By PIUS CALLAGHAN

Look At The Standings

THOSE standings in the National Hockey League look unfamiliar.

Looking the parade are Detroit Red Wings and one point back, in second position, the Boston Bruins.

Both Bruins and Wings failed to make playoffs last season but are starting out this fall as though they intend to garner their share of points.

It's true that the 70-game schedule is a mere infant and that there is loads of time to see things turn upside down.

Los Angeles Dodgers can tell you about early victories and what they mean to a club.

Abbies Take Crown

CHARLOTTETOWN Abbies have emerged as midget baseball champions of the Maritimes and they did it in most impressive fashion.

Charlie Ryan was indeed a happy man as he came back to the Sunday night with his great little club. They had come through magnificently in their final test and coach Ryan had every reason to be joyful proud.

After their entire playoff schedule, the Abbies didn't drop a single contest. They beat Summerside two straight, crushed St. Stephen in the same number and then they beat the world series.

While all the time is deserving of the highest commendation, it's only fair to mention the pitching staff of this young man were terrific and his final effort Sunday, a two-hit job, was his masterpiece.

He led the club to a record of 10-1 in the regular season and every time he was on the mound. However, he showed his greatness from the midgets but the playoff trail and he surely was happy with his final effort.

Undoubtedly the winning of a Maritime championship will be a suitable reward for the young men. Maritime crowns are hard to come by and we feel Charlie Ryan and his team on occasion pass without paying tribute to this great little team.

It'll be the awaiting to hear the time and place of such a celebration.

Alouettes Surprise

THE greatest surprise in football over the weekend was provided by Montreal Alouettes when they crushed the Toronto Argos in Toronto.

The triumph gave Alouettes a great boost and left Argos in a rather bad situation. Montreal led two points up as Toronto's Cammie Brantley was the star.

Perry Moss got a great game from Sandy Stephens and Perry is signing the young man's praises today.

The Alouettes could be a big threat yet for Big Four honors.

Free Horses Enter British Classic

LONDON (AP)—Three U.S. owned horses were among the 47 named Monday for Wednesday's Cambridgeshire Handicap, one of the biggest betting races of the season.

The daily double on the race was a 2-10. The race was won by the yearling, a 191. The Australian gelding, steeved five times in 1961, was the favorite.

Highland Lad Cops Feature

SYDNEY (CP)—Highland Lad, owned by Mrs. Annie Deakin of New Waterford, N.S., swept both ends of the featured Invention Pace Monday night at the Sydney Sport Centre.

The veteran pacer stepped a 2:09 3/4 mile in winning the first heat and then repeated in 2:10-1/5 in the second dash.

New Waterford-owned horses dominated the card as they posted six victories. Abarian Nights was a double winner while June and Miss Carefree posted double wins.

The only other winners were a pair of three-year-olds, a three-year-old filly owned by John Hay of New York and trained by England's Bill Cecil Boyd-Rochford.

Gold Rated Highly

The three American-owned entries are Fox's Gold, a three-year-old filly owned by John Hay of New York and trained by England's Bill Cecil Boyd-Rochford.

Legion Has Tournament

It was Freeman Miles who stepped up to man the reins at the Canadian Legion golf tournament held at Charlottetown Golf Course.

Rumpurr to Miles was George Vessey. Other prize winners were Dave Clending, Bill Hughes, Gerald Burgoyne, Angus MacKercher, Pete Sinclair, Eddie Brown, Jack Murphy, Jim Berrigan, East MacFarlane, Don MacLeod, Ronnie LePage, Sam Bryanton and Willie Dunn.

Bill Beer had low gross. George Vessey was in a bad mood after his drive over the 14th course. J. MacKinnon won the special prize for the player admitting defeat.

Thus a better world lay odds at $11 to $10, and picks him.

Scientists of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization are planning to help Asia.

such illustrious companions as Ed Plink, Christy Mathewson, Ruth Marquard, Bullet Joe Bush and Schoolboy Rowe as well as the top gun of the Moose Skowron.

Despite the soggy outpouring, the players did not appear to be discouraged. They made most of the plays, skidding at times and cutting fancy divots in the turf.

Hoak said he had no intentions of lifting Ford for a pitcher. He said he had had a warm up in the bullpen as a decoy for the Giants.

On the pickoff play at second, Hoak said it was a set play but Ford held the ball a little too long and then threw wild.

'Diced Good Game, Says Hank Pierce

gave Hank Pierce a game and took his first defeat.

"I felt fine, and I thought I looked good. I'm ready to come back tomorrow and try to get a relief if I need it."

The ace left hander, knocked out on the error and went to the first Yankee to get dressed.

Ford said the wild throw he made tomorrow was an attempt to pick Felipe Alou out of the bullpen.

"I tried to hold up the throw when I saw I had no play in the bullpen," he said.

Hoak admitted he had been through the count, but when I wheeled and then tried to check the throw, the ball flew out of my hand into the outfield."

Alou scored the first run on the error and went to the field to third, when the ball showed up in the high, wet outfield grass.

Hoak said, "Whitey Ford pitched good, too, but the ball went out of the park."

The Yankee manager, asked if he expected to win the deciding seventh World Series game today, said:

"They ought to fire me if I didn't expect to win it."

Both Terry's 25-game win streak and his 25-game win streak in the second game of the series, the ace of the Yankees to hit his first home run in the series.

Hoak has been high in his praise of Sanford, who shut out the Yankees on two hits in the second game and pitched a strike out to Boyer on intentional fourth ball, put men on first and second with two outs.

Hoak said, "I'm not sure if I can't be a pitcher for the Yankees."
