RETURNS TO WEST COAST
Mr. George L. MacInnis left this Province recently for Boston, Mass., where he will visit relatives and friends before returning to his home in Vancouver, B. C. Mr. MacInnis spent the past two months in Prince Edward Island, the guest of his cousins, the Misses Margaret and Flora Lewis, St. Peter's Bay. He also renewed old friendships and visited relatives and friends in Souris, St. Peter's and Charlottetown. It is fifty-two years since Mr. MacInnis left St. Peter's in which Mr. MacInnis keeps in close touch with his Island home through correspondence and the columns of The Guardian. He has occasionally contributed to The Guardian's Public Forum. His enjoyment during his visit was so great that Mr. MacInnis considers that if possible, Island hospitality has improved with the years. While in Summerside he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. MacInnis and Captain and Mrs. Basil Kelly.

It was the public that elevated Roy Rogers to his position as King of the Cowboys but it is Roy's consistently fine performances which keep him on the throne. This fact is proved once more with "Heart of the Rockies," Rogers' latest Republic western which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

"Heart of the Rockies" tells the exciting story of a young highway engineer, Roy Rogers, who cooperates with a retired state prison warden in sponsoring a youth rehabilitation movement. The ex-warden, ably portrayed by William Gould, believes there is a lot of good in the worst of boys and establishes a model work camp to prove it. The boys are busy on a construction job Roy is in charge of for the state when an ugly situation develops. A stubborn old land baron

TIMELY NOTES

Alberta bonds are among the most highly regarded in Canada and elsewhere. Oil, he said, is where you find it, but many think that practically the whole of Alberta has oil beneath it. Only about thirty miles away from his ranch they have drilled and found oil and one will see oil wells situated with wheat fields adjoining. Edmonton has probably profited most of any of the large cities in Alberta because of nearness of large producing wells. It is also of great importance now as a gateway to the far north and properties which some ten years ago were somewhat lightly held have jumped in value tremendously.

Mr. Montgomery said the labor situation as far as fox farming is concerned, has not troubled him, that occasionally they do lose an experienced man but they have always been able to get a replacement. The feeding problem is commencing to become more acute as farmers have ceased raising horses. He said as far as he knew in his district there were no farmers raising horses and the canning industry which has been taking horses in great quantities for shipment to Europe and dealers who have exported horses to British Columbia and places where horse meat is sold for human consumption, together with the fox and trunk ranches, have depleted the supply until it appears that in a few years it will be practically nil.

Fish can be procured frozen in quantities at about four cents a pound and horse meat boned and frozen would cost around five cents a pound, so there is not much difference between east and west prices in that regard. Cereals are "pretty much the same in price, probably a little lower but on the average he thinks it costs as much to grow a fox in Alberta as it does on Prince Edward Island. We asked him what he would do if horse meat became unavailable and he said it would mean they would have to feed more fish or possibly import whole meat. There are parties in Ontario he said, that are importing whole meat in quantities now and it might be that whales could be gotten from Hudson's Bay or from the west coast and be processed at a price of what about horse meat costs today.

ROYAL COUPLE

length overcoat in dark brown, buttoned high. A close-fitting brown hat, brown high oxfords and square brown bag completed the costume, one of 18 changes, of which the Princess was said to have brought with her.

The Prince started the day in civilian clothes but switched to a full-dress naval uniform — he is a lieutenant-commander — for the Kingston and later appearances.

Toronto's welcome, of course, was the day's climax. The city, second largest in Canada, could be expected to turn out almost a mass for this first visit of royalty in 12 years. Too, it is the provincial capital and here Ontario's greeting was tendered. The reception easily was the most impressive of the day.

Against a backdrop of massed thousands Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson and Premier Frost welcomed the royal couple to the province. They will remain within its borders until 10 a.m. Tuesday, taking off then for Western Canada from the Northern Ontario pulp-and-paper town of Kapuskasing.

Tonight, after driving into and through much of Toronto, the Princess and her husband dined privately in the Lieutenant-Governor's suite at the Legislative Buildings.

The spent the night in the royal train in the Front Street Railway Yards — its normally dirty appearance changed to a sparkling white with hundreds of yards of white gravel spread over the track beds.

Grain

WINNIPEG, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Prices generally were higher today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange under buying prompted by the unfavorable turn in the weather in Alberta and other regions.

Fair barley buying came out in oats and shirley. Hedging and other offerings were liberal but well absorbed. Flax rallied under buying for American accounts, while rye also moved under buying by United States interests.

Dealings were active despite the holiday in the United States, which limited outside support. Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 380,000 bushels to Chill, 130,000 to the United Kingdom, 125,000 to Belgium and a small lot to Costa Rica.

Class two wheat and I.W.A. prices were unchanged from yesterday. Closing prices: Oats — Oct. 90¢; Dec. 89¢; 4A; May 89¢; July 89¢; Dec. 89¢; 4B; July 1.22¢; July 1.18¢.

S'ide Airmen Take Part In Tour Parade

(By John LeBlanc)

TRENTON, Ont., Oct. 12 — (CP) — Civilian Ontarians of this area and the R. C. A. F. poured on a rousing reception today for Canada's Royal visitors, perhaps the most impressive they've had since reaching Canada Monday. The 15,000-population town of Trenton and the royal route through its environs were swarmed with a good 100,000 enthusiasts, waving flags and hoarsely shouting a welcome to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip as they slowly drove the five miles between Trenton and its huge air station.

