Fire Damages Building At Summerside

Damage estimated at $1,000 was caused to a two-storey wooden building housing the sample rooms of the Queen Hotel, Summerside yesterday morning just before noon. The building is located directly across Queen Street from the Hotel.

The fire started in the ceiling of the ground floor from an overheated stove pipe. A commercial traveller was just opening his samples to show a customer when he noticed the fire above his head. He quickly packed up his things and got them outside. Firemen fought the blaze about a half hour before it was extinguished. It spread to the upper part of the building and broke out at the south end.

About ten o'clock Wednesday evening a small wooden pump house was partially destroyed at Glover's Lane just east of Town. A call was put in for Summerside firemen and although no alarm was sounded several members of the department took out the chemical truck and extinguished it. It is understood that it was caused by an exploding oil burner.—S definite lull during the next week but that growers should not panic or press movements in this period. This lull will be created by the imminent filling of the seed quota in the U.S. A.

DISCUSSED POTATO

One of the most important points discussed at the Horticultural Council meeting was that of upgrading seed potato standards with a view to eliminating Foundation A grade and stepping up the standard of certified near that of the present Foundation A, he stated.

This point caused considerable argument with representatives of some provinces claiming that such a high standard would put them out of business.

Mr. Reid also stated that a resolution was submitted from one of the Central Provinces asking that the tablestock grading dimensions be stepped up from two to two and a third inches minimum.

Mr. Reid objected to this change as it would greatly interfere with the grading of small seed. The upgrading of size would mean that a quantity of too large size small seed would be placed on the market. It would be wasteful and costly to Island farmers, he stated.

Discuss Grading Test

Another important matter in the potato industry that came in for a lot of discussion was the use of hydrometer tests in inspection.

He stated that perhaps the most significant trend in potato grading is the tendency to grade according to the content of the potato rather than merely on the outward appearance.

The hydrometer test is being used in some parts of Canada. By its use it is possible to determine the quality of the potatoes in each load taken to the car or boat.

The Council recommended that the hydrometer test be used in every province in the Dominion, stated Mr. Reid.

Potatoes can not rightly be classified according to varieties as they differ in eating qualities in different zones, stated Mr. Reid.. For example he pointed out that dry mealy Sebagoes might be grown in one section while wet, soggy ones were produced in other areas.

South), a veteran of the First World War, said there can be no conscription until there is a national registration of manpower. At present Canada had neither the manpower nor the equipment necessary for a program of compulsory training.

H. H. W. Beyerstein (SC—Camrose) called for support of his party's motion and said that statements by Cabinet Ministers left little doubt about the urgent need for preparedness.

J. W. G. Hunter (L—Toronto Parkdale), a wartime lieutenant-Colonel who commanded a reserve army unit for two years after the war, said war has become such a complex business that any real military training must be full-time training.

Regent's Report

Following is the Regent's report of the Royal Edward Chapter of the I.O.D.E., as read by Mrs. Lawson at the meeting:

Honourable Vice-President,
Fellow Officers and Members:

"I am glad of this opportunity, as your Regent for the year just ended, to say a few words on the work of the Order in general and to compliment you as a Chapter on the excellent work accomplished in the past twelve months. You have every reason to be proud of your contribution to the general work of the Order, not only to the projects directed by the National Executive but also to the community in which you live.

"Your subscriptions to National Funds; shipments of clothing and comforts to those in need in Britain and the Continent; your encouragement and financial aid to pupils in City and rural schools and to more advanced students in Academic and Business Colleges; your interest and work with the Veterans' in our hospital and the new Canadians in our Province; your support of the Free Dispensary and co-operation with the Children's Art Centre should reward you with a sense of satisfaction. However, let us not rest on our laurels, so to speak, but let us as a Chapter, make an even larger place for ourselves in our community and as individuals, spare no effort to promote every project for the betterment of conditions in our City, our Province, our Nation and the World.

