"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or statements of our correspondents.

To the Editor of the Patriot.
DEAR SIR,—I notice that you persist in charging the Hon. Donald Ferguson with being untrue to me in the late contest. I think it right that I should state publicly that your charge is ungrounded.
The fact that I received on Lot 34, where Mr. Ferguson resides, and where his personal influence is greatest, a larger vote than have ever before been given to a Liberal-Conservative Candidate, is a sufficient answer to your accusation.
On this same Township, Mr. Beer received 110 votes, only 69 of which were given to Mr. McDonald. I am,
Yours, etc.,
DAVID EGAN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR.—The return of Mr. Henry Beer, on Monday last, has been achieved by the same tactics as have been used by him ever since he solicited our votes. Mr. Beer knows well that he never had a chance to be elected on any open, square issue; and therefore he has always schemed to get some one to act as his dupe. On his first election he cajoled Mr. Richard Reddin into running along with him. Mr. Reddin's friends supported Mr. Beer, and placed him at the head of the poll; but poor Reddin was left out of sight by the Beer party.
The next dupe was Mr. John Mullins. Mr. Beer got in twice with the assistance of Mr. Mullins; but that gentleman was betrayed.
In the late contest a young man who had for four seasons supported the Conservative party was induced to run in conjunction with Mr. Beer. Mr. McDonald was promised that in return for the support of his friends Mr. Beer would give him the united vote of his party, which he claimed, to be very powerful. The result goes to prove beyond question the treachery of Mr. Beer. Mr. McDonald's friends, at a great sacrifice of their own personal and political feelings, voted for "Beer" almost to a man; but no effort worthy of the name was made by Beer to his friends to vote for McDonald. While Mr. Beer managed to get himself at the head of the poll, McDonald has been left far behind. The respective vote for Beer and McDonald tells its own tale. Beers majority over McDonald ONE HUNDRED AND ELEVEN. The Ferguson and Egan men worked honestly together, the difference between them being only 27 votes. This difference would have been less had Mr. Egan made personal canvass or even attended meetings in the eastern end of the district. Mr. McDonald attended all the meetings and personally solicited votes over all the district. But the Beer men were afraid to give him too many votes for fear he would get ahead of their pet.
I was at Bedford the night of the election when the special arrived from Mount Stewart with Mr. Beer on board. His exultation over his own election was unbounded. But no regret for McDonald's defeat. Mr. McDonald had served his purpose, and was at once dismissed from his thoughts.
In the person of Mr. Beer the district is represented by one of the trickiest and most selfish politicians in the Province. He does not represent the political feelings of the district nor, I may add, any other feeling. As a representative he has been an utter failure, never having done anything for the District.
Lot 35. ELECTOR.

Land League Entertainment.
Under the auspices of the Mill Cove Branch of the Irish National Land League, quite a successful entertainment was given on Wednesday, May 3rd. Able addresses were given by Angus McInnis, Philip Hughes and Cornelius Campbell; readings by John T. McGinnis, Helen Hughes and B. A. Traynor, and recitations by Agnes A. McGinnis, Janie Hughes, and many others, were well rendered and heartily received. Several songs enlivened the evening.
Space does not permit me to give a more detailed account of the proceedings.
Four new members were enrolled, the sum of $2.50 paid in, and the meeting adjourned, to meet on the second Wednesday in June.
JOHN T. MCGINNIS, Secretary.

A grocer in St. Catherine's has hit upon a novel plan by which to collect bad debts. So soon as a customer becomes dilatory in payment of grocery bills, and shows indisposition to settle, the grocer sends round a boy with a big bell. The boy stops in front of the delinquent's residence and rings the bell vigorously. He is soon told to go away, but never takes the hint until the discovery is made that it is the grocer's boy "who has come to stay" and to keep up the infernal clang of his bell. "The result has been, so far," says the Journal, "in every case that the debtor has come in a very indignant frame of mind and settled up. He don't want the neighbors to get the idea that the ringing of the bell means a bailiff's sale going on in the house." It may possibly be found, however, that the customer so dunned may get even with his tormentor by taking proceedings against him for creating a nuisance by his bell-ringing. Even slow-paying purchasers, provoking as they often are, have rights, and we suspect that one of them is that of protection from any such ear-splitting insults as those described.

An advertisement reads: "Wanted—A young man to be partly out door and partly behind the counter;" and the Cleveland Leader asks, "What will be the result when the door blaws?"

