Tobacco Auctions Slated To Resume

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's three tobacco auction markets will re-open Monday, George Demeyere, chairman of the Flue - Cured Tobacco Growers Marketing Board has announced.

The announcement came after a day of meetings at Queen's Park during which the board was told by Agriculture Minister Stewart the provincial government would provide no financial support for growers.

The tobacco farmers had asked for loan guarantees from the government so that they could buy up excess, or no-sale, tobacco from the market. The government guaranteed similar loans last year.

House Exporters Find European Rules Tough

LLOYDMINSTER Sask (CP) — Canadian house exporters are being hamstrung by European building codes, design concepts and import duties.

Alex Foght, vice-president of Nelson Manufactured Homes, said a survey he conducted last fall indicated considerable difficulties in filling the European market for prefabricated homes.

He said the demand for manufactured houses, however, was evident at an exhibition in Hamburg, Germany, last fall when more than 90,000 persons toured the exhibits during its first day.

Mr. Foght, in charge of finances and manufacturing for the firm, said the difficulties facing Canadian exports were the reasons his firm has not rushed into the market.

The firm is one of the largest manufacturers of prefabricated houses in Canada, producing between 400 and 500 houses a year for a western Canada market.

In Germany, even more than in the United Kingdom, building codes vary by countries, he said.

In addition, Europeans have to be convinced that frame buildings are as solid and as well insulated as brick buildings. They also have different ideas of what a house should contain and how it should be designed.

Import duties are heavy—all common market countries now have a 11.2 per cent import tax which will increase to 14 per cent in 1970. A turn-over tax is also assessed when a product changes hands.

Mr. Foght said several or all of these factors were ignored by exporters of Canadian prefabricated homes. This disregard could only lead to failure.

On the asset side of the export market, there is a great demand for manufactured homes and Canadian exporters can enter the market on a competitive basis because houses in Germany cost from $30,000 to $35,000.

Mr. Foght said his firm is continuing to study the market and possible export of manufactured houses. Present plans call for submission of plans by a German architectural firm which would result in changes in products or plans to correspond with demands.

He said attempts are being building code in Germany aid if we to legislate a national building code in Germany aid if it becomes a reality, a major stumbling block would be eliminated.

A Nelson problem also stands in the way of exporting houses. The firm requires a man to direct the operation and he has not been found.

Inquest Is Ordered In Death Of Woman After Operation

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Cass said here he has ordered an inquest into the death of a woman in whose body a surgical clamp was left after an operation.

He identified the woman as Mrs. Ena Noer, 54, who died in Palmerston General Hospital last Saturday.

Mr. Cass said that Mrs. Noer underwent surgery eight days prior to her death.

The surgical clamp was found in the peritoneal cavity when an autopsy was conducted.

The Attorney-General did not disclose the nature of the operation of the woman.

He said Dr. H. B. Conam, supervising coroner for Ontario, will preside at the inquest.

Palmerston is about 30 miles north of Stratford.

Mr. Cass made the announcement in the legislature. Outside the House he said Dr. Cotnam would preside only because the local coroner for Palmerston, Dr. Frank Farmer, was a surgeon who did not want his time tied up during a lengthy inquest.

Outlining the circumstances leading up to the order for an inquest, Mr. Cass said that when the autopsy showed the surgical instrument in the abdomen, Dr. Farmer was notified.

INFORMED CORONER

He in turn decided to inform the supervising coroner. It then came to the attorney-general's attention.

Mr. Cass said his department will be represented at the inquest by counsel—John A. Hoolihan of Toronto. No date has been set for the inquest.

The case follows on the heels of that of Gloria Morgan, a native of Newfoundland, who died Nov. 4 in East General Hospital in Toronto. An inquest found her death was due to a surgical instrument left in her body after an operation.

The inquest, called by Dr. Shulman after complaints from relatives of Miss Morgan, ruled that she died of "misadventure" and that Dr. Kenneth Brown was responsible for leaving the clamp in her abdomen.

