SPAIN WILL RECOGNIZE

The Insurgent Leaders.

DEVELOPMENTS ARE AWAITED

Very Anxiously in Madrid.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

MADRID, April 19.—It is asserted on good authority that the mission to the insurgent camp is limited to an offer to the insurgent chiefs to recognize their present grades in the future insular army after the withdrawal of the Spanish force from Cuba, "which will remain under the protectorate of Spain with a governor essentially a civilian." It is said that the Spanish Parliament about to assemble will sanction this arrangement. Governmental and diplomatic circles are anxiously expecting developments at Washington.

CONDITION IN HAVANA.

Danger of a Massacre of Americans—Strengthening the Harbor Fortifications.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Senor Leopoldo Y Arrango, professor of law at the Havana university, who arrived last night with other Cubans, on the steamship Alcazara from Havana, in an interview gave an interesting statement regarding the situation in Cuba. He said:—"I left Havana with my family because I believed the opening of hostilities means the massacre of all the Cubans and Americans. A lot of Americans, or very near all, have left Havana, and those remaining either profess to believe that there will be no war, or, if there shall, that they are as safe as in the United States."

Senor Arrango also stated that military preparations were going forward in expectation of a possible war with the United States, two large magazines having just been completed at Morro castle.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, April 19.—The House of Commons resumed its sittings yesterday after the Easter recess.

James Lowther, Conservative, asked the Government whether "in view of the apparent imminence of war between two States with which we are on the most friendly terms, it was not the intention of the Government to immediately notify all British subjects of the necessity for observance of strict neutrality."

Mr. Balfour, acting Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in reply, said that he saw no reason to depart from the universal practice of awaiting the actual outbreak of hostilities.

LATEST NEWS NOTES.

Sir Charles Tupper can use rather picturesque language when he chooses. Instance his allusion to the Hon. Mr. Mulock "snoring in a most candid and obstreperous manner" during the delivery of Mr. Fielding's budget speech.

This is the London Spectator's judgment, published under date of March 26, of what President McKinley, as the spokesman and executive of the American people, will find it necessary to do in the matter of Cuba: "In the end he will, we feel convinced, fall back upon the profound American conviction that everything will always go right if there is only 'liberty.' It will demand that Spain withdraw her hand from Cuba, and will leave the fate of the island to be settled after the war. After all, Mexico and Chile are fairly governed, life in the Brazils is endurable, though most Cuban conditions exist there, and if the worst comes to the worst, the States will not be ruined because Cuba has to be administered for a quarter of a century as three or four Territories of the great republic."

Whenever you see an unusually handsome blue or black serge suit you may safely conclude its "Klondike." The kind which bears on each third yard the Maple Leaf and Beaver). There's a something about the appearance of these goods which is distinguished, coloring is perfect, finishing unequalled. They wear to the last thread.