The Customs' collections at Moncton for April were the largest ever made there, amounting to $29,472 against $18,765 in April previous.
Boyd and Laycock are matched for a race on the Tees, July 3rd, for four hundred pounds a side. Boyd seems determined to come to the front as a sculler.
There are 145 lads in the News Boys' Home in this city. For the year ending Saturday last they contributed $669.73 towards the expenses of the Home, and deposited $224.52 as savings.
Mr. Hugh McDonald, son of the Premier, who has just opened a law office in Winnipeg, is not a stranger to the North-West. He was a member of the "first expedition" which went up with Sir Garnet Wolseley, and is, therefore, one of "the old guard."
A new idea is being carried out in St. Louis, where one of the features of a charity fair will be the beauty of the women present. Complimentary tickets have been sent to some officials in every town within five hundred miles, with a request that they be given to the prettiest girls they know. It is supposed that this will insure an unexampled exhibition of city and rural belles.
A very interesting judgment has just been rendered at Montreal in the case of Lighthall vs. Chretien, being an action to recover possession of a property which had been paid for in Silver Plume Mining stock, represented as worth 724. The plaintiff, endeavoring to realize on said stock, found it had no market value whatever, and took action to set aside the sale, alleging fraud and false representation. Defendant had meantime sold to a third party, but the judgment set aside both sales with costs against the defendant, besides ordering him to account for all rents or pay $1,000 damages.
The trial, without a jury, of the evicted tenants on the Isle of Skye, who resisted the Sheriff's officers, met with determined opposition. Six leading Scotch Liberal members of Parliament—Cameron, Mackintosh, Cowan, Henderson, Peddie and Barclay—protested against it in a letter to the Times. This agitation resulted in the withdrawal of all the charges except that of assault, for which five of the alleged offenders were fined amounts varying from five to twelve dollars. The fines were paid by friends of the tenants. The result is that the farmers, with their families, to the number of one hundred persons, have decided to emigrate to Canada.
The Qu'Appelle Farm Syndicate have been organized with a capital of $500,000. They have a 50,000 acre wheat farm on the line of the Canada Pacific in the Qu'Appelle valley. Ten thousand acres are to be broken this spring for seeding next season. The Winnipeg Times points out that the general plans of the Company are somewhat similar to those of the great Dakota and Minnesota wheat kings, yet embracing many novel features original with this Company, chief among which is the peculiar combination of capital and labor between the Company and their settlers, by which the latter are materially assisted at the start, and at once become working shareholders in the Company and the recipients of a large share of the fruits of their own labor.
A few weeks since the Rev. Abbe Larue, parish priest of Roxton Falls, Quebec, was burned to death in his parsonage, as was believed at that time, by accident. It now appears that the authorities of the district have received information which leads them to believe that the venerable father was murdered for his wealth, and the house subsequently set on fire to cover up the diabolical deed. It was well known in the neighborhood that the aged priest had a large sum of money of his own and belonging to the church in a trunk of his room. After the fire it was discovered that the lock of the trunk had been pried open. The local authorities are trying to unravel the mystery, and believe they have a clue that will bring the guilty parties to justice. The matter has caused great excitement in the locality.
Col. Brackenbury, R. A. F. S. A., who succeeds Major General Hillier, as Inspector General of Irish Constabulary, is forty-five years of age, has been in the army twenty-six years, and served in the suppression of the Indian Mutiny. In the Franco-German war he acted as chief representative of the British National Society for aiding the sick and wounded—services for which he received the Iron Cross from the Emperor of Germany, was made an Officer of the Legion of Honor by the French Government, and a Knight of St. Michael by the Bavarian Government. He served as Military Secretary to Sir Garnet Wolseley during the Ashantee Campaign. He was at one time Professor of Military History at Woolwich, and is generally regarded as one of the ablest of the rising young officers in the British army.
Mr. C. L. Divine, Superintendent of the composing and printing department of the Indianapolis, Ind., Journal values the great remedy beyond all creative agents. He has been subject to rheumatism of a very painful character, and has passed many sleepless nights while enduring the agony of it. Physicians have prescribed for him, and he has employed remedies which were advertised as specifics for the disease, but none with satisfactory results. When he bought a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, however, and began its use, he speedily realized that he had at last found the remedy he had been looking for. It relieved him with remarkable quickness and gave him great comfort. He now feels great satisfaction in the knowledge that he has a remedy which will control all rheumatic pain, from which he has no future guarantee of immunity. Believing, as he does, that the St. Jacobs Oil will cure all forms of pain, he freely recommends it to his friends and advises its use.
