

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

Circular From Bishop MacDonald—Service In St. Dunstan's Cathedral.

His Lordship Bishop MacDonald has issued a circular to the clergy of his diocese with reference to the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The circular reads as follows:—

REV. DEAR FATHER.—As it is already known to you, the Diamond Jubilee of Her Gracious Majesty will be universally celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the British Empire on the 22nd inst. We are all aware that the sixty years' public life of our Sovereign, the Queen, has been marked by many notable changes towards enhancing the prosperity of the empire of her vast realm. Our own Canadian people have shared to no small extent in the blessings of her prosperous reign, so that under the fostering hand of her government great progress has been made in this fair Dominion of Canada. Instead of being a few stunted colonies, which at the commencement of her reign were administered in a most arbitrary and not untruly in a very unjust manner, our country has developed into a very strong, energetic and progressive confederation, having a just and equitable constitution whereby liberty and law are so blended as to afford our people an efficient protection for life, property and conscience. Moreover, the private life of our Gracious Sovereign has not been less noted for domestic virtue than has her public life been for beneficent progress.

It is only just and natural that the state should celebrate this interesting event with civic festivities, and as loyal subjects of Her Majesty we should all be happy to cooperate for such lawful and praiseworthy purposes. But, moreover, as Catholics we should not be ungrateful of our duty to give praise and thanks to Almighty God, our Supreme Ruler, for all the blessings granted to us and to all the people of the Empire during the reign of our Gracious Sovereign, and to invoke our Heavenly Father that He bless our Queen, and bestow upon her not only such assistance as contributes to the material prosperity of Her subjects, but also and particularly His Divine graces through which alone can be obtained the supreme happiness of eternal life.

Wherefore, we ordain that on Sunday, the 20th inst., at every Mass offered in the diocese, the pastors make suitable reference to the event of the Diamond Jubilee, and that they ask their respective congregations to pray to Almighty God for the spiritual and temporal welfare of our Queen, and, wherever it is possible, we enjoin that, either after Mass or after the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, a solemn "Te Deum" be sung, followed by the prayer "Domine Salvam fac Reginam," &c. Wishing you and your flock the choicest blessings of Heaven, I remain, dear Rev. Father, yours faithfully in the Sacred Heart,

J. C. McDONALD, Bishop of Charlottetown, Charlottetown, June 9, 1897.

DENVER, June 11.—A heavy rain storm accompanied by terrific lightning, visited this city and vicinity yesterday and caused considerable damage. The flow of water was so heavy that the streets were flooded and many culverts were washed out. Lightning struck the new four-story building of the Baker Manufacturing company, setting fire to it, and causing a loss to buildings of $25,000. The railroad washouts on various lines running into Denver, but none are of a serious character so far as can be learned.

AT THE CONVENT DE NOTRE DAME.

The exhibition of plain and fancy sewing, painting and drawing, etc., which opened at the Convent de Notre Dame on Saturday, closes today. The articles shown are all the work of the pupils attending the convent schools, and the display is in the highest degree creditable to the good sisters who impart instruction in the various branches as well as to the young ladies whose work speaks louder than words with respect to the thoroughness of the instruction they have received. The display this year is the largest that has ever been made by the institution, and connoisseurs in that sort of thing say that the quality throughout is also better than at the exhibits of former years. Those who have been privileged to witness the displays of past years will therefore readily appreciate the excellence of the showing made this year.

The display of paintings and drawings includes 32 subjects, all of which are of a high order of excellence. The work of the more advanced pupils is, of course, the most admired, but the efforts of the junior pupils are exceedingly creditable. There are so many young ladies deserving of praise for this work that it would be unfair to single out any for special mention, and we have not space for all the names. There is also a large exhibit of plain and artistic sewing, which the ladies pronounce excellent in every respect. The articles shown comprise almost everything useful and ornamental about a house. The drawn work in tray cloths, toilet sets, picture draperies, etc., is especially admirable. Indeed, the colors in the draperies blend as artistically as if they were from a brush. This work was performed by Misses Enelle Larue, Alvina Miller, Annie Gorman and Bernadette Gillis.

Two hand-painted five o'clock tea sets are also on exhibition. The work of burning and decorating the china was all done in the convent, and it has been most skilfully performed. One of the sets is the work of Miss E. Larue, and the other the work of Miss A. Miller.

There are also a number of fancy table, fire screens, cushions, panels and other articles which have escaped our memory. These all indicate excellent taste and much ability. They must be seen to be appreciated.

Mr. Bran, the defeated candidate for the Presidency, who was in Ottawa the other day, travelled 15,000 miles during the campaign and delivered 669 speeches. As a result he obtained about six and one-half million votes and 31 more votes in the electoral college than President Harrison, the unsuccessful candidate, had in 1892. As he is still on the right side of forty his career has been rather remarkable.
