Were Hurt In Freak Accident

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Two youths shot each other Saturday in a freak accident at nearby South East Passage.

Moody Cummins, 15, of Dartmouth and Kendall Darrach, 17, of Moncton are in hospital with abdominal wounds.

Police said the two were walking along the road carrying loaded shotguns when one gun accidentally went off wounding Darrach in the hands and stomach.

Recall of the shot caused Darrach to pull the trigger of his gun, the pellets striking Cummins in the stomach.

Their conditions are not serious.

Divorce Case Causes Worry

LONDON, — (AP) — The Sunday Express says Buckingham Palace officials are worried about "detailed evidence" that might emerge in a possible divorce case involving a close friend of Prince Philip.

The Express says there is little prospect of a reconciliation between Lt.-Cmdr. Michael Parker, a former secretary to Philip, and his wife.

When Parker and his wife parted last February, Parker resigned as a palace secretary. But he has remained on good terms with Philip — and still calls at the palace.

The newspaper says Mrs. Parker is preparing a divorce petition to be presented next month and palace officials are "concerned."

"One of their anxieties is that, whereas the British newspapers are forbidden by law to publish the detailed evidence given in divorce cases, the foreign press is not similarly inhibited," The Express says.

Parker has been mentioned in British newspapers as being Glasgow, Farms of Donald Latham and James MacDonald are being used for the competition which includes the regular provincial matches as well as the Maritime event.

Malcolm MacRae of Cherry Valley won the Maritime plowing championship last year when the match was held in New Brunswick. The first Maritime event was held at Dundas in 1955 and it was won by Mr. Morrissey.

The runner-up to the championship is also eligible to compete in the Maritime event. The runner up last year to Mr. Willis was Garth Clay of Bridgetown. This year was Wendell Jenkins of Millview.

Two Months For Killing Dog

TORONTO (CP)—George Baldwin, 33, of suburban Weston Monday was sent to jail for two months on a charge of cruelty to animals. He kicked a Pekinese to death.

The dog was sleeping on a bed in the hotel where May Branscombe of Fredericton, the dog's mistress, was staying.

Baldwin said he groped for the light, stepped on something and the dog snapped at him. "I kicked him a couple of times and threw him against the base-board."

Magistrate C. A. Thoburn said: "Too bad it wasn't an airside; he might have bitten your leg off."

Reviews Progress Made In Rural Electrification

"About 7600 farms in this Province are now enjoying the benefits of electrification, representing over sixty per cent of the total number of farms on the island," A.D. Cameron, general manager of the Maritime Electric Company, told Rotarians at a luncheon meeting at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Cameron, who was making his initial talk on his "Classification" before the club, dealt with Rural Electrification in detail as the most significant part of Maritime Electric's operation here, and as a co-operative effort between the people and Government of P.E.I. and their power companies.

"Electrification is largely a question of density," he said. "The plan required for the distribution of electricity in a compact city area like Charlottetown is small in comparison with the number of customers which can be served. By contrast, in a farming area the customers are separated by greater or lesser amounts of land, which is the raw material of their industry. In rural areas the yardstick which we use in determining whether our rural electric power line is economical is the number of customers per mile line. At present the aim of the Government's rural electrification scheme is to extend rural electrical service wherever a density of four customers per mile can be obtained."

REVIEW POLICY The routine followed under which application for electrification may be made, and the various steps necessary to complete the transaction were explained by Mr. Cameron.

"Over the past several years, the farmer has been faced with a rising cost of farm labour, and in order to sell his products in a highly competitive market, it is essential that he must keep his cost of production down," he said. "The extensive use of electricity in farming operations is one way in which this can be accomplished. Aside from this economic benefit, it is hard to think of any single service which can do so much to eliminate the drudgery of running a farm, as electricity. It supplies the needs which we in the city take for granted, such as adequate lighting, and automatic water supply. It gives to the farm wife the same assistance with household tasks which are enjoyed by her sister in the city. It supplies the little luxuries like radio and television which are so conducive towards happiness and contentment in rural life."

HEALTHY AND JOVIAL He looked tanned and well. He was much thinner than he was during most of the years he held office—at one time he weighed more than 250 pounds. He was as jovial and ebullient as ever.

When he left he said he had to hurry back to his hotel apartment because he was sure his announcement would prompt a flood of telephone calls.

With Mr. Houde's position now known, there were indications that the opposition to 41-year-old Mayor Jean Drapeau in the Oct. 28 elections may turn into a wide open scramble of candidates.

There is little doubt that if Mr. Houde had returned to politics he would have received full support of the Greater Montreal Rally, an organization which has sprung up in opposition to Mayor Drapeau and his Civic Action.

Comment On Trade Offer

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — D. G. Gaskin, president of Studebaker-Packard of Canada, said Monday there should be no more trade concessions made to Britain.

Mr. Gaskin was commenting in an interview on the suggestion of Peter Thornycroft, British chancellor of the exchequer, that the British would open their markets duty-free to Canada if Canada would reciprocate. Mr. Gaskin said he spoke only for his organization.

Mr. Gaskin said: "Other people may speak for their own industries, but so far as the automobile industry is concerned, we have already given our all in this business of tariff concessions to Britain."

He said British automobiles already come into Canada duty free, while Canadian manufacturers could not sell a car in Britain at any price because they are not permitted import licences.

G. L. Wilcox, president of Westinghouse of Canada, said that as far as the electrical industry is concerned, the proposal would be "calamitous" if accepted.

Renew Urging Russia Consider Arms Reduction

By LOYD MDONALD

Canadian Press Staff Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —Canada and the three big Western powers told the United Nations disarmament commission Monday that last summer's deadlocked London discussions were not in vain, and called on Russia to give further consideration to the Western proposals for a stage-by-stage arms reduction.

Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev, however, while agreeing that the disarmament problem should be debated before the whole UN General Assembly gave notice to the commission that Moscow's opposition to the non-Soviet proposals is not likely to be relaxed.

Houde Not In Mayoralty Race, He Announces

MONTREAL (CP)—Camillien Houde, whose colorful mayoralty politics earned him the title Mr. Montreal, announced Monday he will not seek the mayoralty office from which he retired in 1954.

The 68-year-old former mayor, whose candidature in other days was virtually tantamount to election, said his physician advised him against attempting a comeback.

Mr. Houde personally brought his typed announcement into the Montreal bureau of The Canadian Press. It was signed in his bold signature, C. Houde.