President Of Venezuela Aims At Leftist Crackdown

CARACAS (AP)—Raul Leoni has taken office as the first democratically elected president of Venezuela to succeed another so elected. Leoni declared the oil-rich country of 7,800,000 persons "will never have another dictator."

About 3,000 military cadets, plus special troops guarded the Congress building against any possible attempt by pro-Cuban terrorists to disrupt the inaugural proceedings held in the Senate.

Delegates from 50 countries looked on as outgoing Romulo Betancourt, 56, handed the presidential sash to his 50-year-old political ally and embraced him. Both seemed close to tears. But Betancourt, becoming a private citizen again after five turbulent years, smiled broadly.

The day was a holiday by presidential decree as the first democratic change — over in Venezuelan history and the ceremony was broadcast by television.

Mindful of the widespread sabotage and raids by Communist-led bands that preceded the Dec. 1 election, troops and police cordoned off 48 blocks in downtown Caracas. Only official traffic was permitted to pass through to the Senate.

VOWS TOUGH LINE

A labor lawyer, Leoni had warned that he will be as tough with Communist unrest as Betancourt, whom he helped to found the Democratic Action party, in cracking down on leftist extremists.

In his inaugural speech he promised a responsible government of national understanding with the broadest possible representation of political organizations and independents.

Of the Communist party and the pro-Cuban Movement of the Revolutionary Left, which Betancourt outlawed, Leoni said:

"They must leave the road of violence and incorporate themselves into democratic life with respect for liberty. The government will deal with plot, terrors and terrorists. Venezuela will never have another dictator."

Leoni asked the backing of all Venezuelans for agrarian reform, industrialization, creation of jobs, education and training of youths and "elimination of great differences in income" he said he plans a major effort to improve working conditions and housing of both country and city dwellers.

Tracks Tell Tragic Tale Of Drowning

SASKATOON (CP) — Scuff marks in the snow told graphically how two little children struggled to save their sister before all three drowned here in the icy waters of the South Saskatchewan River.

The three were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Thul of Saskatoon. Mary Anne, four, David, three, and Eleanor, two, were pulled from the water about 15 minutes after they fell in but revival attempts failed.

Mrs. Thul said the children had left the house in mid-morning to play and she thought they were next door. At noon, when they hadn't returned, she set out to find them.

Sleigh tracks and little footprints from their west-side home led directly to the nearby partially-frozen river.

"I followed their tracks to the river bank and saw some people standing around. I asked if they had seen my children. Then I saw the police. I knew there was trouble," the mother sobbed. She is expecting her fifth child in three weeks.

Mr. Thul, partially paralyzed in a hunting accident in 1943 and unable to work, was at University Hospital Tuesday morning for treatment.

Scuff marks at the edge of the ice indicated one child fell in and the other two attempted to pull her out.

Mr. and Mrs. Thul have another daughter, one-year-old Angela.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A N R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

It is not uncommon for declarer to be faced with a choice of which finesse to take in a given situation. Such guesses are decidedly unpleasant when there are no clues to guide declarer to the winning choice, but one of the ways of guessing correctly in this predicament is not to guess at all!

For example, take a situation like this one, where South is declarer in two notrump. West leads the queen of hearts and East plays the king and returns the three, marking himself with a doubleton heart.

South can count six sure tricks, a seventh if the spades are divided 3-2, and an eighth if East has either the king of diamonds or king of clubs and South correctly guesses which finesse to take after using up his only entry to dummy.

One way for South to play the hand is to win the third round of hearts, take three rounds of spades winding up in dummy, and then to make the vital decision of whether to take a club finesse or a diamond finesse. This might or might not work out, depending on South's occult powers, but is the wrong way to play the hand.

What he should do instead is win East's heart return at trick two and then cash three or four rounds of spades. He should then play a heart, deliberately permitting West to cash his three heart tricks at this point.

On the last two hearts South discards a diamond and a club from his hand. West, out of spades and hearts, is forced to return a diamond or a club into one of declarer's sets of A-Q's, and South thus automatically acquires his eighth trick.

Note that South must cash at least three spades before throwing West into the lead with a heart. If he fails to do this, West can exit with a spade and force declarer to choose which finesse to take.