"The ideals of the Founder of our Order—Patriotism, Community Service and Personal Dedication still animate the work of the I.O.D.E. and attract to its membership outstanding Canadian women from coast to coast. Let me quote from an inspiring address delivered by the Prime Minister of Canada when he spoke to the delegates at our National annual meeting in Montreal last May:

"'Just as the British Empire of 1900 has been transformed into a Commonwealth of free and equal nations in 1950 without losing anything of its beneficent character for the World, so the I.O.D.E. in the same fifty years, while striving always to preserve all that is best in British tradition in Canada has grasped the great truth that the strength of the Commonwealth depends on the great strength of its members and the Order has worked hard and well for a greater and better Canada and a growing pride by Canadians—regardless of origin—in their common citizenship.'

"To be so recognized as an organization by our Prime Minister must surely fill us with pride for what has been accomplished and spur us on to be of even greater service in the difficult and uncertain days ahead.

"I wish to thank you all for the friendly co-operation I have enjoyed throughout my tenure of office, both with my Fellow Officers and the members of the Chapter generally. I consider the opportunity I have had as your Regent, to become better acquainted with you all and with the work of the Order, well worth the time and energy I have put into it. My attendance at the National annual meeting in May last, made possible by your generosity, opened my eyes to the immensity of the work done by the Order throughout our Nation and Commonwealth and was an education in itself. I only wish it were possible for more of you to attend these gatherings.

"I hope you will give your undivided attention to the various reports as they will now be presented to you. Your conveners have done a good job in preparing them and the members of the different committees have worked faithfully and cheerfully to make such reports possible."

Britain Concerned Over Bases In Middle East

LONDON, Feb. 15 — (AP) — Informed sources said today that Britain, increasingly concerned over Middle East defence, may ask the United States to join her in seeking a military base in Israel.

British military planners are pictured as anxious to knit together the policies and the land, sea and air strength of Britain, France and the United States in the Middle East.

Meanwhile, under pressure from Egypt to get out of the biggest Middle East British land base in the Suez Canal Zone, Britain is continuing discussions with the Egyptians in hopes of staying there. The British are in the Canal Zone under a treaty which expires in 1956, but Egypt has been insisting on revision of the treaty and evacuation of British troops. There have been hints that Britain is trying to settle for a lease agreement and a mutual defence pact.

Settlement of the future of the Suez base is regarded as one of the keys to Middle East defence planning. Israel, next door to Suez, is strategically situated.

Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, commander-in-chief of British Middle East land forces, is going to Israel Monday for talks with Israeli leaders.

Secret talks also are reported under way between American and British military planners in Washington. Among the matters discussed, it is reported, is joint use of Middle East bases. The idea behind this is said to be to make British Middle East bases capable of handling the U. S. B-36 bomber and the new British and American jet fighters and bombers.

Sees Three Bulwarks Against Communism

QUEBEC, Feb. 15 — (CP) —Ambassador Stanley Woodward of the United States said tonight the old prescript "Put your faith in the Lord and keep your powder dry" is a valid one and free nations of the world might well consider it.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Quebec Chamber of Commerce, the U. S. Ambassador to Canada said Russia last June changed its tactics in its fight of world conquest from "subversion to aggression." Such was the case of today's happenings in Korea.

"Why?" he asked. "Most probably the Russian Communists realized that their plans to undermine the free nations from within were doomed to failure."

The Ambassador said the democratic countries had three bulwarks on which to rely in their struggle against Communist aggression: 1. The United Nations; 2. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization; 3. "Faith in God and our fellow man."

"There is a vitality in our moral strength. Throughout the pages of history we can see that men who have been guided by principles of high purpose, survive."

From its earliest days, Mr. Woodward said, the United States has owed a great debt to Quebec. The contributions made by voyageurs and explorers like Marquette, Joliet and La Salle is a debt "not easy to repay."

Some 2,000,000 French Canadians in the New England States "have made a priceless contribution" to the United States.

More, there is a "vast trade between this Province and my country. From your forests we get paper. From your underground wealth comes the copper, the asbestos and the titanium without which our industry could not operate .... perhaps foremost among these in our minds today is the untapped iron ore of Ungava."

In an interview, the Ambassador said "a new urgency" in making available to the midwest U. S. steel industries the iron ore available in Ungava convinced him that "the likelihood of approval by the United States of the St. Lawrence seaway project and power development is much better than in the last 15 years."
