Presbyterian Executive Holds Annual Meeting In Ch'town

The annual meeting of the full executive of the P.E.I. Presbyterian Church met in Hertz Hall, Charlottetown, on Saturday. The morning session was held with a worship service conducted by Mrs. A.B. Bagnall. Trinity Afternoon Auxiliary, Mrs. Wilbur Webster, Morell, Recording secretary; Mrs. Stanley Thompson, Charlottetown, Corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hazen Howard, Cornwall, Past President; Miss Rhoda Brown, Charlottetown. Treasurer. FRONT ROW: Mrs. R.F. MacAusland, Bloomfield, 1st vice president; Mrs. F.W. Cutcliffe, Fredericton, president; Miss Mary MacDoughall, missionary on furlough from Angola, guest speaker; Mrs. John Scott, Summerside, 2nd vice-president.

The majority of those present then repaired to the church social hall to partake of a noon meal served by the lunch committees of the Trinity auxiliaries.

RESOLUTIONS
At 2 p. m. the sub-executive resumed business in the west parlour. The following resolutions were presented by Miss Callbeck:

Resolved that a letter be sent to Mrs. Robert Large expressing to C. F. C. Y. our appreciation of their generosity in allotting program time to the interviewing of special W. M. S. guests such as Mrs. Watari and Miss Beryl Morrison, and for flash announcements of this meeting.

Resolved that letters of appreciation be sent to the "Guardian" and "Patriot" for space given in their columns to photos and reports of our W. M. S. work.

Resolved that we express (by letter) our thanks to the janitor who made us comfortable and to the ladies of the Trinity auxiliaries who served a delicious lunch.

Discussion on a variety of subjects, including films and tape interviews, went on until 3 p. m. when a public meeting opened in the Hertz Memorial Hall, Mrs. F. W. Cutcliffe presiding.

The meeting opened with the final two stanzas of the theme hymn. Mrs. K. A. Parker introduced the guest speaker, Miss Mary MacDoughall, R. N., formerly of Truro, N. S., and now on furlough from the United Church mission field in Angola, West Africa. Miss MacDoughall congratulated the W. M. S., the leaders in particular, on the splendid reports she had listened to, and encouraged them to continue the good work.

She then gave a very interesting address, illustrated with fine color slides, on the work being done by the missionaries in Angola. This showed very clearly the different phases of the work, how much is being accomplished, and the great need for more workers and funds to carry on an expanding program. Of special interest was the new sanatorium for tuberculosis patients at Dondi, and the classes of native nurses and nurses-in-training—both young men and girls. A major aim is to train great numbers of the native people to become self-sufficient in carrying on the missionary and medical work.

Miss MacDoughall closed her address by thanking Mrs. L. M. Murray for her efficient help as projectionist. After the offering and hymn of dedication, Rev. L. M. Murray pronounced the benediction.

Wound up with everyone concerned making a profit. He called it "the cleverest deal in my financial history."

Young was born in Canadian, Texas, Feb. 14, 1897. Prophetically, as a boy in the Texas Panhandle he had the nickname "Railroad" because his initials were R.R.

He inherited several thousand dollars from the estate of his grandfather, but lost the inheritance in a business venture and a plunge into Wall Street, then went to General Motors in 1922.

REGAINS FORTUNE
Young resigned a $35,000-a-year job as assistant treasurer of GM in 1928 and regained his fortune in the Wall Street crash in 1929. He had predicted the crash and had sold short.

With his newly won assets, he turned to his railroading career. He retired in 1935, but soon learned idleness was not for him. His financial activity became greater than ever.

The Youngs, who were married in 1916, had a daughter, Eleanor Jane Young, who died in a plane accident in 1941.

MANY PUBS
The United Kingdom had 72,000 public houses, or inns, at the end of 1957.

City Boy Is Youngest Ham Radio Operator In Province

Even the young are not immune to the bite of the radio bug. Last Thursday 16-year-old Allen MacKenzie, son of Constable and Mrs. Warren MacKenzie, Charlottetown, was licensed an amateur radio operator, the youngest Islander ever to so qualify. A member of the Keith Rogers Memorial Club, he received most of his initial instructions from fellow member, George Shelton.

