According to the despatch all the Islanders are well and expect to be in Charlottetown by the 30th October.

Through the kindness of J. T. Mellish, Esq., THE EXAMINER is allowed to give the following extract of a letter from his son Mr Arthur Mellish. It seems that the latter was taken down with an attack of fever and was invalided to Wynberg hospital. On becoming convalescent he elected to go again to the front, but the medical men decided that it would be too great a risk. The letter is dated S. S. Kildonan Castle, H M Transport 44, Cape St. Vincent. Sept 27th, 1900, bound for England;

"I have been appointed clerk in the orderly room, and find it quite like old times to wield the pen again. I have been given the rank of sergeant for the position, and I will be entitled to some extra pay at the end of the year; not very much, but every little helps. I have been very busy getting rations classified. This is no light job, as there are over 1400 troops on board. Besides myself I have a corporal and private in the orderly room. Of course I have my meals in the sergeants' mess, and it is very pleasant in that respect. There are a lot of fine fellows among them. We have some from nearly every Imperial corps on board,—men in all stages of illness; some without legs, some without arms, etc. Among them are seven lunatics. One poor fellow, Hill, of the 2nd Seaforths, jumped overboard and was drowned.

"ARTHUR MELLISH."

Price of Produce.

SIR,—Would you just tell us what oats fetch and what potatoes? Sir Louis, last time he ran, said he'd give us a price that would make our hearts rejoice when he got there. Has he?

FARMER.

—A few short months ago, Mr. H. H. Cook was regarded by the Liberals as one of the most eminent gentlemen in the party and they would have given him a Senatorship if he had but come down handsomely with $10,000 for the reptile fund" with which to corrupt the electorate. Now, says the Halifax Chronicle, "Cook simply tramples on himself in his wild charges. He is evidently a very reckless and disreputable person."
