THE BERMUDA Strollers gather round the wheelchair of Joseph White for a bit of fun before their concert at the Sacred Heart Home yesterday.

Visiting Singing Group Thrills Elderly Audience

By RALPH CAMERON
The boys, Johnny Johnson, Ted Ming and Rudy York are all native Bermudians and have played the nightclub circuit of the Eastern United States as well as appearing in several Canadian Clubs. They are widely known in their homeland where they have appeared in all of the better known night spots.

Not as active as they once were, nor even as loud with their applause, they were still just as appreciative and when it was all over a little old lady of 88 walked up to the boys to tell them how much the performance was enjoyed. "You are such wonderful musicians," she said. "But the boys were not through even though they stretch their concert far beyond a normal benefit length. After they changed back to street clothes and enjoyed a lovely lunch they all took an elevator to the fourth floor where Mrs. Emily MacAulay, 83 and bedridden, was celebrating her birthday. She had heard the concert over the loudspeaker, but wanted the boys to sing some songs "just for me". They not only sang for her but posed around the bed with her as pictures were taken of the birthday cake in front of her.

Island Lady Passes Away

The death of Mrs. James A. Stewart, Kelvin Grove, one of the oldest residents of the area, occurred at the Prince County Annex on Tuesday following an illness of several months. She was in her 90th year and was the former Flora MacKay of Clinton, the last surviving member of a family of twelve.

A life member of the Kensington United Church W.M.S., now the United Church Women, and a very active member of Kelvin Grove Women's Institute, the late Mrs. Stewart was keenly interested in the work of the church and community.

The funeral was held on Friday, November 4 from the Davison Funeral Home to Kensington United Church where the service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Gordon MacBeth.

Hymns sung with Mrs. Russell MacKay at the organ were Unto the Hills, and Peace Perfect Peace. A solo, Beyond the Sunset was sung by Roscoe Walker.

Pallbearers were James MacKay, George MacKay, Ralph Moase, Leaman Caseley, Lorne Crozier and Robert Hogg.

Burial was in the People's cemetery, Kensington.
