As he was an attending physician of the deceased.
Nature Of Injuries
He stated that he had treated the late Mr. Chaisson in the Charlottetown Hospital on November 7 after he had been taken there from the Western Hospital, Alberton, where he was first treated by Dr. S. Bandler, following the accident. He said the deceased was suffering from multiple lacerations of the face, cuts on the forehead and lips, and fractures of both hips. The doctor stated that peritonitis was present due to a tear of the liver and the subsequent presence of blood within the abdomen. The victim, on further examination, was also shown to have a sub-normal heart. He was in a moderate state of shock when first examined.

Dr. Coady said the medical staff of the hospital was confronted with the problem of when to operate in view of the condition of the patient, but after Mr. Chaisson had been there for eight days he was deemed to be in good enough condition to have his fractured hips "nailed". The left hip was so nailed on November 14 and following the operation appeared to be in good condition. However, after a few days the patient began to lapse into kidney failure and continued to gradually deteriorate until he developed hypostatic pneumonia and died on November 25. The witness expressed the belief that debilitative pneumonia was the final cause of death.

Other Witnesses

Cpl. William Warner, of the Alberton Detachment of the R.C.M.P., described the scene of the accident near the O'Leary Corner. He said he examined the brakes of the vehicles involved and said they could have been damaged in the accident. The steering gear though a bit loose was still satisfactory. He said the car was an old vehicle.
