

PERT AND PRETTY

Mrs. Carl McKenna looks graceful and demure in her trim tweed coat with its gently flared skirt and large shawl collar—a must in milady's wardrobe. Her accessories, a perky black hat with a flattering orange poppy adds zest to this smart costume.

Taste-Testing Party Held For The Public

"Here is the leading department store in Rochester where they held the famous public food-tasting party," the Chef remarked. "Let us go in."

As we entered the huge food department, we saw a fine exhibit of fresh fruits and vegetables. Next came the section of baked goods, exceptional in quality and variety, that come fresh every day from the model bakery.

CHEESE CENTER
Across the aisle was a unique cheese centre, displays of smoked and tinned fish and caviar and special hors d'oeuvres from all over the world.

Shelves were stacked with every kind of canned soup you can imagine, domestic and foreign; wonderful canned vegetables in tins and jars; jams, preserves, crackers of every type. "Ah, this is beautiful!" the Chef said. "And there are foods to suit every pocketbook and income."

A SMORGASBORD
At that moment along came manager Gordon Berndt. "You should have been at our taste-testing smorgasbord party for the public," he said.

"We covered the bakery cases with white tablecloths, and arranged interesting new gourmet foods for taste-testing: hors d'oeuvres of many kinds, relishes, soups, tidbits, ready prepared entrees heated in chafing dishes, salads, fruits and sweet biscuits. The display was decorated with flags of all nations. Tastings were served the guests by the bakery counter girls, gaily dressed in international costumes.

"Over 700 persons came, all we could receive, and hundreds of others asked to pay to come."

THE PAY-OFF
"And the pay-off?" asked the Chef.

Mr. Berndt smiled. "Sales increased. People are responding more and more to the opportunity to try new foods and we found ever-so-many persons liked the different foods they taste-tested."

Here is the easy-to-prepare dinner we enjoyed in returning to New York.
Monday dinner — Grapefruit-crab-olive cocktail; Chicken-ham casserole, broccoli spears, tossed Romaine-tomato salad; small warm mince tarts, tea or coffee.

Note: the chicken-ham casserole and the mince tarts were made in the test-kitchen previously and frozen.

GOOD TONIC
Tangy Florida grapefruit halves, dressed to fit the occasion, are a perfect addition to late winter meals, particularly since they pack a punch of vitamin C, an important aid in warding off colds.

Use green or red jelly cut in interesting shapes with fresh mint or huckleberry leaves around the edge of the grapefruit half; centre with favorite preserves or shredded coconut and tangerine sections. For an appetizer, top with flaked crabmeat and sliced, stuffed olives

TEEN-AGER

BY VERA WINSTON
SOME of the freshest suits of the season have been designed for teen-agers who have evinced a delight in what used to be considered a more adult fashion. Here is one such, a brown and white check that takes to dressing up or remains smart, as is. A brown grosgrain bow and white pearl buttons trim the jacket, which hangs straight in the hips. Two small pockets extended from the front band. Good with either sweater or

MacDonald-Dwyer Wedding Held In Winnipeg Church

A double-ring ceremony was solemnized on January 31, at 11 a.m., in St. Ignatius Church, Winnipeg, Man., when Moira Ellen, N.N., daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emmet Dwyer, was given in marriage by her father to Joseph Allan MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. MacDonald, of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. Rev. Father Lorne MacDonald, O.M.I., of New York, brother of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony. Mr. Roy Firth was soloist and Mrs. P.E. Anderson presided at the organ. The bride, carrying a crescent of Anthuriums, wore a floor-length gown of white silk velvet, designed on Princess lines. The fitted bodice featured lily point sleeves and a scooped neckline, trimmed with white satin and miniature roses and leaves. The back of the bouffant skirt, with two garlands of handmade white satin cabbage roses and leaves, drifted to a slight train. A Swedish crown of seed pearls held her tiered Chapel veil of silk illusion.

Miss Clare MacMaster was maid of honor and Miss Shelagh Dwyer, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Their identical gowns of cherry-red velvet were designed with V neckline, lily point sleeves and harem skirts. They wore matching headpieces of velvet double bows and carried white fur muffs overlaid with tulip roses.
Mr. Gerald Coady was best man. Ushering the guests were Mr. M. Dwyer, brother of the bride, Mr. M. March and Mr. Cyril MacDonald.
Following a reception held at the Fort Garry Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald left for a wedding trip to Minneapolis. For travelling the bride wore an imported blue wool sheath dress and a pink and rose flowered hat. A corsage of May Day roses completed her ensemble.
They will reside in Winnipeg. Mr. MacDonald is a graduate of St. Dunstan's University and now holds a responsible position with Imperial Oil Co. in Winnipeg.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Pigmented shellac (or shellac enamel) is becoming popular as a wood finish. Apply it to the clean, natural wood grain; then rub it with a rag dipped in denatured alcohol. This leaves the pigment in the pores of the wood and gives the surface a slight glaze.
