Fairy Fort Causes Delay In Shannon Airport Extension

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP)—The fairies of Ireland are amiable people, as is well known, but not when they get their Irish up. And since that is where their Irish is right now, goodness knows what's to be done about extending Shannon's international airport runway in the Irish Republic. Ambrose McInerney, who has the contract to do a bit of earth moving for the extension, told about his troubles Saturday. The Irish government sent him orders not to disturb the fairy fort on top of Trade's Hill. Trouble is, the fairies have their fort where the airport people want to extend the runway.

Fraser River Fishermen Have Problem

VICTORIA (CP) — Homer Stevens, business agent of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, says B.C. has lost more than $2,000,000 since September because Federal Fisheries Minister J. Angus Maclean refused to do anything "about the salmon glut in the Fraser River." Mr. Stevens in a telephone interview Saturday, said B.C. fishermen have dumped so many "thousands upon thousands of good salmon that the river bed must be deep in dead fish." And too many salmon were reaching the spawning grounds, causing much of the spawn to rot and pose a threat to next year's salmon haul. "The glut" of salmon follows the Sept. 18 decision of the B.C. Fisheries Association not to buy any late run sockeye after the end of the month. Association officials said there was no market for the rest of the run, which they described of "inferior grade." The fishermen denied the fish were not the top quality. "But the canners won't take the fish," Mr. Stevens said, "so we have to dump it."

Report Crash Of Soviet Jetliner

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Sixty-five passengers were killed in the Soviet TU-104 jetliner which crashed in Russia Friday, the New China News Agency reported Sunday night. This was the first known crash of a TU-104, which is powered by two turbojets. Moscow Radio announced the accident Saturday night but did not disclose the number of casualties. Sixteen dead were Chinese, including leading members of a Chinese cultural delegation to Afghanistan and the United Arab Republic. The other 49 were described as "foreign friends who had visited China on invitation and foreign experts on their way home from China." An undisclosed number of crew members also died in the disaster which occurred 400 miles east of Moscow in the Kanash Region of the Chuvash autonomous Soviet republic. The sleek airliner was en route from Peiping to Moscow. Four West Germans and one British subject were reported among the dead. There were no survivors. The New China News Agency did not name any of the foreign casualties but said the Chinese passengers included Cheng Chen-to, head of the cultural delegation and staff members of the ministry of foreign trade and the foreign ministry. SEATS 50 The TU-104 seats 50 passengers in its de luxe version or 70 to 80 in its tourist version and has a crew of 10. Moscow Radio said a government inquiry commission has left for the crash scene. It was set up under the chairmanship of the minister of aircraft production, Mikhail Kirumichev, and included Marshal Pavel Zhigarev, head of Aeroflot, the Soviet civil airline. The TU-104 is the standard plane used on the main international routes of Aeroflot. Its maximum speed is about 560 miles an hour and it has a cruising speed of 497 miles an hour. Its range is 2,000 miles. The most serious recent Russian air crash was when an Ilyushin 14 crashed into Copenhagen harbor in August, 1957 and 23 persons were killed.

Four Women Take Place In House Of Lords This Week

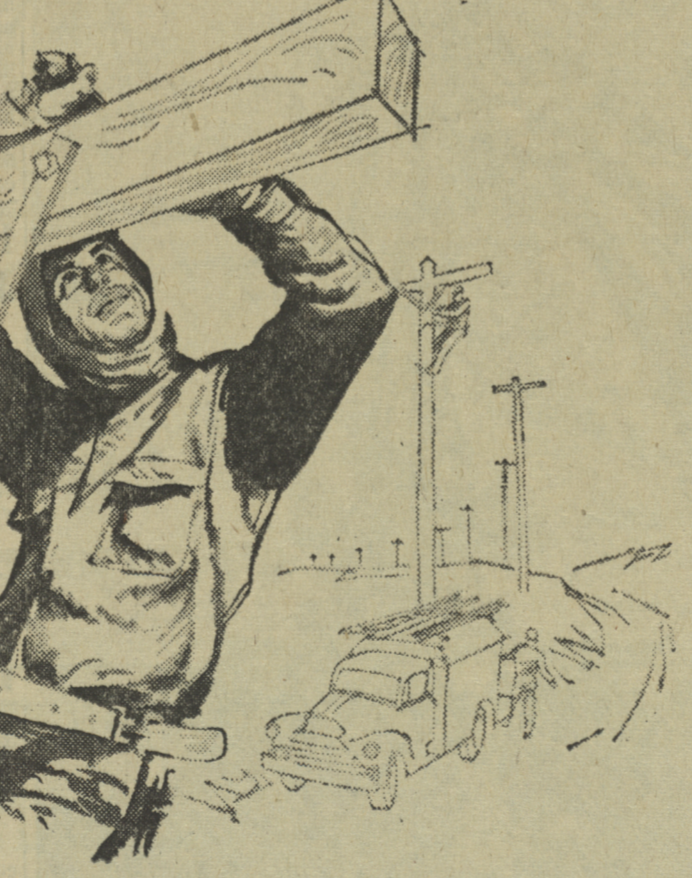

By FRASER WIGHTON LONDON (Reuters) — For the first time in British history, women this week will take their place in the House of Lords with the right to sit and vote on an equal footing with men. Four women are among 14 "life" peers recently created by Queen Elizabeth for the Upper House, on the government's recommendation, as an aspect of constitutional reform. There was bitter resentment of their invasion of the second chamber—one of the few remaining male strongholds of the nation—from some of the 800 nobles who sit by hereditary right as peers of the United Kingdom. The four life peeresses and the 10 life peers will attend special swearing-in sessions Tuesday and Wednesday so they can be present at the state opening of Parliament's new session a week later. ALL WELL-KNOWN All four women are well-known public figures, chosen for their record of services to the community. The youngest, Dame Katharine Elliot, 55, is the widow of a Conservative elder statesman. She was also chairman of the Conservative party's local organization.

WHEN IT'S AN Exide YOU START THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

"My Life Insurance man did a grand job for me, Ed"

All talk over the back fence isn't about sport, or politics, or television programs. Very often it's about such vital things as looking after the family and having enough money to retire on. Your life insurance man is well equipped to solve these problems. He is trained to analyse all the facts about a family's future requirements. He serves Canadian families by offering practical plans to meet individual needs. Life Insurance representatives have exceptional training opportunities today. Their own companies provide them with basic courses covering a wide variety of subjects. Through the Life Underwriters Association of Canada they have access to the experience of many able men who have helped to make Canadians the world's best-insured people. This Association has a 2-year training program for its members. And, in addition, for those who desire to pursue more advanced studies, there is a 3-year university extension course leading to the Association's designation of Chartered Life Underwriter (C.L.U.) This thorough training plus practical experience in helping people explains why millions of Canadians welcome the services of the modern Life Underwriter.
