ENSILAGE AND TUBERCULOSIS.
The steamer City of Peking, which arrived at San Francisco a few days ago, brings details of the American Presbyterian church at Shuklung, near Canton. It seems that anti-missionary riots took place in the prefectural town of Tung Kan, in June, as a result of the posting of placards containing vile charges against the Christians. The mob appeared in Shuklung June 19, and pulled down the church. Luckily all the missionaries escaped, but a Chinese convert, Kaing Lap, was overtaken, beaten to death and his body thrown into the river. Several Christian families in the vicinity were subjected to indignities and robbed. Some soldiers then appeared and effected the arrest of two rioters.

THE MISSIONARIES IN DANGER.
The next point attacked was the Roman Catholic church. Those inside the church fled at the mob and held them at bay for some time. At this juncture a squad came and dispersed the mob, thus saving the building from sharing the same fate as the American church.
On June 2 the church at Sun Kong, a village of Tan Shing, was sacked and a girl aged 19, belonging to the native preacher's family, carried away. Fortunately in the middle of the night Christian brothers were able to secretly open the door of the house where the girl had been taken and she was conveyed safely to Canton.
Simultaneously with this disturbance an anti-missionary demonstration took place at Liu Fong. Under cover of darkness the native preacher with his family had to seek safety in flight. The church, however, was left unmolested, as it was owned by a man of the powerful Wan family, who protected the building.
In Tung Kung city the vilest and most exciting rumors are current, and had it not been for the proximity of the church of the British mission and the mandarin's residence, and for the daily protection of its premises by a squad of soldiers applied for by the missionaries at an early stage of the riots, it would in all probability have been added to the list of demolished churches in this disturbed district. A complaint against the Tung Kung magistrate has been filed with the American consul at Canton and an investigation will be made.

THE HARRISON CASE.
More Serious than was at first Suspected—At Times he was Prostrated by his Sufferings—Now he is Cured.
PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13th.—The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He had been afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were insupportable, and he was unable to do any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grievous and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Taylor, the well-known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills, because he knows that he had he would have been well long ago.

UNFAVORABLE CROP REPORTS.
The August crop reports from the United States are not favorable. There is a decline in the average condition of every crop, with the single exception of winter wheat, the indications for which are a good yield of excellent quality. Assuming 100 bushels to be a normal crop, corn shows the greatest relative decline, falling nearly 26 points from July list, the average for the entire breadth being 69 bushels. In July the corn crop in August last year was 87, so that the crop is 18 per cent. under that of last year. As the year's crop of the United States aggregated two thousand million bushels, the shortage is equal to nearly four hundred millions; hence the excited condition of the market, the present price being 25 cents per bushel above the level of last year. The corn crop in July was 77.7 from July to 76.5, against 78.3 for August last year. Barley shows a decline of 7 points in the month and buckwheat 6.5 points lower than at the same date last year. Hay shows a decline of nearly 2 points, the average being reduced to 75.6, and there is a further decline of 4 points in the month. The condition of which is now down to 44. The condition of potatoes is down to 74, against 93.3 last month, and tobacco is 74.9, against 81 last year.

WIGGINS AGAIN.
Another of our men of genius is going over to the States. There is not enough scope for him in Canada. His name is Wiggins, he lives in Ontario, and he is by profession an astronomer, but he does not confine himself to the use of the telescope and the other instruments of his craft. He has the gift of prophecy, and he has behind him a long list of the gentlemen who told us the inhabitants of Mars had seen our electric lights, and he can tell you what weather we will have next year. He has discovered the cause of Noah's flood, and he goes further back than that. He is a veritable antediluvian. He knows what men were like before they appeared on this planet at all. "When in our native sphere," says Professor Wiggins, "we navigated the Martian atmosphere with wings, but when transferred to our heavy planet, where the solar attraction is so great, we became subject to death and disease in the carbonic atmosphere." In course of time Professor Wiggins will doubtless take unto himself wings, but at present it is his intention to make Washington or New York his permanent abode. "Canada will long lament his loss, but of course we could not expect to retain a prophet and philosopher of such transcendent power.

LONDON BUS HORSES.
Each pair works two journeys a day, which only mean 16 miles in all or even more. They are out of the stable for about 4 hours and have the other 20 in rest and comfort. Four hours may seem but a short day's work, but the work, while it lasts, is severe and much more trying than the longer hours of horses enjoying rest. How hard it is may be gathered from the brief career of each horse. All that I saw were strong, well developed animals, in excellent condition and admirably cared for. They are bought when young, when about 5 years old, and cost from £35 to £40. But after four years they are of little use for omnibus purposes and are sold.
Of the wretched wretchedness sometimes seen toiling in the pirate busses I did not venture to ask. But upon the whole there seems in recent years to have been a decided advance in the character of the horses used, as well as in their treatment.

Excavations in Algiers, at Tizirt Rasnecun, have laid bare a Christian basilica with three naves and more than 100 large pillars, the latter taken from a heathen temple. In date it is supposed to be of the fifth century. Many mosaics have escaped entire destruction, the most interesting being a picture of Balaam striking the ass and a portrait of a female martyr. The sacrifice of Abraham and other scenes are also found in mosaic, together with much decorative work. Presumably this important church was destroyed by the Arab conquest in the seventh century.
