

PREPARE FOR LOBSTER SEASON

For the re-opening of the lobster season on August 10th, preparatory work is already underway in the lovely, picturesque village of Victoria, the wives of three fishermen are seen lending assistance in the painting and numbering of buoys whose colors and numbers identify the lobster traps to which they are attached by rope, as the property of each individual fisherman. Completing their day's work of painting and numbering 100 buoys some of which are seen hanging on pegs to dry, left are Mrs. Robert Millar, Mrs. Keith Boulter, and Mrs. Ivan Howatt.

33 Persons In Alberton Area Enjoy Rides In Callow Coach

Pleasant weather contributed to the enjoyment of some thirty-three persons of the Alberton area who went riding in the Callow coach Thursday morning and afternoon. This was the third visit of a Callow coach to this area, and the second visit of this particular coach which was driven by Mr. Dinbar, the same courteous and competent driver who was here last year, and by Miss Green, the same friendly efficient hostess. The morning trip began at 9 a.m. and was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Johnston and Mrs. Cedric Hunter of Regalette Bekah Lodge. The coach picked up passengers in Alberton East, Alberton South, South Kildare, Montrose, Kildare Capes and Alma. The afternoon ride, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Wilkie, Mrs. Alvin Bell and Mrs. Gordon Hardy of Regalette Lodge, travelled from Alberton to Elmsdale, Dock Road, Hills River, Cascumpec, and returned via the scenic Mill Road and the Western Road. Refreshments were served by lodge members at Mill River beach. Those assisting, besides Mrs. Wilkie, Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Hardy, were Mrs. Elmer Wallace, and Mrs. Charles Gordon. With Brian Donlevy, Gig Young, Virginia Grey, Andy Devine and Robert Hutton in starring roles, RKO Radio's "Slaughter Trail" deals in stirring fashion with a Navajo uprising in the New Mexico frontier some seventy years ago.

Miss Grey, a passenger in the coach, is a secret accomplice of Young's, and conceals the jewels he gets in the robbery. To help their getaway, Young and his henchmen kill two Navajos and steal their horses, thus precipitating an uprising among the tribes.

But an all-Canadian cast of singers, musicians, conductors, stage directors, scene designers and dancers has not been possible before.

The program for the month includes opera, chamber music, light music and ballet. The festival starts Aug. 6 with the first of eight performances of Racine's biblical drama, Athalia. Other performances of the opera will be given Aug. 9 to 20.
