

THEY WANTED IT REAL--AND GOT IT

Marvin Maus of Denver, Col., has three grandchildren whose request for Christmas was a fire engine. Not just a little toy one, but the real thing. So Grandfather Maus lived up to expectations of Dick, Don and Debra by producing this model bought from Boulder, Col., which had no further use for it. Now, to the three youngsters happily playing on the gigantic truck, there's no one in the world quite like grandpa.

Bishop MacEachern Speaks At Rotary Club Luncheon

"You are stewards of what you have acquired and there is a moral obligation to see that it is properly used." His Excellency Bishop Malcolm A. MacEachern said yesterday at addressing the Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon meeting held at the Charlottetown Hotel.

"We cannot exempt ourselves from the world situation," His Excellency said as he touched on the unemployment situation and stressed the huge gains reported in the annual statements of nationally known organizations. "All this was taken out of somebody," he said.

Comparing the Maritimes and especially P.E. Island of the present time with 40 years ago, His Excellency quoted from conversations he had recently with fellow rail passengers many of whom referred to the Maritimes as a "depressed" or "distressed" area.

POTATOES DOMINATE
"Horses and potatoes dominated the situation here for many years — the horses have given place to progress and the potatoes are rapidly losing the high place they held," he said as he also touched on other island products including oysters and lobsters.

"Charlottetown is a rural city and the entire island population is less than that of Halifax and we should be able to get together in small groups throughout the province and reach conclusions which would result in the development of palatable, presentable and saleable goods," His Excellency said.

Speaking of electoral reform he said that 35 cents of every dollar earned by labour went into taxes on one of the three levels of Government. He was surprised that a man should have more than one vote here and that property ownership plays such a part in elections.

His Excellency was introduced by chairman Roy MacGillivray and thanked by co-chairman Bob Parent.

"RARE TREAT"
"A rare treat" was the dominant expression of appreciation following the carol singing program presented by the girls choir from Notre Dame Convent under the skilful direction of Sister St. Mary Honore.

BISHOP MacEACHERN

The 30 beautifully blending voices, with Dianna Reid at the piano sang as their first number a medley of Christmas carols, the solo parts being taken by Margaret MacIntyre. This was followed by "Go Tell It on the Mountain" with Vivian MacDonald as soloist who also made the third in the trio section of the number along with Eileen Grant and Myrna Nicholson.

"Lo How a Rose" the third number was without piano accompaniment and demonstrated the care and training exercised in developing the splendid voices in the choir.

Elizabeth MacKenzie was soloist in the final chorus "O Babe Divine".

President Russ Seller in expressing thanks to the Director, commented on the enviable reputation enjoyed by the fine choir of Notre Dame.

Guests of Rotary were Dr. John Fisher, Canadian Tourist Assn. Toronto, Heath Macquarrie, M. P., Ottawa, Al. Nicholson, Director of P.E.I. Travel Bureau, A. Walthen Gudst, Secretary, P. E. I. Tourist Assn., Patrick Taylor, R. C. N., Cornwall, Ont., Jim Carson, Bedford, N.S., Joe Malloy, and Allan Scales, City.

P.E. Island Farm Earnings Higher

OTTAWA — (Special) Prince Edward Island farmers earned more in the first nine months of this year than in the same period of 1957.

Cash income from the sale of farm products between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 totalled $20,644,000, compared with $17,040,000 in 1957, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Indications are that the figures for the remaining three months when released also will show a healthy return to Island farmers. Income from livestock and poultry accounted for the major portion of earnings recorded by

P. E. I. farmers. Up to Sept. 30 the total was $7,569,000, compared with $5,368,000 in 1957. Next in line was the cash income from vegetables and other field crops. This totalled $6,514,000, as against $4,457,000 last year.

Other income reported by DBS was: Grains, seeds and hay, $222,000 ($304,000 in 1957); Dairy products, $3,791,000 ($3,847,000); fruits, $265,000 ($211,000); eggs, $1,214,000 ($3,239,000); and wool, $53,000 ($48,000).

Cash income from farm products across Canada was up eight percent in the nine-month period.

UP 2-4 TIMES
Based on one dollar, the freight rates during this period jumped to $2.20, an increase of almost two and one quarter times, he said.

A railroad strike at that time would have been a national disaster, with worse effects here than any other section of Canada he maintained.

He noted with satisfaction the federal government's promise that undue hardship resulting from this increase would be adjusted without delay, and that a complete review of the entire structure would be made in the near future.

