HIGHLIGHTS OF 50 YEARS

Institute Work Depicted In Anniversary Pageant

By NANCY WHITE

A 15-episode pageant played to a packed house at Prince of Wales College Wednesday night, as members of the P.E.I. Women's Institute depicted past and present at their 50th annual convention.

Under the distinguished patronage of Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. Walter Hyndman, Premier and Mrs. Walter Shaw, and City Councillor Dorothy Corrigan, the pageant was written and narrated by Mrs. Helen Herring. Piano accompaniment for the musical numbers was supplied by Mrs. Helen MacRae.

FIRST EPISODE

The first episode told how Mrs. Adelaide Hunter Hoodless had founded the first Women's Institute in Canada at Stoney Creek, Ontario, in 1897, then how the Movement spread, first to all provinces of Canada, then to Europe, Australia, Africa and the Far East. At this point, the Women's Institute chorus sang "A Song of Peace".

The audience was enthusiastic toward the presentation of the origins of Women's Institutes on P.E.I. The first group formed was at York in 1911, and present members of the York WI dressed in period costumes, depicting their beginnings brought down the house on several occasions with excerpts from the original minutes. "It is moved and seconded that a resolution be passed against the running of automobiles on Prince Edward Island", stimulated applause. The first government sponsored Institute was at Marshfield, and members of the present group also acted out scenes from early meetings.

As the scene entitled "World War One" began, the curtain opened to reveal a group of women knitting and sewing for the men overseas. The WI chorus, together with the Hillsboro Men's Chorus, sang several songs popular at the time.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

The president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, Mrs. James Haggerty of Napanee, Ontario, addressed the audience in the fourth episode.

The subject of Mrs. Haggerty's address was "Kindle a Fire". She compared the members of the Institutes to "stokers", who keep a fire burning after it has been lighted by others.

Mrs. Haggerty told the audience that she had been one of the judges in the Carol Lane Safety Award contest, and paid tribute to Marshfield Women's Institute, which won the Dominion - wide competition.

The next international conference of ACWW will be held in Dublin, Ireland, in 1965, Mrs. Haggerty told the delegates.

EDUCATION THEME

During the episode depicting the Women's Institute's contribution to education on the Island, the awarding of the first home economics scholarship was recreated. Mrs. Ian MacLeod, the former Dorothy Baxter, once again accepted her "scholarship" in the same place the award had originally been made. A slide of Montgomery Hall, built largely through the influence of the Women's Institute, was shown.

In the health and welfare segment, the story of how the WI groups had worked towards the construction of the Provincial Sanitorium was told.

The Sherwood Women's Institute depicted a group of women working for the war effort in the "World War Two" scene. Once again the chorus sang three war - time songs.

The Women's Institute was highly instrumental in initiating the music festival on the Island in 1946. Marking this event, a chorus sang "We Praise Our God" and "Sweet and Low." The Drama Festival, too, was a Women's Institute project. Mrs. Harold Laird and Mrs. Leslie Ramsay, in a dramatic scene, explained how these beginnings had been made. One of the WI's most recent moves in this field was the obtaining of a provincial drama director several years ago.

FASHION SHOW

The Bunbury WI staged a short fashion show next, typifying an achievement day which follows a course given in a district by the provincial handicraft directors.

Following an intermission and collection for an ACWW fund, the pageant resumed with the address by Mrs. Geerda van Beekoff, president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

Mrs. van Beekoff related many of her personal experiences as international president. In this capacity she must travel widely, and is now spending one week in each province of Canada.

She told the audience something of life in Holland during the Second World War, and how much the arrival of Canadian and American troops had meant to the citizens of that country.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

A brief episode entitled "public relations" told the audience about the weekly WI radio program over CFCY, the Institute News, edited by Mrs. Norman MacMillan, and the Federated News, edited by an Island WI member, Mrs. Harold Laird.

In describing the Tweedsmuir Competitions, Mrs. Herring pointed out with pride that Island WI members had won two first prizes and an honorable mention at the 1961 competitions at Victoria, B.C. First prize for hand-hooked chair seats went to Mrs. MacQuarrie, for a needlecat play, to Mrs. Townshend, and the honorable mention was awarded to the Hunter River WI for village history.

Various Island WI projects overseas include the adoption of an Island in the West Indies, a son in India, and sending sewing machines to Ceylon, the audience were told in the "hands across the sea" episode.

Women's Institutes have contributed a great deal to 4-H clubs on the Island, and the last episode told about this. Miss Diana Rodd and Miss Enid Coles sang the 4-H pledge.

PAGEANT ENDS

The pageant concluded with three brief speeches by Mrs. MacMillan, representing "pride in the past", Mrs. Lincoln Dewar, representing "enthusiasm for the present", and Miss Joyce Lowther, representing "faith in the future."

Following the "Mary Stewart Collect", Mrs. Nancy Cox sang "The Lord's Prayer." The session closed with "God Save the Queen."

GIRLS, BANDS

entry of Bo-Kay Gardens will be next in line, followed by the float entry of R. T. Holman Ltd.

