Islanders Zip Through Atlantics' Defence For 8-2 Victory At Halifax

HALIFAX, (CP)—The lowly Charlottetown Islanders went through Halifax Atlantics' defence as if it were a sieve Saturday night for an 8-2 Maritime Major Hockey League victory.

The loss left Halifax seven points ahead of second-place Sydney Millionaires, who lost 3-0 to Glace Bay Miners in the other league game.

Vince Palladino paced Islanders with four goals and the others went to Orin Carver, Paul Saindon, Bucko Trainor and Buck Whitlock, who also picked up assists to renew his threat to the league's scoring leader, Bill Ford of Halifax.

Ford and Carroll Bloom scored for Halifax.

Charlottetown opened a 4-0 lead in the first period, split four goals in the second and rifled home a brace in the finale.

Although Atlantics had only seven forwards and four defencemen, the difference was in the defence, which allowed Charlottetown forwards to cruise in easily on goalie Roy McMeekin for point-blank shots.

McMeekin made 28 stops, one more than Islanders' Roger Bessette.

Vince Palladino's initials are V. I. P. and this to the Islanders and their supporters means Very Important Person. Vip has been all of that to the Islanders since he came here from the Sioux Indians with his goal-scoring feats His four goal splurge on Saturday night climaxed his activities thus far. In the post-game interview on Saturday Palladino passed along a very fine compliment to Buck Whitlock and Bob Gray when he said they were putting him in the clear all night. Whitlock has been racking up points at a great pace lately and looks like a sure bet to win his fifth Maritime scoring championship despite the fact that he has missed fourteen games and is working each day besides. Gray has been looking better each time out since his bout with pleurisy and is again one of the most dangerous snipers in the circuit.

• • •

"It was a team effort," stated coach Bucko Trainor last night while speaking about the game. Trainor had great praise for the work of Roger Bessette who played an outstanding game. The 8-2 defeat the Islanders gave the Atlantics was the worst that the Atlantics have suffered at home in a number of years. Apparently it pleased most of the crowd for the Islanders got quite a hand each time they scored. For the Islanders it was an unique week. They lost their two home games and won both road games.

• • •

The increasingly important role that the Maritimes is playing in the development of young athletes is very much in evidence these days. For example a scout of the Montreal Canadiens spent the past two days in the City watching young hockey players although these players were not aware of this fact. The scout's name was L. Passador. He took in the Prince Street School Sports on Friday night and watched the P.S.S.-P.W.C. game from the press box. On Saturday night he was out to the rink at Memorial Field to see the Midgets in action. He took down the names of a number of players who attracted his eye and will check on their ages, etc. He hoped to stay here for another day to check more players and will likely return later in the year.

• • •

Passador covers the area from Prince Edward Island to Sudbury, Ont., for the Montreal Canadiens. He is interested in the younger players, always hopeful that he will uncover some future star. The Maritimes this year sent three junior players to Montreal and this is the reason why the Maritimes and Prince Edward Island in particular are being so closely watched by the big clubs. Two of the Maritimers who went to Montreal this year are Island boys, Forbes Kennedy and Angie Carroll.

• • •

Passador hasn't seen either boy play this season but stated that Sam Pollock of the Montreal Junior Canadiens was tickled to death with Kennedy's play. Carroll is not playing with the Canadiens as he is under age but is playing with a school team. According to the Montreal papers Kennedy is continuing to roll along in fine style. One night last week he scored four goals against Jonquiere. On another night when the Canadiens played to a 2-2 draw with the Quebec Frontenacs Pollock was quoted as saying he didn't know what the Canadiens would have done had it not been for the work of Kennedy, McCourt and Hynes.

The Islanders were forced to forfeit $500 to the Miners for missing their game in Glace Bay a week ago Saturday night, it was learned from Club president Smith MacFarlane in New Glasgow following the M.M.H.L. meeting yesterday.

The Miners came to the meeting with a pretty strong argument for their case and practically forced the other teams to vote for them. As a lever they used the extension deadline issue. Halifax in particularly wanted the deadline extended. The Miners were the only club who didn't want an extension. The net result was that the deadline was extended to February 1 for taking in professional hockey players and the Miners were awarded their $500. The deadline issue was curbed somewhat in that each team is allowed only two more players.

• • •

The Islanders gave the Miners $500 from their game in New Glasgow last week. At the time they hoped they would receive it back. They have one consolation in the fact that the game will be played early next month in Glace Bay or New Glasgow and they have a chance to get the two points. All boiled down yesterday's meeting decided that the fine on the Islanders would be $500 instead of the original $1150.

• • •

MacFarlane told us the Atlantics were ready to call it quits had the deadline for bringing in players not been extended. The Atlantics are short handed at present and most of their men are tired. The attendance in Halifax has been down by 20,000 in comparison with a similar period last year. The happiest club in the circuit at the moment is the Miners. They had more than 3,200 at their game against Sydney on Saturday night.

MMHL Votes To Extend Deadline Fifteen Days; Islanders Fined $500

NEW GLASGOW, (CP) — The player deadline was extended 15 days to Feb. 1 at a Maritime Major Hockey League meeting Sunday which also made plans for the playoffs and straightened out some irksome problems.

