A DECISIVE REPORT.—There is a magistrate in a town in India named Helser. A clergyman in the same place was called upon by a young couple, not long since, who wished him to join them in the holy bonds of matrimony.

"You had better take your girl and go to Helser." "You can go to hell yourself!" retorted the angry veteran.

And seizing the bride by the arm, he dragged her from the house, wondering what manner of a profane minister he had met with.

A blind man having walked the streets with a lighted lantern, an acquaintance met him, and exclaimed, in some surprise: "Why, what is the use of that light to you? You know every street and turning; it does you no good; you can't see a bit the better."

"No," replied the blind man, "I don't carry the light to make me see, but to prevent fools from running against me."

In a little town on the Ohio, a lady teacher was examining a class of juveniles in mental arithmetic. She commenced the question, "If you buy a cow for ten dollars"—when up came a little hand. "What is it Johnny?" "Why you can't buy no kind of a cow for ten dollars; father sold one for sixty dollars the other day, and she was a regular old scrub at that."

This plaintive advertisement appears in a Canadian paper: "Will the gentleman who stole my melons on last Sabbath night be generous enough to return me a few of the seeds as the melons are of a rare variety."

"What is the policy of the present Congress?" exclaimed a speaker at a recent meeting in Ohio. A practical listener in the crowd had a ready answer—"Four thousand dollars extra pay."

A reporter, in describing a meeting of a total abstinence society, said that "they had a most harmonious and profitable session, and retired from the hall full of the best of spirits."

The best method of acquiring the ability to do what we would like to do what we can.

What is wit? that peculiar kind of talk that leads to pulled noses and broken heads.

What is the key-note to good breeding? B natural.

It is a pity that the character doesn't always, like the hair, grow white with old age.

"My yoke is easy and my burden is light," as the young fellow said when his girl was sitting in his lap with her arms around his neck.

ABSENCE OF MIND.—A man thinking he was at home a few evenings since, laid (lay) down on the common, and put his boots outside the gate to be blackened in the morning. Another person, after getting home one rainy night, put his umbrella in bed, and leaned up in the corner himself.

Wife (anxiously): "What did that young lady observe that passed us just now?" Husband (with a smile of calm delight): "Why, my love, she observed rather a good looking man walking with quite an elderly female—that's all. Ahem!"

A certain Duchess, a very handsome woman, was once walking through the streets of London, when a costermonger, whose pipe had gone out, walked up to her, and, addressing her, said, "Pray, Madam, let me light my pipe at your eyes." She declared this to have been the greatest compliment which she ever had paid to her.

A western judge, full of fun and frolic, and withal a widower with five children, was lately bantered by a young and pretty miss of five-and-twenty for not taking a wife. The judge confessed his remissness, and ended by offering himself to the lady who had so handsomely pointed out his shortcomings. She was willing, but there was one—to her—serious obstacle. "Well," said the judge, "name it. My profession is to surmount such obstacles."

"Ah! Judge this is beyond your powers, I have vowed if ever I married a widower he must have ten children." "Ten children! Oh that's nothing," says the judge. "I'll give you five now, and my notes on demand in yearly instalments for the balance."

"I once," said a Yankee mounte bank, "met a man who made nerve and a bone all-healing salve. He was an enterprising kind of fellow, so he thought he would experiment a little with it. He first cut off the dog's tail, and applied some to the stump. A new tail grew on immediately. He then applied some to the piece of the tail which he cut off, and a new dog grew out. He did not know which dog was which."

It is good and elevating to believe that there are men who preserve in manhood the boyish bloom of their open hearted teens; but as it is a rare fortune to meet them, let us honor, cherish and love them, in proportion to their scarcity.

OBEDIENCE.—The first duty of a child is to obey its parents. By obeying our parents we learn to obey God.

DOING GOOD.—Dr. Johnson used to say, "He who waits to do a great deal of good at once, will never do any." "Little by little" is the way Providence opens to us opportunities of usefulness. We may not rule a city, but we can rule our own spirit. To found a university may not be in our power, but we can give a cup of cold water in the name of Christ.

SELFSHINESS.—It is a shame for a rich Christian to be like a Christmas-box, that receives all, and nothing can be got out till it be broken in pieces.—Bishop Hall.

Agricultural.

WOMEN ON THE FARM.—A discussion is going on, in the N. H. Mirror, and Farmer, as to whether men or women should do the milking. "A Young Farmer's Wife," of New Hampshire, gives her views as follows:—"I have as good a husband as a wife need have, kind and willing to help me when I wish him; and I think it no disgrace for me to milk and do the chores when he is gone, or to rake hay when a shower is coming, or he is in a hurry, or to do any work when he needs my help, if I can without neglecting my own duties. I never lived on a farm till I was married, so that I knew nothing of a farmer's life, yet I can do any kind of work that is required. I enjoy the farm and work, taking care of the turkeys, chickens, and flowers. I feel as though I was discharging my duties better by helping when I can—as my family is small—than I should to spend my time doing what is more ornamental than useful, though I like a little of that. I do not think a woman should be a drudge, but a companion and helpmate, making home the happiest place on earth. I do not think that a girl should be brought up to think it a disgrace to do anything but play on the piano, embroider, dress and flirt. Such a one may do for a city gent, but not for a farmer's wife."

DRINK FOR MILK COWS.—Cows that give milk in winter will add much to their profit by giving them a bucketful of warm water twice a day, with a little meal or even the slops of the family in it. Every one has noticed how an extremely cold day will effect their milk, or when they have become wet in summer. A little salt, with meal floating on the surface of such a drink, will soon teach any cow how to drink it.

NEATNESS.—Somebody says that every farm-house should be provided with a scraper, foot-mat, and old broom, at the door, for cleaning the boots before entering the house, otherwise the work of the household will be increased by the cleaning out of dirt and filth that sometimes adheres to them. Any little care that will diminish the labor of a perhaps overworked wife, will, no doubt, be appreciated.

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING, which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—it allays all pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this manner "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescriptions of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never failing success in thousands of cases. It not only relieves the child from pain but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and sweetest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhea in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None Genuine unless the face-simile of CUTLIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal office, No. 48 Dey Street, N. Y. Price, only 35 Cents per Bottle.
