ANCIENT MAP OF MARITIMES IS UNEARTHED

Browsing in an old book shop in Boston, William Peters, of Cambridge, Mass., discovered an ancient map of "Nova Scotia and Acadia with the Islands of Cape Breton and St. John's". Drawn by Capt. John Montressor, engineer, in 1768, it was made for the Marquis of Granby "Field Marshal and Commander in Chief of all His Majesty's Forces." P.E.I. shown at the top of the map are Charles Hamm, Charlottetown, Mr. Peters and Nicholas Easton, Georgetown, examining the detail below.

Prospects Loom Good For Tobacco Harvest

A number of P.E.I. tobacco growers started this week to harvest a good crop. Harvesting operations will become general in a few days time, it was suggested yesterday by David Peacock, provincial department of agriculture fieldman.

First growers to start taking off leaves were Albert Pauley, Ocean View; and Don Nicholson, Upper Montague. They began on Monday of this week.

Since then harvesting has been started at the farms of several other growers including John McCabe, Iona Douglas Rolseon, Ocean View and Marcel Moyaert, Upper Montague.

A report from Alberton this morning indicated that Leigh O'Brien will begin harvesting his tobacco in a day or so.

REALLY GOOD

Mr. Peacock said that with few exceptions the tobacco crop is really good this year. This follows a disappointing year in 1962 when continuous wet weather that persisted through the harvesting period reduced yields and cut grades so seriously that acres under production, Mr. Peacock said, the average price was far below what it was in 1961 when the crop was grown commercially on private farms for the first time.

A great deal depends now on the weather through the harvesting period, but if it is favorable the returns should be good this year, Mr. Peacock said this morning.

There are 22 tobacco growers this year with approximately 460 acres under production,

Suggest The Abolishment Of Gr. 10 Examinations

The possibility of abolishing the grade 10 provincial examinations for those students in high schools where instruction in grade 9 to 10 inclusive is offered, was discussed at a meeting of provincial high school principals held yesterday in the office of the deputy minister of education.

Deputy Minister Malcolm MacKenzie, last night stated that it has been felt in some quarters that with the regional high school set-up there is becoming little need for the grade 10 examination.

He noted that at the meeting a large number of the principals were in agreement with the proposal.

Among other points discussed was the setting of standards for admission to grade nine, and remedial work for those students who are weak in certain subjects.

A number of suggested changes in the school curriculum were also gone into along the general matters in connection with administration.

At the meeting time was taken out for the purpose of making a study of the results of the recently conducted grades 8, 10 and 12 provincial examinations.

One Fined One Dismissed In Gasoline Theft Cases

Five crown witnesses testified this morning in Queens County magistrate's court in the cases of James Joseph Peters and Deryk MacQuarrie, both of Charlottetown.

Both pleaded 'not guilty' to theft of gasoline valued at under $50.

The first witness called by crown attorney Alan K. Scales was Mrs. Rhodes Warren, Stanhope, who testified that on the evening of July 6 she had seen two men in the yard of Seaside Inn, Stanhope. One of them was pumping gas from the hotel tank. She took the licence number of their car and the next day reported the episode to the RCMP, she said.

Rhodes Warren Jr., 13, and Maureen Rhodes, Lakefield, who are employed at the Inn, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Warren.

A representative from the provincial motor vehicle branch, Pius Bolger, testified that the licence number given by Mrs. Warren was that of James Peters, Charlottetown.

Cost. Charles M. Clark, Charlottetown RCMP, who investigated the theft, told about contacting the accused about the charge. Defense counsel, John P. Nicholson, contending that the accused had been in custody while he was being questioned by the police officer, objected to the evidence. This objection was overruled by presiding Magistrate James B. Johnston, QC.

Peters was convicted as charged and fined $35 and costs or 20 days.

The testimony of the first four witnesses was recorded unchanged in the case of MacQuarrie. Cnst. Clark gave additional testimony in the case.

The Magistrate ruled the evidence in MacQuarrie's case insufficient for conviction and the case was dismissed.