The young operator will have to spend six months sending with a key before he will be allowed to use the microphone. If qualified at that time he will then be able to converse directly with other operators, but only on the 10-meter band. Following a further six months of this he will become eligible to write the operator's examination necessary to qualify for permission to use the full range of all amateur bands.

The young man who is a Grade Ten student at Queen Charlotte High, became interested in radio several years ago. He has chosen as his call letters, VE1PR. His first contact Thursday night was with his mentor, Mr. Shelton, whose call letters are VE1NQ. He next contacted fellow hams in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

HAMS EVERYWHERE
The fact that ham operators exist in all parts of the world and in every social group, is well illustrated by an examination of the many confirmation-of-contact cards that adorn the walls of Mr. Shelton's studio.

In the year that he has been operating George has contacted all regions of Canada, every state in America with the exception of Montana, England, Ireland, Italy, Yugoslavia, France, Sweden, Haiti, South America, and many other countries. Among cards that he particularly prizes are several from Hollywood and one from Madrid, sent by the Minister for Air in the Spanish government.

Railroad Tycoon Takes Own Life At Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Railroad tycoon Robert Young committed suicide in a top-floor billiard room of his Palm Beach home Saturday by shooting himself with a double-barrelled shotgun.

"You know it was a suicide," Lieut. Fred Mead of the Palm Beach police department told a reporter.

Mead said friends reported the 40-year-old president of the New York Central had appeared despondent lately although no information was available on the cause of his depression.

Young, son of a country banker, was found in a chair with the shotgun between his knees. The shotgun being used has two triggers which can be pulled simultaneously.

The home, usually visited by the Youngs for three months each winter, was barred to reporters after the shooting.

Mead said Young was found dressed in street clothes.

Young and his wife, the former Anita Ten Eyck O'Keefe, arrived here the day after Christmas. He had attended a meeting of the New York Central board of directors a few days ago at which it was decided not to declare a dividend at this time.

FRIEND OF WINDSORS
The railroad tycoon was a close friend of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor who frequently visited him here.

Of small stature, five-foot-six, and weighing 135 pounds, Young stonies was dubbed "the smallest Texan in the world."

His slight build was combined a soft voice and retiring manner but he tangled with financial titans, criticized long-established practices of U.S. carriers, and introduced innovations.

One was the abolishment of tipping on the Chesapeake and Ohio—but it didn't work. Waiters were given increments in place of tips, but they still accepted tips and the plan was dropped.

Young got into the railroad business in 1937 when he gained control of the Allegheny Corporation, a holding company for railroad properties and real estate. The principal asset was the C and O, of which he became board chairman.

ANOTHER GOAL
Once firmly established in Allegheny, Young set his sights on the New York Central, with its 10,714 miles of track and assets in excess of $2,500,000,000.

The assets included some of the most valuable real estate in the world, but the road also was heavily mortgaged.

In his famous 1954 battle to gain control of the New York Central, Young was helped by two other wealthy Texans—Sid Williams Richardson and Clint W. Murchison Sr.

Richardson and Murchison, lifelong cronies, bought 800,000 shares of Central stock for $20,000,000 in order to vote the proxies for Young. And they did it with borrowed money—not using a cent of their own.

It was an involved transaction. As explained by Young, Allegheny contracted to buy the stock from Murchison and Richardson at $25 a share, and the same price they paid for it to C and O. The two guaranteed Allegheny against loss and paid 4 1/2 per cent interest on the money borrowed from Allegheny.

CALLED FOR SPLIT
The contract called for an even split between Allegheny and the Texans of any increase in value of the stock.

The stock did advance and Young declared the transaction wound up with everyone concerned making a profit. He called it "the cleverest deal in my financial history."

Young was born in Canadian, Texas, Feb. 14, 1897. Prophetically, as a boy in the Texas Panhandle he had the nickname "Railroad" because his initials were R.R.
