"Evening Of Music" Again Delights Island Audience

"An Evening of Music as presented last evening at the Charlottetown Hotel under the direction of Mrs. Rena Johnstone and Sponsored by the University Women's Club of Charlottetown was a magnificent prelude to the festival of Christmas Music.

The programme was in two parts, the first belonging primarily to the children, who gave the story of "Silent Night" in Choral form for treble voices, using traditionally Austrian, German, and Sevics Carols and songs.

The children were dressed in the costumes of these countries whose music they sang so beautifully. Peter Murchison, as narrator, had a lovely quality in his work and immediately established the absolutely right atmosphere. There were twelve numbers in part 1 for young children the standard was exceptionally high. The last two numbers "Let our Gladness Know No End" was florid in style as contrasted with "Silent Night" sustained style. The transition from the one to the other was an artistic triumph for people so young.

After part 2 which had such popular numbers as Christmas Cookie, The Bells and The Echo Carol, all ended by joyously dancing around the Christmas Tree.

The singers were: Margaret Balderston, Lynda Drake, Sandra Kennedy, Jeanie Jenkins, Sylvia Philips, Lynne Rodd, Paul Kennedy, Heather Jenkins, Marilyn Drake and Glen MacEachern.

The two order players were: Judith Allen, Lynne Rodd and Roger Balderston. Mrs. Johnstone accompanied the group on the spinet, which she has recently imported from Germany.

The performers in part two were singers: Miss Helen Wilson, Mrs. Helen MacRae, Mrs. Shirley Beck and Mrs. Jean Parker. The pianists were Mrs. Jean Parker and Mrs. Helen MacRae. The narrator was Miss Lena McLure

Again Mrs. Johnstone's high standard was evident. The singing of the divinely beautiful words, "O, Jesu So Sweet, O, Jesu So Mild", was a standard rarely attained by amateurs. It was indeed almost flawless.

Again the piano duets of Mrs. Parker and Mrs. MacRae were finished performances.

The stage setting for the evening was arranged by Mrs. Johnson and that was a tableau long to be remembered.

The following is the programme:

PART ONE

1. Carol of the Children of Bethlehem.. 2. The Christmas Cookies. 3. The Bells. 4 Echo Carol. 5. We are three kings of Orient. 6. The darkness is falling. 7. O Christmas Tree. 8. Who's knocking there? 9. Shepherds Up! 10 The Christmas Nightingale. 11. Let our gladness know no end. 12. Silent Night.

PART TWO

1. Sheep May Safely Graze-Duet by Bach- By Mrs. Parker and Mrs. MacRae.
2. Noel Sing Good News! French Carol.
3. O, Jesu So Sweet—German Chorale harmonized by Bach.
4. When the Saviour Christ was born—Polish Carol.
5. Piano Duets: Fantisia or Ensleeves —Hungarian Dance No. 6 By Brahms by Mrs. Parker and Mrs. MacRae.
6. Sweet Was the Song the Angels Sang—Xmas Ballet. 17 century.
7. Praise the Father—William Byrd.
8. Break Fourth O Beauteous Heavenly Light— Bach (From the Christmas Oratorio)

meeting. She sent her own message of sympathy and that of Judge J. Sylvere DesRoches, Montague and W. R. Shaw who are also attending the meeting there.

There were a large number of personal message. They include his son and daughter-in-law, Kr. and Mrs. Joseph MacMillan, Goose Airport, Labrador; Sister Paul of the Cross, Moncton; Dr. Tom Acker, Halifax who has been prominent for many years in crippled children's work, another field to public service to which Mr. MacMillan gave so much of his time and energy; Mayor D. A. MacDonald, Moncton; Clarence Morrissey, former M.L.A. and Mrs. Morrissey, Tignish; Mrs. J. Walter Jones, who is now in London, Ontario; Dr. J. A. Melanson and Mrs. Melanson, Fredericton, N.B.; Captain J. W. Dowling and Mrs. Dowling, New York.

