

May Unveil
Tax Change
Plans This Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming dropped a hint in the Commons Tuesday that he may unveil the government's tax change plans later this week.

Mr. Fleming, who plans no formal budget this session said in a day or two "I propose to deal with all subjects relating to the government's financial policy so far as they arise this session."

He did not specify whether this in fact will include tax changes. And despite questioning by Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, he declined to say how the government plans to proceed with the "one rate" tax measures which Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday will be presented this session.

He said Mr. Knowles and the Commons "will have a full and complete answer" when Finance department estimates of expenditures comes before the House for review.

Earlier, Mr. Fleming strongly denied there was a "leak" from the cabinet to the press about a possible cut in the excise tax on automobiles.

PREDICTED TAX CUT
Last week press reports said the government would cut the tax to five per cent from 10. In a CBC commentary broadcast earlier Tuesday, John P. Maclean, Ottawa correspondent of the Financial Post, said "it is thought there has been a cabinet leak."

Mr. Fleming described last week's press reports as "purely and simply newspaper speculation."

Mother, Two Sons Die In Home Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—A mother and two of her five sons died Tuesday when fire destroyed their home in a wood and tarpaper duplex house in suburban Marksville.

The deaths brought to 24 the number of persons who have lost their lives in fires in Quebec province since Oct. 1.

The father, Dan Turley, gathered three other children and led them to the street in their pyjamas in near-zero temperatures. Victims were Mrs. Turley, 28, Russell, 4, and Kevin, five months. Mr. Turley rescued Daniel, 10, Robert, 8, and Michael, 5. The Turley home was burned to the foundations. The other half of the single-storey building, containing the apartment of L. Vincent, was heavily damaged.

Trade Minister
Will Report

EDMONTON (CP)—Canadian Trade Minister Churchill will fly to Ottawa Monday night, to report to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Parliament on the progress of his trade mission.

He also may pilot his departmental estimates through the Commons.

Churchill, who has been with the mission since it arrived in Britain Nov. 22, plans to rejoin his colleagues here Dec. 9 and remain with them until they return to Canada Dec. 18.