Other speakers addressing the meeting were Heath Macquarrie, M.P., for Queens and John A. Macdonald, M.P., for Kings. A review of the Association's 1958 activities was given by the president A.O.F. Gill, who conducted the meeting.

NEW OFFICERS
Named to the 1958 executive of the Association were: Miss Gertrude Coady, Dr. Allan MacMillan, Jack MacEachern, and Mr. Gill, all of Charlottetown, and Mr. Art Myers of Parkdale.

At a meeting of the new executive held immediately following the general meeting Mr. Gill was re-elected Association president for another term. Dr. MacMillan was chosen as 1959 vice-president and Miss Coady 1959 secretary-treasurer.

Resolutions expressing loyalty to the Queen, confidence in Mr. Dieffenbaker, Mr. Shaw, federal members, Hon. Angus MacLean and Heath Macquarrie, and the local Opposition under the leadership of R.R. Bell, Q.C., were approved by the meeting.

The Association's sympathy to the relatives of the late Hon. George DeBlois, Tom White, and William D. Gillis, was also endorsed by resolution.

MAIN INDUSTRIES
Fishing and farming are the Province's two main industries and should get every consideration from the government in power Mr. Shaw asserted.

A provincial PC government would provide more farm credit, establish a farm settlement policy and make a thorough survey of the whole situation he said.

The PC leader deplored the fact that the local Vocational School had not conducted a class in agriculture for the past two years.

With good teachers, the facilities of the Experimental and other excellent farms readily available, the school was ideally situated to conduct such training he said.

The food processing plant established with government assistance in development and operation had fallen far short of the "great promises made to the people of the Province" he said.

even now complete and awaiting Ottawa approval.

The provincial PC leader recalled that a Liberal delegation told Ottawa in 1953 that they could not undertake any further extension of public services unless an additional $3,700,000 was forthcoming from the federal treasury. He also referred to the "hurried visit" made to Ottawa by local government members in 1957 while the legislature was in session, and emphasized that the local authorities were unable to obtain a cent of financial redress on either occasion.

Mr. Shaw said that the recent increases in freight rates allowed by the federal government was unfortunate and would undoubtedly increase costs to provincial consumers.

He argued, however, that the latest jump was small in comparison with the 10 separate increases allowed from 1948 to 1957 by the previous Liberal administration.

Based on one dollar, the freight rates during this period jumped to $2.20, an increase of almost two and one quarter times, he said.

Secrecy Clamped On Museum Row

OTTAWA (CP)—The government clamped down the lid of secrecy Monday as it continued an inquiry into a dispute that has rocked the National Museum.

Internal friction in the museum's human history branch centres around a clash of personalities.

Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton said an investigation was begun more than three months ago and "we hope to have a solution within a matter of weeks."

"That should end the bickering and the museum can go back to work."

DIFFICULT SITUATION
But he described it as a difficult situation in which the government is proceeding carefully in order to protect the museum. The problem was more difficult because it involved "very sensitive" scientists.

Meanwhile, two of the key figures in the dispute, who have been quoted at length by newspapers as making critical statements about each other, said late Monday they have been told to say nothing.

They are Dr. Jacques Rousseau, 53-year-old director of the human history branch, and Dr. Marius Barbeau, noted 75-year-old anthropologist who has been working part-time at the museum since his retirement 10 years ago.

The Citizen quoted Dr. Barbeau as praising Dr. Rousseau's scientific ability but describing him as one who had a "sense of persecution" and who imagined plots against him "so that even his friends became hostile, myself included."

The Journal quoted Dr. Rousseau as saying Dr. Barbeau was "trying to run the museum."

Late Monday Dr. Rousseau said in an interview: "I prefer to say nothing. I am ordered by the department to say nothing." Dr. Barbeau said museum personnel have been told to keep silent.

Resignations of two museum employees have been credited to internal disagreements.

Anthropologist L. P. Marcel Rioux, 40, son-in-law of Dr. Barbeau, left Oct. 15 to join the staff of Carleton University here. He said he resigned after differences of opinion with Dr. Rousseau. The director has denied this was the cause.

Mrs. Therese Hambleton, a part-time employee, also left the branch last summer.

Two others, chief archaeologist Dr. Richard S. MacNeish and Dr. W. E. Taylor, Arctic archaeologist, have said they are considering offers of jobs in the United States. Both have refused to comment further on the situation.

Mr. Hamilton said that officially there are no resignations pending.
