"At this annual meeting of our sub-division it is my privilege to present a summary of our work during the past year.

There were ten regular and one executive meeting held. The increased enrollment of members and attendance at meetings made our efforts very fruitful.

Our sympathy is extended to relatives of four of our members, whose demise occurred during the year. Delegates and members attended the Diocesan Convention and T. B. League annual meeting, both held in Charlottetown.

Appropriate farewells were given to our former pastor, Rev. R. E. MacDonald, and his housekeeper, Miss Anna Hickey before their departure and we were pleased to welcome our new pastor, Rev. Louis Callaghan.

Our funds were raised by card and bingo parties, pantry sales and bazaars, sale of candy, lemons and letters.

To Rev. Eugene Murray, who so kindly consented to give such a vivid description of his visit to the Holy City, our appreciation is extended. Such a valuable donation added greatly to our funds.

Expenditures included, various donations to parish funds and parochial houses, furnishings, cathedral prizes, part payment on projector and contributions to appeals.

The usual Christmas remembrances were sent to friends and also to our pastors (past and present). Flowers were provided for altar at Christmas and Easter and two hooked rugs are being prepared for church.

All our national and diocesan obligations are paid as well as many voluntary contributions viz. children's Aid Society, Missionaries of Mary, T. B. League, Catholic Girls' Scholarship, Prince County Hospital, room.

We were privileged to have the son of one of our sister members enter St. Augustine's Seminary this year, and he was suitably remembered previously. Our prayers are constant for his blessed success. An honor was bestowed on our sub-division at the Diocesan Convention when one of our members was elected Provincial President, Mrs. James Pendergast. Our best goes to her in her endeavours.

The appreciation of the sub-division is extended to our chaplain, Rev. Father Callaghan for his encouraging words which have been an incentive and inspiration to our members.

The funeral was held from the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Alberta Walsh, Ellerslie on May 25th with the Rev. R. H. Baxter officiating, assisted by the Rev. G. Dignan. Interment was in the United Church Cemetery, Biddeford.

Full bearers were Messrs. Roy Williams, Stanley Williams, William Hayes, Claude Hayes, Horace Hayes and Budd Williams.

IN MEMORIAM

DORIS LOUISE WRIGHT —Doris Louise Wright, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Wright, Central Bedeque passed peacefully away to her Heavenly Home on Sunday, June third, at the Prince Edward Island Hospital where she had been a patient for two months.

Having attended Middleton School, Grade XI at Kinkora Convent and Prince of Wales College she became an efficient and courteous member of the Charlottetown branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Her illness began while she was home for the Easter holidays.

Because of her loving disposition and generous nature Doris was ever a favorite among her school-mates and older folk as well.

During the first weeks in the hospital when she seemed to be gaining in strength her days were made happy by the constant visits of her family, the calls of many friends and the kind and loving ministry of the nurses and doctors. The visit of her uncle, Elmer Wright of California, who came home expressly to see her, was a glad surprise.

She celebrated her nineteenth birthday April thirtieth. Her room was a bower of beauty. Flowers which she dearly loved, many gifts and cards gave expression to the love of relatives and friends. These coming on her birthday and all through her illness brightened the days for her. Especially kind, considerate and generous were the manager and staff of the Bank in which she had worked.

As she became weaker, the words, "The Lord Is My Shepherd" were often on her lips and the quiet strength with which she bore her suffering was an inspiration to all who visited her.

Besides her sorrowing parents, one sister and one brother are left to cherish her memory. —Elizabeth Registrar of the Probate Court, Charlottetown, and William, engineering student at Mount Allison University.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, June fifth, from Bedeque United Church which was filled to capacity, with Rev. W. B. Crowe officiating, assisted by Rev. C. A. Britten. The choir, with Mrs. Walter Craig as organist, led in the singing of the following hymns, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "O, Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

The pall-bearers were, William Cairns, Robert Profit, Eldon Wright, Robert Reid, Harold Campbell and Willard Waugh. Interment was in Bedeque United Church Cemetery where many beautiful floral tributes were silent expressions of loving remembrance and sympathy.

"She is not dead,—the child of our affection,— But gone unto that school Where she no longer needs our poor protection And Christ Himself doth rule. Is that great cloister's stillness and seclusion By guardian angels led, Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution, She lives, whom we call dead."

What The Iron Traingle Means

By CTAN CARTER

They lie at the end of a railroad that runs north all the way to Vladivostok in Russian Siberia. The three towns form the corner of an equilateral triangle about twenty miles north of the 38th Parallel and nearly midway between the east and west coast. Each leg of the triangle is about 15 miles long. The triangle is at the lower end of a mountain ringed plain. Pyonggang forms the apex, with Kumhwa the lower right hand point and Chonwon the lower left point. The area is primarily agricultural. In normal times rice, soybeans, millet, barley and wheat are grown there. Chonwon and Pyonggang are situated on flat ground surrounded by rice paddies and grain fields. Kumhwa is in a mountain pass that opens out onto the plain. The three towns are the hub of a transportation network only slightly smaller than the network around Seoul and the north Korean capital of Pyonggang. The principal highway from Northeast Korea goes from Wonsan on the east coast through Pyonggang and Kumhwa. A major connecting road links Pyonggang and Chonwon. Two important roads lead from Kumhwa to South Korea. Another major artery from Pyonggang goes through Chonwon to Seoul. From Chonwon and Pyonggang there are roads leading westward to Pyonggang. Chonwon and Pyonggang before the war were stops on a railroad line between Seoul and Wonsan that connects with another line running up the east coast of Korea to Vladivostok. As can be seen from this, the three towns of the "Iron Triangle" are virtually control all the major north, south and lateral roads in Central Korea. If the Communists are prevented from using the road network hub of transportation routes, the Communists have used it as a buildup area for supply and troops. The Red army passed through it to invade South Korea last year. A few weeks ago there were believed to be 200,000 Chinese troops within the "Iron Triangle." Because of the road network, the "Iron Triangle" is considered to have more military significance than any towns the Allies have taken since they reentered Seoul and opened the Uijongbu corridor last March. That shoots out of the triangle like the spokes of a wheel, the east and west roads to supply their troops. The Red soldier in the central sector would have to be supplied by long round-about routes. Because the triangle is at the WEST CENTRAL FRONT, Korea —The conquest of the Chonwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang "Iron Triangle" may well be more important militarily than any Allied victory since the capture of Seoul. For this little area is the heart of Korea. The three towns are little more than rubble. Two of them were deserted before Allied Forces moved in. Economically all three are unimportant now. What little industry they had in the past has been demolished by Allied bombs and shells. But Chonwon, Kumhwa and Pyonggang are the center of a network of highways and railroads that link South Korea with North Korea and connect the east coast with the west coast. They are at the center of a veritable spider web of roads.
