Nope. Just a contestant in the Miss International Airline Stewardess contest on Miami Beach clowning with her white gloved hands. Behind the hands is Juanita Wirch, 24, a native of Sacramento, Calif. who is based in Miami with National Airlines. She and stewardesses from other international carriers will vie for the title in finals on the beach Friday night. (AP Wirephoto)

Campaign Provides Chance To Measure Future Leaders

By KEN KELLY
OTTAWA (CP) — While Liberal and Conservative leaders woo the Canadian voter, the federal election campaign provides a chance for the voter to measure two potential successors in unfamiliar roles.

fact remains the relations between Canada's two founding races, English and French, have been a continuing and vital part of the political scene.

be fighting his last election campaign. Mr. Lesage, 53, is just as widely considered a possible successor as Liberal leader. If he successfully sells himself and his view of French Canada's place in the national mosaic to the westerners, some observers here figure he will be hard to beat in a tonal ad-ershhip fight.

WAGE LAST FIGHT
At 69, Prime Minister Pearson is generally considered to Premier Lesage's 16-day western tour is giving the Conservative Primes an opportunity to see at close hand the man who might succeed Prime Minister Pearson as Liberal leader.

On the Conservative side, more national attention has been focused on Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba than at any time in the past. He, too, may go on tour in parts of the country other than the West.

Mr. Lesage's tour is billed as non-political and he apparently has carefully avoided commenting on political issues. But the