A Halifax Atlantics' request to extend the deadline for signing players had earlier been opposed by two of the league's four clubs The Feb. 1 deadline for signing reinstated pros remains unchanged.

Charlottetown Islanders, fined $1,000 for failing to play Glace Bay Miners at Glace Bay two weeks ago, paid Miners $500 at the meeting and agreed to play the game at a later date, probably Feb. 24.

Miners, who had a full house in advance sales for the game, decided to settle for the sum and play the game although league president C. Roy MacDonald said earlier that the game had been awarded to them.

Islanders, who missed the game because of poor flying conditions, were told that they could continue travelling by air — at their own risk. If there was any chance of a flight being cancelled, they were to travel by rail or road.

Sydney Property

On the basis of a telegram from the central registry, the meeting decided that Johnny Morrow, Halifax's fiery forward, is the property of Sydney Millionaires. Halifax said they wanted to keep Morrow but they weren't willing to pay any large sum of money for him.

All four teams will enter the playoffs. The semi-finals and finals will be best-of-nine series.

Mr. MacDonald reported that some progress was being made toward arranging a championship series between the MMHL and the International League.

Islanders Like Road; Try It At Home Tonight Against Millionaires

Bucko Trainor's Islanders, who are fast building themselves a fine reputation as a dangerous road team, are home tonight to the Sydney Millionaires for another Maritime Major Hockey League game.

The Millionaires and Islanders played the only game at the Forum last week and fans are still talking about it. The Islanders came from behind in the dying seconds to tie the score only to see the hard working Millionaires win in overtime.

The game was one of the better to be seen here this season. Both teams went all out from the open-whistle with the Moneymen, led by their veteran play maker George Robertson having an edge.

The Islanders reversed things the following night in Sydney. They came from behind with two goals by Paul Saindon in the third period and then Vince Palladino shot the winner in overtime.

That was only a prelude to what happened Saturday night when the Islanders applied the Coup de Grace to the Halifax Atlantics. The locals were at their best, according to all reports, when they walloped the Haligonians 8-2 in their own back yard.

Trainor had plenty of words of praise for his team's showing on Saturday night. He stated that Bessette played an exceptionally good game, that the forwards especially the Whitlock, Palladino and Gray line, were flying, and that the defense was solid.

Big Gus Gustaveson played with a very sore ankle. The Islanders team captain was struck by a shot in Sydney Friday night but the big fellow, game as he is, refused to sit out Saturday's encounter.

That win by the Islanders on Saturday moved them closer to the top than they have been at any time since the early weeks of the season.

The Islanders will be at full strength tonight. They are still working on a couple of more players before the February 1 deadline. The Millionaires are also expected to be at full strength for the game.

Rangers Win From Boston Bruins 4-3

BOSTON, (CP)—A revitalized power play—largely resulting from the Bentley brothers' reunion—produced three goals for New York Rangers as they defeated Boston Bruins 4-3 in a National Hockey League game Saturday night.

Since the return of Doug Bentley last week, coach Muzz Patrick has used him and brother Max Bentley as the defence combination on a power play lineup that usually includes rookie Camille Henry.

Henry got two of the power-play goals, one the winning tally late in the third period, and Max Bentley scored another in the second period on a pass from Doug.

The win was the second in a row for Muzz Patrick, new Rangers coach, over Brother Lynn Patrick, coach of the Bruins.

The bruising play was a fair indication of the heat of the fight between the two clubs for fourth place.

Ted Williams Sued For Maintenance

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, was sued for separate maintenance in circuit court here Saturday by his wife, Doris.

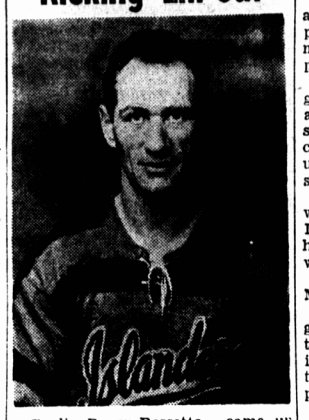
Mrs. Williams accused the baseball star of "mistreatment and abuse, both privately and publicly," over the past six years.

They were married May 4, 1944, at Pensacola, Fla., while Williams was serving as a marine flight instructor. He was called back into service in the Korean War and flew 38 missions.

The couple has one daughter, Barbara Joyce, 6, who is now with the mother at the family home in Perrine south of Miami.

Mrs. Williams asked for use of the family home, title to a Cadillac car, custody of the daughter, periodic support money and reasonable attorney fees.

Kicking 'Em Out



Goalie Roger Bessette came up with one of his finest games of the year on Saturday night when he limited the Atlantics to two goals as the Islanders raced to an 8-2 victory over Halifax.

Boston Bruins Defeat Rangers 2-1 Sunday

BOSTON, (AP) — First-period goals by veterans Cal Gardner and Joe Klukay gave Boston a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over New York Sunday night as coach Lynn Patrick's Bruins broke their fourth-place tie with brother Murray's Rangers.

Don Raleigh scored for New York in the 14th minute of the third period but the Bruins held their edge over the final furious minutes of play.
