Montague Meteors Win 11-6 From Ch'town Team

The Montague Meteors last night at the local rink won a decisive victory over the Charlottetown Bombers 11-6 in a hard fought exhibition battle reminiscent of Saturday night's game with the Abbies. The game was colored with heavy body checking and a few isolated fights between players, none of which proved serious other than banishing the offenders to the cooling pen.

Both teams were fast on the attack, the first line for the visitors being very speedy in moving into enemy territory. However, the more experienced meteors withstood the attack, and were able to capitalize on their own, showing more finish around the net. Nelson led in scoring honours for the locals, pulling the hat trick. Johnston, a new rookie, played a very smart game, getting two counters for his team. For the visitors R. MacIntyre scored three of his team's goals, and Gregory was runner-up with two.

The packed house was very enthusiastic over the game, liking a little roughing mixed in with the finer arts of real hockey. They had both last night, and it may be concluded that giving the fans the hockey they have seen in the past two games they will be there win or lose.

It breaks up congestion and gives wonderfully quick relief, along with a soothing, comfortably warm feeling. CLAUDETTE COLBERT STARS AS NUN IN DRAMATIC FILM. Universal International's "Thunder on the Hill" which opens today at the Prince Edward Theatre with Claudette Colbert and Ann Blyth in the lead roles, is a highly-dramatic mystery story with one of the most unique plots in the history of motion pictures. It's an exciting story of Sister Mary Bonaventure, a nun in an English convent, who sets out to prove the innocence of a young girl wrongly sentenced to the gallows for the alleged murder of her brother. Against the wishes of her own Mother Superior and the police, Sister Mary works against time to establish the girl's innocence and point the finger of guilt at the real murderer. In the leading role of Sister Mary, Claudette Colbert offers a stirring characterization of a woman fighting for the life of a fellow human being against whom all others have turned. The scene in which she attempts to wring a confession from the guilty person is one of the dramatic high-lights of the motion picture year. Excellently cast as the convicted girl, Ann Blyth delivers a brilliant performance in a difficult role. It's a difficult role, in the role of a doctor administering to the sick at the convent, is Robert Douglas, one of the screen's finest performers.

LINSEY, England — (CP) — Council of this Suffolk County town agreed to fix street names, ending years of confusion for postmen. The main street has no name, and it lives six families named Smith.
