liberal, and that his object is to strengthen the Unionist cause. He desires to be satisfied that it is in agreement with the Government on all important foreign and domestic questions. Mr. Goschen has not been offered the leadership of the Government in the House of Commons, but that will naturally revert to him after the pro tem lead of W. M. Smith. Lord Salisbury has assured Lord Hartington that he is trying, with some hope of success, to overcome the reluctance of the Conservatives to accept Lord Hartington as Prime Minister. Referring to Mr. Chamberlain, the Times says that while that gentleman regards himself as perfectly loyal to Lord Hartington he has undoubtedly made overtures to the Gladstonian party for a reunion.

Mr. Goschen has, it is officially announced, accepted the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer. Lord Hartington fully approves of Goschen's course and the latter's adherents say it is purely as a Liberal-Unionist that Goschen joins the Government which relies upon Unionist support for success.

Goschen, although he will not be the Conservative leader in the House of Commons, obtains control of the appointments. Sir R. A. Cross and Lord Idlesleigh have offered to resign in order to make room for Goschen's nominees. The result will be a general reconstruction of the Cabinet. Goschen has asked Lord Northbrook to become Sir R. A. Cross' successor. He also wants Ritchie in the Cabinet, as he desires the latter's support in the work of re-shaping the local government bill. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Lord Ashbourne have left Dublin for London. They attended the Cabinet Council. Sir Michael still adheres to his determination to remain in his present office. In official circles, it is accepted as settled that in the reconstruction of the cabinet, W. H. Smith will be first Lord of the treasury and leader of the House of Commons, and Lord Salisbury premier and foreign minister. Among Conservative expressions of regret are heard over the prospective retirement of Sir R. A. Cross and Lord Idlesleigh. Before accepting office Goschen closely scrutinized the accounts and estimates of the war and navy departments, in order to ascertain whether or not there were any grounds for Lord Randolph Churchill's charges of maladministration. He found that Lord Randolph had been misled by wrong data, which it is supposed, were supplied through interested treasury officials. Goschen is convinced that Lord Randolph is unable to prove the allegations and that Lord Salisbury was right in refusing to reduce the estimates.

The annual meeting of the Three Rivers Dairyman's Association was held in New Perth School House on Tuesday, the 4th inst. The chair was taken by the President, James D. Dewar, Esq., at 7.30 p. m., and the Secretary was called on for his report for 1886. The report showed that during the past year six meetings had been held under the auspices of the Association; that lectures had been delivered by Charles Palmer, Esq., of Charlottetown, and Rev. Mr. Gillis, of Cardigan; that papers on subjects connected with Agriculture had been read by F. G. Boyer, James D. Dewar, and others; and that a very successful ploughing match had been held, at which $29 in prizes had been distributed. Attention was called to the importance of supporting such an organization, and instances given of the usefulness of Farmers' Associations. During the year an enquiry had been received from a Farmer's Club in Cape Breton, respecting the purchase of seed grain and grass seeds, and the desirability of stimulating a trade of this kind pointed out. The report was well received and unanimously approved.

On motion, the following officers were appointed for 1887:—

President—George F. Owen, Esq., Cardigan.

Vice-President—John McLean, Esq., 18 Mile Brook.

Secretary—John Hamilton, Esq., New Perth.

Treasurer—Wm. Kaneen, New Perth.

Executive Committee—Wm. McLaren, New Perth; Daniel Stewart, 18 Mile Brook; David Shaw, Brudenell; Mr. Moar, Baldwin's Road; J. Parker, Cardigan.

The thanks of the Association were tendered to James D. Dewar, Esq., the retiring President, who acknowledged the compliment in fitting terms, and promised to read an essay on "How to obtain enjoyment and success in Farm Life" at the next monthly meeting, which will be held in New Perth School House on Tuesday next, the 11th inst.

Papers were also promised by Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Kaneen, and the ladies were especially invited to attend.

Eldon Notes.

We are also sorry to learn of the intended departure of Rev. A. S. Stewart, the pastor of St. John's Presbyterian Church in this place, and hope that his labors, wherever cast, may be blessed, and that he may have souls for his hire.

Temperance has taken a strong hold of the people of Belfast. There is now there; n1 a half years since the movement began here, and it is steadily increasing. For proof we need only look at our lodge, which we find in better working order than ever.

Rev. William Bluet, who has been holding some evangelistic meetings here, has taken his departure. While Mr. Bluet was here he made many friends for himself, and we pray that the seed sown may take root and spring up, bearing fruit to the honor of God. On behalf of the community, I tender him the good wishes of all.

Christmas and New Year's passed of quietly, thanks to the temperance spirit which has been aroused in the community. I am happy to state that the Scott Act is rigidly enforced here. No liquor den being within a radius of 10 miles. On New Year's Eve the members of Bethel Lodge I. O. G. T. gave an entertainment, where the youth and beauty of the country assembled and had a good social time. The company broke up at about 12.30, when all exchanged New Year's greetings, and went home well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

On Dec. 31st a number of parents, visitors and school officers assembled at the school house, and there witnessed the semi-annual examination of the pupils. We are happy to hear that they still have a high standing. The primary department, under the efficient management of Miss Wisener, being in an excellent condition. The advanced department, if anything, surpassed its former high standing, all this being due to the tact and energy of our talented teacher, Miss Hunter.

By all accounts the people are well satisfied with the Liberal-Conservative candidates chosen to represent the county at the next Dominion election. The tact, ability, and parliamentary fitness of Messrs. Ferguson and Campbell cannot be doubted, and I have no doubt that the people of Queen's County will sustain their former repute for good judgment by electing them with a sweeping majority.

Mr. Editor, you could have laughed, indeed, had you seen the looks of consternation and political anguish exchanged by certain Grits down here, on the arrival of the news that Messrs. Sullivan and Ferguson had received something nigh to a half a million dollars. One notable Grit asked a Conservative wit (and there are lots of them) what consideration did they get this money on? The reply came that it was a New Year's gift. The Grit went his way, and said they were a very popular government anyway, and next time he would vote for them. BELFASTER.