The second section of the parade will be led by the Lovat Pipe Band, followed by the float entries of Texaco Oil Co., Atlantic Wholesalers, Summerside Kinsmen, Perfection Dairy, Summerside Y's Men, Summerside Fire Department, P.E.I. Bag Co., and Town of Summerside.

The Oromocto Majorettes will march with their Lion's Club band, and other floats in the section will include the Summerside Lions Club, M. F. Schurman Co., Department of Fisheries, Canadian Legion, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Miscouche village floats, along with Burke's Band.

YEAR OF PLANNING

The third Section of the parade will be led by the City of Charlottetown float, along with floats entered by the Curran and Briggs, Eastern Auto Supply, RCAF Station Summerside, Department of Agriculture, Knights of Columbus Youth Club, Island Propane, RCAF Association, Charlottetown Board of Trade, Sheen and McInnis, Summerside Rotary Club, P.E.I. Tourist Association, and Andy's Restaurant.

This section will also include the New Glasgow Ceilidh Club Pipe Band, and the Salvation Army Band, other floats will be seen also in the parade, along with numerous "clowns," and the ambulances of Comptons, Rownesses, and the Summerside Fire Department will conclude each section of the parade.

A full year of planning has gone into this part of the Lobster Carnival program and only the weather could prevent it from being an enthusiastic success.

Even this possibility has been considered by the parade committee, and if there is rain or the threat of rain, bulletins will be broadcast over the Summerside and Charlottetown radio stations at 7.30 a.m.

See you at The Big Parade!

EXHIBITS

again be represented in this area, and a mainland dairy product firm, Walker's, will also occupy a booth in the commercial section.

The ladies Aid of Prince County Hospital, an organization that is constantly at work in the interest of the hospital at Summerside, will also occupy one of the booths.

Others will represent the photographic business of the Read Studio and Camera Shop, the P. E. I. Realtors Association, Irving Oil Ltd., Island Propane Ltd., Canada Packers, E. M. Cannon, Atlantic Bridge, and several other interesting and varied exhibits.

These booths and demonstrations will be staffed each afternoon and evening during the week-long carnival.

Banished this year from this area of the carnival are the noisy games of chance, which will be found this year in the same area as the Bill Lynch midway, in its usual position adjacent to the Stadium, complete with rides, games, novelty booths, and all the raz-mataz and excitement associated with midway entertainment.

With most of the carnival events being staged in or beside the Stadium, inclement weather would not necessitate cancellation of any of the principal carnival events other than the opening day parade, the livestock exhibition, the track and field program, and the golf tournament.

Planning carnival events would be a risky venture if the Stadium was not available to serve as the centre for the various events, and as a shelter in the event of unfavorable weather.

Ah! lobster; dining area is expanded

SUMMERSIDE — Elaborate plans and suggestions for suitable accommodation for serving the all - important lobster suppers at the Summerside Lobster Carnival were all superseded a few weeks ago with the adoption of a simpler arrangement which has given the Carnival a permanent place for their suppers, and 600 square feet of floor space more than the carnival previously had.

The idea, suggested by the president of the 1963 Lobster Carnival Committee, Ben Champion, simply involved the removal of a section of the bleachers in the north end of the Stadium, laying a permanent cement floor, and thereby utilizing a section of the building that had previously been waste space, under the bleacher seats.

This work has already been completed, and the Carnival Committee now has 4,500 square feet of space for serving the suppers, and has left the entire main floor of the Stadium available for the Carnival stage and commercial booths.

At the same time the Carnival Committee has added another permanent installation in the form of a large dressing room for the exclusive use of the contestants in the Miss Prince Edward Island contest. Located under the bleachers on the west side of the Stadium, this room is fully equipped to look after the comfort and convenience of the girls and is also designed to provide storage accommodation for Carnival fixtures and property during the fifty-one weeks between Lobster Carnivals.

The carnival stage, centre of many feature attractions of the big carnival week, has been greatly constructed. Measuring 30 x 36 feet, it offers 1,080 square feet of stage area, making it almost twice as large as the stage used in the first seven years of this annual Lobster Carnival.

Of solid construction, it is designed in a manner that enables its conversion to a smaller size, and is attached in sections which permit it to be readily moved or stored.

TAKE MORE FISH

Since modernization of fishing fleets began in 1953 Thai fishermen increased their annual catch from 205,000 tons to 305,000 in 1961.

Baby award big feature

SUMMERSIDE — A baby contest, first introduced at the Summerside Lobster Carnival only three years ago, has rapidly won a top place among the feature attractions of the Carnival.

Everyone loves a cute child, and the stage is filled with lovely youngsters, making the task of the judges a difficult one in selecting three winners from the charming, bright, eager faces.

This part of the Lobster Carnival program is again being conducted by the Summerside Lions Club, under chairmanship of H. F. Court.

The contest this year will take place on Thursday after noon, July 18, at 2.30 p.m., on the carnival stage in the Summerside Stadium.

Children entered in this Baby Contest are between the ages of 1 and 2 as at June 30, residents of Prince County, and include both boys or girls. Previous contests have also seen some very cute twins among the children.

The youngsters are dressed in either swimsuits or sunsuits for judging, and cash prizes of $3b, $15, and $10 are awarded to the top three choices of the judges.