HON. A. E. ARSENAULT

The following tribute has been received from Hon. A. E. Arsenault, retired Justice of the Supreme Court and a former Premier of the Province:

"There have been so many encomiums expressed by leading men in all professions on the untimely death of Doctor W. J. P. MacMillan that there is little left that I can say.

"Doctor MacMillan was my physician and friend for many years and to him I owe much. He was particularly active in Red Cross work and children's work and was a mainstay in the success achieved in both of these activities. In these and other public duties he wore himself out.

"He was a man the like of whom we shall rarely see, and his passing has left a great void. He has gone to a better li e."

MR. J. F. ARNETT

The following tribute:- from Mr. J. F. Arnett, Summerside, Canadian Red Cross Society.

It was with deep sorrow I learned of the passing of the Hon. J. W. P. MacMillan, O. B. E. I visited him in his office a short time ago when he appeared to be in his usual good health and discussed his great interest in the Canadian Red Cross Society which he had served for many years.

"His passing is all the more regretted as he was recently appointed Governor for the Province, the highest position the Crown can bestow on a citizen.

"Having served for many years with the late Dr. McMillan as a representative of the Canadian Red Cross Society and been associated with him in politics, I learned to regard him as a Christian Gentleman and great public servant. His contribution to the many fields of public service at great personal sacrifice will long be remembered by the citizens of this Province. "To his sorrowing wife and family I extend my sincere sympathy."

Mrs. Wright welcomed the visitors and expressed her thanks for their kindness and interest in the work of the institution.

Helped Wife To Commit Suicide

QUINCY, Mass. (AP)—A 28-year-old father was booked on a murder charge Sunday night after telling police he helped his pretty wife commit suicide.

Brunette Grace Persampieri, 24, died in hospital about eight hours after the weapon went off in the family's flat. Three children were asleep in an upstairs bedroom at the time.

Police said the husband, Ilario, made this statement explaining his part in the shooting:

The couple had a long discussion about a divorce he wanted. The wife said if he went through with it she would commit suicide.

"You're chicken," the husband taunted her. With that the wife went into the kitchen, seized a .22-calibre rifle and brought it into the living room.

She didn't know how to load it, so the husband put in a cartridge and showed her the safety catch was off. But then the wife, aiming at her head, found she could not reach the trigger, so the husband showed her how to take off a shoe and depress the trigger with a toe.

"Then there was an explosion," the husband recounted. He said he ran to a neighbor's and called for an ambulance.

Trade Mission Divides Up

LONDON (CP) — The 50-man Canadian trade mission split into small specialty groups Sunday and scattered over England.

For the next few days these groups will confer with industries which could supply goods to the members' own firms, such as consumer goods, light and heavy machinery, transportation equipment and other items.

In some cases the groups will be inspecting plants which had not been visited during the 11-day, 1,200-mile tour which concluded Saturday.

In other cases, members may enter into negotiations on the supply of products or obtain information on prices and delivery dates to send back to their firms in Canada.

All members will return later in the week to hold talks with representatives of some 1,400 British firms who are anxious to get information on the Canadian market for their products.

Tells Rotarians Of Visit To United Nations Commission

MISS YEO

Miss Helen Yeo, B.Ed., M.A., a member of the staff of Prince of Wales College, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club, held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

Introduced by chairman George Greenough and thanked by co-chairman Sr. Capt. John Carter, Miss Yeo gave a graphic and comprehensive review of her attendance at the United Nations in New York where she represented the Associated Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Canada.

As a member of a five-member delegation, representing various organizations, Miss Yeo was privileged to sit in on the meetings of the Commission on the Status of Women, established in 1946 as a functional commission of the Economic and Social Council.

"Political rights of women has been given high priority on the Commission's agenda with the result that today there are only 12 countries where women do not have political rights with men," Miss Yeo said. "Now the need is for political education, and for the stimulation of women's interests and responsibilities in civic affairs. It was of significance to note the status of the women holding seats on the Commission. Many of them held cabinet posts in their own countries."

