prepared to make a living, but above all, we must learn how to live. Personal growth, the development of character and understanding...

Graduation does not mark the end, but rather the beginning of a lifetime process of learning. The real graduate is the one who realizes that he has only scratched the surface...

Unfortunately, we rely too much on the scientific methods of our day. We expect everything to be done for us through the miracles of speed, of atomic energy, of medicine and even television...

We expect a doctor to continue his studies so that he can master the arts of mankind. We expect the scientists to probe daily into the secrets of nature, and to give their beneficial results to society...

Discussing this subject a few weeks ago, Pope Pius XII said that the motive of adult education should be man's own appreciation of his destiny, of his place in society...

Co-Operative Journeyings Down Through The Years

J. A. Gillis, Charlottetown (Concluded from Friday)

The Prince Edward Island Co-operative Egg and Poultry Association and the Livestock Marketing Board, co-associates of the Potato Growers' Association in the "big three" that operated and started in the field of organized marketing of farm products...

Reference has already been made in earlier chapters to the long and arduous struggle that is moderately indicative of their accomplishments in unfortunately abbreviated careers. Through the efforts, and at the instance of the Egg and Poultry Association, there was created an industry of immeasurable advantage and benefit to the farmer and subsequent to the consumer of the Province...

The reaction to its demise, although a bit delayed in its coming, has proven nonetheless positive in its inevitable though small like pace. Weekly market broadcasts indicate a complete breakdown and replacement of co-operatively established marketing ethics, and that producers are not in regular receipt of a fair allotment of the consumer dollar...

Services rendered during the Livestock Marketing Board's brief period of operation, were equally impressive and deserve similar acclaim upon its achievements. One feature alone, that of putting Maritime hog sales on a par to Montreal levels, from a generally prevailing twenty-five per cent discount, was an accomplishment worth millions to the producers in the area, and will continue so as long as producers retain marketing control.

Director Father Gillis spoke to members on their wonderful work and the many things done that were not included in reports. He spoke strongly on deplorable rights and duties and thanked members for their splendid co-operation. The following officers were re-elected: President, Mrs. Alphonse O'Donnell; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Aeneas Curran; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Bernard Doyle; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Emmett Wisner; recording secretary, Mrs. Marie Quinn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clarence Redmond; treasurer, Mrs. Leo MacDonald; councillors, Mrs. Joseph Morrissey, Mrs. Joseph MacIsaac, and Mrs. J. W. MacVarish.

Before concluding this review of "Co-operative Journeyings" I would place on record, if possible, adequate tribute to the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, as an expression of appreciation for the invaluable assistance rendered, through their field services, and generosity from their respective treasuries when, through their Board, we are establishing better marketing methods for the dis-

Trinity Mission Band Closing

The closing meeting of Trinity United Church Mission Band, Charlottetown, was held in the social hall on Wednesday afternoon, June 2.

The closing meeting of Trinity United Church Mission Band, Charlottetown, was held in the social hall on Wednesday afternoon, June 2. The children played before the business, which opened by members repeating the Mission Band Prayer. The secretary Lela Dignan read the minutes of the last meeting. Helen Toombs gave the treasurer's report. Roll call was answered by members repeating verse from Bible. The Theme Prayer repeated in unison closed this part of the meeting.

And again, to the advocates and promoters of better quality livestock and other produce, which when taken together, has made most Island farm production a standard of quality the world over and the ministry of marketing so much easier. The advantages of their technical training and natural and acquired capacity for leadership, has always been generously shared with the laymen, of rural origin or location, with whom perchance at times they shared the responsibilities of field service and co-operative organization activities.

The success attained and accomplishments recorded, through this combination effort during the past few decades back have made of this Province a more desirable place in which to live and much of this progress can be ascribed to the indefatigable efforts of the "White Collared" specialist.
