Y. P. S. MEETING The storm Monday night brought great disappointment to the Young People of Central Christian Church for due to the snow the long anticipated toboggan party had to be replaced last night by a social in the Church annex. The disappointment was short-lived, however. Under the leadership of the game committee, made up of Alan Dunbar, Vincent Beck and Wallace Platts an hilarious social was achieved. There was a jubilation, spirited games, followed by a delicious lunch served by Carlene Llewellyn, Hazel Steward and Janet Owen.

THIS IS National Health Week Jay Walker Senior - Elderly people often constitute a traffic hazard, not only to motorists but also to themselves, when they ignore traffic lights and signals in crossing busy streets. They often walk out into highways from behind parked cars into the stream of approaching traffic. They may not wish to advertise the fact that they are slow in movement and perhaps a little nervous, but extra care on their part is necessary, if they are to live the extra years that aged people can now enjoy. An aged person should wait until the policeman or traffic signal indicates a clear passage; if there are no such traffic regulators, it is best to wait until the road is clear or until several other people are crossing. That few minutes' wait may mean a longer lifetime.

Survey Of P.E.I. Potato Losses In Transit Made

A two-year survey of the losses incurred in moving potatoes by refrigerator cars in winter, from Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick to Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto, has been made by the Transportation and Storage Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, in cooperation with inspectors of the Fruit and Vegetable Division and the two National railways.

The survey covered 132 carloads chosen at random by potato inspectors from shipments loaded at 5 stations in Prince Edward Island, and 14 in New Brunswick, from November 1 to April 1 in 1954-55 and 54 cars in the corresponding period, from 4 to 8 stations respectively, in 1953-54.

The cars and their contents were inspected at point of loading and at destination. Records were kept of the time taken to load and unload the cars, the temperature inside the cars and outside temperatures at each point and, by the use of recording thermometers at two different points in each car, the temperature maintained in the cars during transit.

Results of the survey show that of the 132 carloads inspected in 1954-55, 73 per cent (96 carloads) arrived in an undamaged condition. In the previous year's survey, out of 54 carloads, 67 per cent (36 carloads) arrived undamaged.

In the 1954-55 survey, of the 36 damaged carloads of potatoes from both provinces, 14 contained frozen or frosted potatoes; 8 contained soft, wet or decaying potatoes; 7 contained undamaged potatoes but with split or broken bags in sufficient numbers to require additional cost for rebagging; and 7 contained damp or wet bags which also required rebagging. Out of 20 carloads containing frozen or soft wet potatoes, 12 carloads were damaged en route and the other 8 on or before loading.

Rapid over-heating of potato cars before loading in cold weather resulted in condensation within the car causing bags to become damp and wet often in sufficient quantities to require partial rebagging of the load.

Air temperature charts, made by the recording thermometers during transit, showed temperatures of 32 degrees or slightly less occurring in 20 carloads, of which only 7 were classed as damaged. Frost damage reported in one carload was due to transit conditions when burners went out en route to Toronto.

That shippers differ in the care they exercise in handling and loading carloads of potatoes is indicated by the fact that of 32 New Brunswick shippers whose carloads were studied, 8 shippers accounted for 43 carloads of which 20 arrived at destination with some damage reported. In 40 carloads received from one station 13 were reported with damaged potatoes or potato bags. Of 12 Prince Edward Island shippers, 5 accounted for over 75 per cent of the carloads studied. Three of the 5 damaged carloads originated from one Prince Edward Island shipper. The condition of the potato carloads at destination tended to reflect their station of origin.

Summarizing, the survey indicated that: cold wet harvest and shipping weather caused most of the damage to potatoes in these tests; the shippers in an important factor in determining the condition of the potatoes on arrival at market; the consignee (buyer or broker) might well be instrumental in limiting the degree of resulting damage; the use of paper or straw on floor of a refrigerator car did not prevent damage occurring; in cars loaded with 10-lb. bags of potatoes the three bottom layers of bags were not successfully stowed away from sidewalks unless master bags or sidewalk racks were used.

Auto Future Appears Good TORONTO (CP) - Two of Canada's auto makers agreed Tuesday the future for the industry looks mighty good if motorists can be relieved of some of their heavy tax burdens and a better road system built.

With wartime and post-war crops of babies growing up and the population expanding, total cars and trucks in Canada may be almost triple in the next 25 years, said Rhys M. Sale, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada. They may be one vehicle for every three Canadians, up from one for every 4.2 last year, with the total on the roads rising to 2,200,000 by 1980 from 3,755,000 in 1955, Mr. Sale told the Gordon economic commission.

E. C. Row, president of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, supported the general expansion view. He estimated that within 20 years Canada's population may almost double to 29,000,000 from 16,000,000.

Anglican Cathedral Reports Include Work On New Front

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral was held on Monday evening, January 30th, with the Rector, the Rev. Canon G. E. Moffatt, in the chair.

The Church wardens for 1955, A. H. Peake and F. B. Peake, had the satisfaction of reporting that the free will offerings of the congregation had been much greater than ever before.

He also reported that the major work of reconstruction on the West front of the Cathedral was proceeding steadily, with expectation of completion of the job in early spring. It is confidently expected that the plans drawn by Mr. J. F. Toombs, architect, and the workmanship of County Construction Company will result in an attractive and solid front.

Direct giving by the congregation totalled $21,000, and the vestry clerk's report showed a total of 26,000 received from all sources. $10,000 of the above represents money so far contributed to the New Front Campaign, known as the Canon Malone Jubilee Fund.

Over $3,000 was earmarked by the congregation and W. A. Branches for missionary and extra-parochial purposes, over and above the usual assessments for Episcopal Stipend and See House, Diocesan administration, and Pensions for the clergy.

In addition to the reports of the Rector, the Churchwardens, and the vestry clerk, the following financial statements were presented and enthusiastically adopted: building fund by Colonel J. R. Paton, Women's Guild by Mrs. H. L. Sear, Church School by the Rector, Senior W. A. by Mrs. H. L. Palmer, Evening W. A. by Mrs. S. Korrey, Junior Branch of Evening W. A. by Mrs. W. E. Stearns, Girls Auxiliary by Mrs. A. M. Jewell, Junior Auxiliary by Mrs. A. G. MacMillan, A. Y. P. A. by Miss R. Korrey.

Frigid Air Clamps Strong Grip On Europe; Worst In 10 Years

LONDON (AP) - Frigid air masses sweeping eastward from Siberia clamped a wintry grip on Europe Tuesday, disrupting land and sea traffic and causing at least two deaths.

Snow clogged highways in the northern half of the British Isles and sleet made roads in the south as slick as an ice rink. Home-going motorists in London crept along city streets and suburban highways.

The gale lashed shipping in the English channel, Norway, Sweden and Denmark experienced bitter weather. The Swedish weatherman said the cold snap was the worst in 10 years. Temperatures ranged from eight degrees below zero fahrenheit in Stockholm to 61 below in northern Sweden.

1,000 CARS STALLED Ice floes gathered along North sea shores. A 49-year-old worker died from effects of the cold in Copenhagen and 20 other citizens there were treated for exposure. Traffic patrols went out to aid 1,000 stalled cars in the Danish capital.

Sub-zero weather prevailed in Russia. Schools for children under 15 will be closed Wednesday in Moscow province. Warsaw radio said traffic was paralyzed in the centre of the city and "scores of people were taken to hospitals with frozen noses, ears and hands."
