The theme for the service was "Youth Chooses to Discover Life Through Service."

Stewart.

The President spoke briefly on the revised Shield Competition Form.

(2). Why are we Protestants?

(3). How can a Christian serve God in his daily work?

(4). Is it immoral to receive prizes for gambling.

(5). Is Christ or alcohol conquering our young people and what are we doing about it?

The group then adjourned to the adjoining newely erected hall where a delicious supper was served by Georgetown Y.P.U. During the supper hour a very lively and enjoyable recreation period was conducted by "Chuck" Walper of Charlottetown.

Inspected High School Facilities On The Mainland

"We obtained a fund of knowledge regarding costs, size and equipment which will be of value as we study the situation at a series of meetings which will begin quite soon", said Mayor J. D. Stewart on his return last night from the mainland, after visiting several high schools in an endeavour to secure information on the subject.

"A majority of the City Council took the trip", continued Mayor Stewart and the information we were able to secure, should enable us all to approach our own situation more intelligently". "The decision to be made is an important one and cannot be settled without a great deal of discussion."

Mr. Reg. Spencer, Chairman of Moncton School Trustees met the delegation on arrival and accompanied by Principal William Haines, conducted the visitors on a complete tour of the High School. At Sackville, Principal T.W. Mundell, and at Port Elgin, Principal Dr. W.G. In addition to the Council delegation, representatives from the City School Board and the various School and Home Associations 16 in all, accompanied Mayor Stewart.

Attended Reunion Of HMCS Donnacona

Ten years to the day after they landed in North Africa, a group of 120 Canadians who took part in the combined operations show met in Montreal for their first reunion since the war ended.

Included in the group were three Charlottetown men, Harry Spencer and two Michael brothers, Eddie and Charlie.

The re-union was held at H.M.C.S. Donnacona, Montreal, and countless experiences of the past were discussed and many a fallen comrade remembered. The trio of local participants travelled by train and plane for the November 8th get-together. They returned this week. All Provinces of Canada were represented at the first dinner.

Mr. Spencer enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy in 1941 at H.M.C.S. Queen Charlotte and the Messrs. Michael joined two years previously. The Canadian contingent for the combined operations sailed from Halifax for Great Britain and left that country through Liverpool on their way to Africa.

Following their service on the Dark Continent the group returned to England, but were later sent back to Egypt for two months' training in the desert. Afterwards they took part in the various invasions of Sicily, Italy and some Greek islands. They also were stationed in Greece for approximately two months during a civil war there.

The special force was also on hand for the D-Day jump into Europe and served a term in Southern France. They had likewise been sent for a time to the island of Malta, prior to returning to Great Britain after leaving Italy.

Among the many well known veterans attending the reunion was Naval Commander Paul Earl who asked the Island boys to convey his best wishes to Captain J.J. Connolly, with whom he served for a time. Capt. Connolly was the highest ranking Naval officer from this Province in the last war.

Megantic Lake in Quebec, about nine miles long, was crossed by missionary fathers as early as 1640.

The Rev. J.M. Fraser of Montague introduced the special speaker of the evening, Rev. A. Frank MacLean of Charlottetown who spoke on "First Things First".

A very interesting and informative film entitled "Futiga". This film was a special film concerning our Japanese Orphanage Missionary project.

The evening session was brought to a close by singing, "Blest Be The Tie", after which Rev. J.T. Irwin pronounced the benediction.

Record List Of Summer Visitors

Believed to be the biggest tourist year this Province has ever known, Prince Edward Island received a very large number of visitors in the first 10 months of 1952

One of the focal points of interest is Confederation Chamber in the Provincial Building and it is estimated that approximately 25,000 people visited the historic spot since the start of the year Of the vast number who visit the Chamber each year it is believed that fewer than a third of them ever sign the visitors' book which is maintained there for the purpose of keeping a record of the callers.

However, despite the fact that so many fail to leave a record of their call there have been over 7,000 men, women and children who did sign the book this year. They came from all parts of the world, almost everyone of the 48 United States, and from every Province of Canada. It is impossible to estimate the number of those who were personally conducted in the Chamber by Commissionaire Robert Craig, who acts as guide and informant to visitors, or to tell how many have listened as he gave a complete description of the Chamber and its historical interest.

Island Odds And Ends

For many years to come, Canada will be confronted with the problem of absorbing a steady flow of immigration from the Old World. It may never become a big problem in Prince Edward Island but, nevertheless, this Province receives a certain number of new Canadians each year, and though many of them do not remain here permanently, there are some who do settle down to become Islanders as well as Canadians. It is important then for all Canadians to accept these immigrants as necessary for the upbuilding of the Country and because, many of them will play a great part in its future development.

What is a Canadian? Reasonably speaking a Canadian is a Canadian born, or Canadian - naturalized citizen living in Canada or a Canadian-born or naturalized person living elsewhere. His racial origin may have been whatever you like—if he was born in Canada, or is a naturalized citizen of this country, he is a Canadian.

If our welcome to our immigrants is warm enough and sincere, and their potentialities suitably appraised, they will make good citizens. There is no worse advertisement for Canada than an embittered immigrant.

* * *

It is an economic fact on this continent that large waves of immigration have coincided with prosperity and high employment Conversely, during the depression of the 1930's there was economic adversity and greater unemployment when there was practically no immigration.

The Canadian population is made up of diverse races moulding themselves into a nation, that takes its pattern from the land of their adoption. At the time of Confederation the largest individual British racial group was Irish, and the Irish and Scotch together outnumbered the English by almost two to one. After 1881, the English predominated with the Scotch in second place. At the time of the 1941 census, the numerical strength of the principal racial stocks was in the following order: French, English Scotch, Irish, German, Ukrainian, Scandinavian, Netherland, Jewish and Polish.

As a non-English immigrant has said: "Canada owes immigrants nothing but the chance to make good in a free land. It is true we have got freedom in Canada — freedom to face starvation. We feel gratitude even for this negative liberty, but for Heaven's sake do not expect us to admire this wonderful country for the very reason that we cannot yet see anything wonderful here.

"Some of us who are former professors, lawyers, engineers physicians, serve as cooks, labor on your farms, work in your lumber camps, wash your dishes, clear away the snow quite willingly — if we are lucky enough to get

Campus King Crowned At P.W.C.

A new King of the Campus, to reign for the present term, was crowned at Prince of Wales College last night at the annual Crowning Ball held in the College Auditorium. He is Mr. Orwell Wood, Alexandra, who will reign with his beautiful Queen, Miss Patricia Wynn, of this city.

The new Princess of the College is lovely Connie Chandler, Charlottetown, who has as her Prince Don Wood, of Marshfield. Unfortunately the new Prince was absent on the business of state, but he sent his emissary, Sidney Campbell, to act as the Royal Messenger.

The crowning ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Prince of Wales (Robin Houston) who carefully placed the gleaming Crowns on the heads of the new leaders of the undergraduates. Queen Patricia was presented with a lovely bouquet of red roses by little Marsha Jones while equally tiny Beverley Adams presented flowers to the Princess. Both little girls remembered to curtesy as they passed each member of the College royalty.

Page boys who presented gifts to the King and Prince were young Douglas Ross and Carl Duncan, two little boys who apparently appreciate the amenities of court procedure.

Marble has been quarried in every province in Canada except Prince Edward Island.
