CURRENT NOTES.

The New York Herald declared that Jay Gould is hastening to a collapse like Villard's. It is said he has been forced to resort to sterling loans, which are raised only at great sacrifice.

Judges will be delighted to learn that His Majesty Tawhiao, King of the Maories, does not claim to be King of New Zealand, but "unreservedly acknowledges the supremacv of Her Britannic Majesty."

The Government has been officially informed that Louis Riel, who led the Red River rebellion in 1870, is leading the half-breed agitation in the Northwest in regard to the settlement of their claims against the government.

Does not the publisher who lies about the circulation of his paper defraud his advertisers and obtain money under false pretenses? Is it not as dishonest for the publisher to sell a fraudulent circulation as it is for the baker to give short weight in a loaf of bread? Why do we permit one and punish the other? These are questions we would ask some of our politicians to answer.—The Free Lance.

Objection is made to driving horses with breast collars, especially with heavy loads, as being apt to contract the shoulders.
Breast collars are not often used for heavy work. Their neater appearance gives them the preference for single road harness, but even here hame collars are better. The solid collar presses evenly against the shoulder bones and allows less chafing of the skin.

The New York Commercial Bulletin says of the dry goods market: Business was spasmodic and irregular during the past week. Bleached cottons and wide sheetings were rather more active at reduced prices, and there was a steady movement in cotton flannels; but buyers are not speculatively inclined even at the low ruling quotations. Dark prints and ginghams are mostly small. Mens' wear woollens remain quiet, but flannels, repellants, cloakings and dress goods are rather more active.

An English experimenter planted a hyacinth bulb in October, 1882, we are told, and as soon as it began to sprout, removed it to a perfectly dark, but well ventilated space. In March, 1883, a stem of dark purple flowers was produced, the leaves of the plant being colorless. In October, 1883, the same bulb was again planted and grown in the light through the window. It has flowered again this year, and the flowers are smaller and less deeply colored than those which came forth last year in the darkness.

London Truth is considerably exercised about the disagreement of the doctors as to what ought to be done for cholera. One school thinks there is nothing like opium in large doses; another is equally enthusiastic over the same drug in small doses, and only carried to a certain point; a third denounces narcotics of every kind. Some advise ice water and solid ice ad libitum; others are equally strong against it. One doctor injects fourteen ounces of milk into a vein, another asserts that "a copious imbibition of cold water will suffice for the cure of the most curable cases." Certainly there seems to be plenty of variety for disciples to choose from.

One of the most mischievous species of alarmists, all things considered, is the business alarmist. It is he who circulates all manner of disturbing reports calculated to unsettle confidence in the commercial world, and by his unthinking garrulity or deliberate unscrupulousness hastens, or actually produces, the disasters he apparently deplores. It is idle to ignore the fact that in the stock market, for example, there are plenty of speculators who deliberately circulate canards, destitute of the slightest foundation, in order to enrich themselves by the ruin of others. There is a law to punish such iniquitous conduct as this, and measures should be taken to secure its vigorous enforcement.—Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

The Board of Trade in Winnipeg are completing that the rates on the Canadian Pacific Railway discriminate against that city, and in favour of points further west, one gentleman stating that he had heard of a gentleman who was going in the wholesale stove business at Calgary, simply because he could lay the stoves down there at better advantage than at Winnipeg; which we take to mean that stoves can be taken say from Montreal to Calgary at better rates from Montreal and thence to Calgary.
This is one of those things that almost every large city complains of, but which, the world over, seems an incident of railway transport. The remedy proposed by the Board of Trade is to put boats on the Red River, and by making special arrangements with American lines, secure better rates, and in that way force the C. P. R. to the adoption of a competitive tariff.

The new Commander of the militia in Canada, Major General Middleton, has taken up his abode in Ottawa. From 1874 to the date of his appointment he was Commander of the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, England, with the rank of Colonel. On receiving the position of Commander in Canada he was made Major-General. Had he remained in England he would have been obliged to retire in November, under the new army rules, but by his acceptance of office in Canada he remains on the active list. Major Middleton has been forty-two years in the army. He saw service in New Zealand in 1846, in the war against the natives. He afterwards served in India during the Santhal rebellion and the Sepoy mutiny of 1857-58. For gallant conduct at the storming of Bank's House and Martiniere he was made a brevet Major.
He subsequently served in nearly all the leading actions of the mutiny campaign.
He was favorably mentioned in despatches to the War Office, and was honored by being made a Commander of the Bath. At the time of the "Trent" affair, he was in Canada, having been Major in the 29th Regiment at the time.

The English government has offered £150,000 for four of the pictures in the Blenheim collection. It offers £70,000 for the Ansdair "Madonna" alone.

Herr Palisa, of Vienna, discovered a new minor planet on Friday last, at ten minutes to ten p. m., when it was in right ascension 16h. 19min. 46sec., and declination 19deg.
38min. 35sec. South. At nine p. m. on Saturday it was again observed, in right ascension 16h. 19min. 9sec., declination 10h. 41min. 19sec. South. It is of the twelfth magnitude, and, therefore, visible only in large telescopes. The total number of these small bodies at present known is 237.

Mr. Charles Russell, who since the re-irement of Benjamin, has made perhaps the largest income at the English bar, received last year $75,000; Sir W. Gull, who tops the physicians, made $50,000, Mr.
Millais stained canvas to a like figure; Archer, the jockey, made $43,000; Tenny-son receives $25 a line; Ouida, $5,000 a novel; and in the race for wealth Simms, the dramatist of "In the ranks," a rank piece of stuff, can look with contempt on his baffled pursuers, having made last year $100,000.