Then before the pair took off for Toronto at 4:27 p.m. EST on their first flight from Canadian soil, the airmen of this biggest of the forces permanent bases gave them a glittering parade-square reception to mark their only official visit they will make to the R. C. A. F. on their tour of Canada.

At the precision parade display there was a picked honor guard of airmen and cadets drawn from Trenton, Centralia, Aylmer and Camp Borden in Ontario; St. John's; Gimli, Man., and Summerside, P. E. I.

Lawyers, Bankers

tre of the picture. He said that tax laws have to operate according to well-defined, and sometimes artificial concepts. His remark about there being only one source of income was not to be defined as it is in the Income Tax Act which has to pick out particular elements of income. Instead it can be termed to include all the tangible assets a person may acquire in life. In this basis he described taxation as "the process of intercepting these individual claims, or some of them, in order to exert a prior claim in the name of the Government."

Taxes Must Be Bearable

Mr. Douglas stated the liability to income tax as "the condition of earning a living in the country of the taxpayer's choice" and contrasted it with the "loot and extortion which many parts of the world are now experiencing." However, he pointed out that this and other taxes were only possible of collection if they were sanctioned by the people. Furthermore this would only obtain if the attitude of the authorities was such as to make them arrange the conditions in a manner acceptable, or at least bearable, to the public.

The speaker said that the income tax was not universal in that it hit only about fifty per cent of the people of the country; but added that in the Federal field alone it appeared that fiscal necessity was operating against the taxpayers. This he attributed to conditions caused by the "cold" war and stated that taxes would of necessity be much higher if a conflict broke out.

As far as the income tax was concerned he felt there was no room for "reducing the present exemption limits nor for making the progression of the rate structure any steeper in the upper brackets." In mentioning features of corporation surtax he stated that an important consideration was that under conditions of inflation over a period of time an increased rate of tax on business concerns tended to spread through the price system and eventually become a tax on consumers, or even on employees through preventing the receiving of higher wages.

come Tax Division, Ottawa, gave the gathered accountants a highly technical description of the Development of the Capital Cost Allowances Regulations. However, he also told them of the operation of the rules regarding depreciation on assets purchased since the date of the last Federal budget.

While there has been misunderstanding on the matter Mr. Pook said the regulations were designed to discourage capital expenditures and that depreciation had been deferred to curb spending.

Accountants from all parts of the Maritimes who have frequently experienced difficulties with depreciation angles and Federal tax problems took the opportunity of asking many questions of the principal speaker yesterday. In the morning Mr. J. Wellington Dixon, of the Income Tax Branch here, was the chairman and registered students in accountancy were guests.

During the open question period yesterday afternoon Mr. Douglas in replying stated that he expected the Federal Government would have to segregate a part of the Sales Tax in order to finance the proposed Old Age Pension plan. This has not been previously done, he said, as all income went into a consolidated revenue fund from which general accounts of the Government were payable.

In response to another question from the floor Mr. Douglas expressed the opinion that there were two ways to stop inflation. One was to freeze everything and the other was to "let nature take its course." He did not agree that taxes in themselves either caused or aided in inflation, on the contrary he expressed the belief that they helped to curb inflationary tendencies.

He also quoted the Finance Minister as stating that contrary to general belief the sales tax does not hit a higher percentage of the low-income group than other taxes. Mr. Douglas mentioned that part of the reason for this might be ascribed to the payment of Family Allowances which helped to balance extra payments made by the low income citizens.

Formal Opening Of Kensington Streets

It has been learned that the net proceeds from the celebration marking the formal opening of Kensington's new paved streets, amounted to something in excess of the sum of $500.00.

The excellent dinner put on by the ladies of the Kensington area, in the Champion building kindly loaned for the occasion by the tenant, Mr. Earl MacDonald of Summerside, was well attended. Visitors gathering later from all directions to view the tractor driving contest, the street opening and street dancing, and it is said to have been one of the largest ever assembled in the town.

The tractor rodeo, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce under the chairmanship of Edward MacGougan, was in the nature of an experiment based on similar competitions held in recent years in the province of Ontario.

The president, Mr. Archie Johnstone, states that the competition which started this year on a small scale, was felt by the organization to have been successful, and a contest is being planned for next year on a larger scale with added features.

The competition was open to young tractor drivers in the Kensington area over the age of 16. Mr. Johnstone in announcing the events, expressed the regret of the committee that all would-be contestants could not be accommodated due to lack of time, but "hoped that arrangements in any future event will be reasonably adequate."

Winners of the tractor driving contest based on "Safety in operation" — 100 points, and "Skill in operation" 150 points were — Four wheel class — 1st: Ivan Daye, 2nd: Don Glover. In the two wheel class — 1st: Clair Campbell, 2nd: (tied) Earle Taylor and Lloyd Profit.

Mr. J.L. Dewar and Mr. B.B. Jones were judges of the events. Prizes were donated by the following local companies — John Deere, Cockshutt, Massey-Harris, Ford, International Harvester and David Brown.

Several of the above mentioned companies supplied tractors used in the contest. — Bur.