Resolutions were passed recommending to the Secretary General an International Seminar of women in civic responsibilities and increased participation of women in public life. Background documents prepared by UNESCO indicated that in the less developed countries the struggle is to give girls and boys, women and men a primary education. It was noted that in many countries there is a high proportion of women teachers at the primary level but a comparatively low proportion at the upper levels.

It was pointed out that the ILO Convention on Equal Pay has to date been ratified in 19 countries and there are prospects of ratification by other countries.

"There was a difference of opinion on the justice of the lower pensionable age of women. The western countries being strongly opposed to this discrimination. Communists were strongly in favour of difference in pensionable age," Miss Yeo said.

Vocational guidance and vocational training was also dealt with, stress being placed on the importance of examining the whole field of professional and technical occupations to ascertain the full panorama or women's professional interests and opportunities.

A period of silence was observed out of respect to the memory of past president Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan and the club members were asked to assemble at St. Dunstan's Basilica at 9 a. m. Tuesday to attend the funeral.

Guests of Rotary were T. J. Coley, Halifax, Dr. Keith Armstrong, Toronto and Councillor Gerald Foster, City, G. W. Colorisi, Moncton, was a visiting Rotarian.

Girl Guide Film Premiere Here Enjoyed By Audience

It was premiere time across Canada last night for "Guides, All Guides," a film featuring the World Guide Camp held last summer at Doe Lake in northern Ontario as part of the 100th anniversary celebrations of the birth of the founder of Scouting and Guiding, Lord Badeg-Powell, and attended by Guides and Guiders of 37 countries.

This province's premiere was held at Prince of Wales College under the auspices of the P.E.I. Council Girl Guides Association. Mrs. Harry Cudmore, Provincial Commissioner, welcomed the guests and introduced Sea Ranger Suzanne Shaw, one of the representatives from this Province at the camp, who commented upon slides shown of the camp. These were followed by the film itself, audience and in closing the program Mrs. Cudmore pointed out how clearly it illustrated the message brought by Dame Leslie Whateley, Director of the World Bureau of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts who visited here recently, when she said that Guiding could be a major factor in creating world peace.

Following the film, refreshments were served in the college library, when Mrs. A.G. Macmillan poured coffee and the First Charlottetown Sea Ranger Crew assisted in serving.

Arrangements for the evening were under the direction of the Provincial Council's Special Events Committee, Miss Lillian Duchemin, Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Mrs. H.R. Hennessey.

Calls Service By M. V. Bevin Canada's Worst

OTTAWA (CP) — The worst transportation service in Canada?

Without a doubt, said C. W. Carter (L—Burin - Burgeo) Monday night in the Commons, it is the CNR's motor vessel Burin which carries passengers and mail around Newfoundland's Placentia Bay.

Mr. Carter described the Burin as "this cattle boat" and "this old tub."

He said he doubts there is any other service in the civilized world which subjects its passengers to such "human degradation."

The hardships which the passengers underwent were indescribable.

There was lifesaving equipment on the Burin for only 34 passengers and crew members. When the number of passengers and crew exceeded 34, would-be passengers had to be left behind.

The boat had only eight beds and eight bunks. The overnight passengers who could not be accommodated in beds had to sit crouched on narrow benches or stand or sit on the deck outside.

Mr. Carter said he has seen passengers standing on deck all night in the rain.

"One man had to wash his child's face with a handkerchief dipped in salt water."

"DISGRACE TO CNR"

The Burin was a "disgrace to the CNR, to the government and to Canada."

It was not unusual for the crew to give up their bunks to women and children and the captain often went without sleep for 48 hours.

Mr. Carter said he has protested the service for eight years to no avail. His conditions deserved something "more in keeping with human dignity."

No Deaths Safe Driving Week

No fatalities marred the successful passage of Safe Driving Week in this Province according to a report issued yesterday by Mr. J. A. Gallant, Motor Vehicle Registar during the same period last year two fatalities occurred. Five persons suffered varying highway accident injuries coinciding with the same number last year.
